"World's Greatest Film Play" To Be Shown In Portland Next Week

"Birth of a Nation," Signed by Clemmer—To Start August 29—Cost $300,000 to Produce.

"The world's greatest moving picture," for a sight of which hundreds of thousands of persons in eastern cities have paid as high as $2 a head, is to have a showing in Portland next week.

It is "The Birth of a Nation," made by D. W. Griffith, the $100,000 producer, and it is to be exhibited at the Heilig theater.

"The Birth of a Nation" started out to be a dramatization of Thomas Dixon's "The Clansman," but it soon outgrew the original story. It worked backward from Mr. Dixon's romance of the reconstruction and included the civil war in an attempt to show that this country was not really born until it had proved its unity by a hideous time of bloodshed and rebuilding.

The film cost half a million dollars to make, employed thousands of men and horses for its action and hundreds of acres for its settings. The principal players are stars whom Mr. Griffith himself "found," developed and taught the art of photoplay acting by his own standards. Mae Marsh, Henry B. Walthall, Robert Harron and Lillian Gish are in the number.

"The Birth of a Nation" has had more magazines and newspaper publicity than any other one picture ever made. The June number of Everybody's and Life are among the periodicals devoting space to it.

It is declared nothing previously done in moving pictures anywhere near approaches the massiveness and pictorial value of "The Birth of a Nation."

RESIGNATION OF MRS. STRACHAN MISSING

Secretary Springer Declares He Has Not Received It—Held Up By Friends

Oakland, Cal., Aug. 23.—The resignation of Miss Grace Strachan, district superintendent of New York schools and defeated candidate for the presidency of the National Education association, is still missing. Secretary W. D. Springer of the association, declares he has not received the resignation and as a result Mrs. Grace Strachan is a member of the association officially at least. The holding up of the resignation by friends of Miss Strachan to whom she consigned its delivery to Secretary Springer indicates an effort to "patch up" her quarrel with the association growing out of her campaign for the presidency. These efforts to date have failed as indicated by her failure to appear this morning as a speaker before the text book congress in the Oakland Y. W. C. A.

The mass meeting in the interest of peace in the Oakland auditorium, under the auspices of the American School Peace league is holding the center of the stage in N. E. A. activities today. Addresses on peace subjects are being delivered by United States Commissioner of Education P. P. Claxton, Sidney L. Gulick and Mrs. Fannie Fern Andrews, retiring president of the association. Announcements will also be made later of the winners of the Seabury peace prizes and of the winner of the gold medal for the most significant service for peace. The league elected William H. Taft, honorary president; Randall J. Condon, superintendent of schools of Cincinnati, president; William Andrew, superintendent of schools, Salem, Mass., treasurer.

Eighteen vice-presidents and 61 counselors were also elected by the league.

BEST HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS ARE COMING

Boys and Girls Who Have Made Good Will Enroll at Willamette University

Arrangements for entering Willamette university the coming year are being made by many students who have ranked high in the various schools from which they come. Among those already entered are Benley Starn, a leading debater and star football man of Tillamook high and Foster C. Priddy, leader in scholarship and debate at Lakeview.

From The Dalles high comes Thomas L. Bright, a football star, and from Monmouth high, E. Stanley Evans, a debater of first rank. Homace Rahn-koff, a leading scholar and debater of Coquille high, will be here for the opening of the university, as well as Frank Grover, formerly of the Salem high, and a quarterback player.

Others are Floyd L. Webb, a teacher from Clackamas county, Lynn Lonsberg, a strong high school debater from Portland, Miss Myrtle Fuller, one of the ranking students of Lewiston, Idaho; Miss Ruth Stewart, second ranking student from Athena high, and Lewis Stewart, ranking student of Athena high. To enter the senior class, Herbert Blatchford will come from Albany college. For the last two years, he has taken part in the state oratorical contests. Everything now points to an unusually large attendance at the university, many coming from the high schools of the state who have ranked high in their classes.

ABE RUEF LOVED BY FELLOW CONVICTS

Strange Emotions Stir Prisoners When Ruef Is Freed and Parting Is Sorrow

San Quentin, Cal., Aug. 24.—Strange emotions stirred in the breasts of 2,300 hardened prisoners in San Quentin today as Abe Ruef, former political boss of San Francisco, emerged from the prison gates in freedom. A blanket of sorrow spread over the grim corridors—sorrow for the loss of a friend.

Whatever Ruef may have been before he entered the gates of San Quentin he earned the deep affection of hundreds of his fellow prisoners during his incarceration.

As the news quickly spread from cell to cell last night that Ruef was to be paroled, bare knuckles rapped on steel walls, and 2,300 men "talked" among themselves by the mysterious prison system, over the departure of Ruef on the morning. Ruef rap! went the news down the line, from one tier to another and up into the dimly lighted cells on condemned row.

Ruef rap! came back the answer. The rifle men quickened the pace on the tier bridges and in the yard and jolted the barrels of the guns against the steel floors.

"Cut it out," they grumbled, but the rapping went on, for was it not worth risking the wrath of the guards to discuss the departure of the one man outside of Warden Johnston who helped them and their families when the need was great?

"He was my friend," was the tribute Ruef received as he spent his last night in stripes. "I am glad for his freedom, and sorry for my own that he is free."

As so it was down the long line of unhappy prisoners. A helping hand here and there for the men whom the world had forgotten. That was Ruef's life in prison, whatever it may have been on the outside.

Bishop Is Consecrated With Imposing Ceremonies

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 24.—Impressive ceremonies today attended the consecration of Right Rev. Joseph S. Glass, C. M. D. D., formerly of St. Vincent's church here, as bishop of the diocese of Salt Lake.

Five archbishops, ten bishops and 150 priests participated in the services, which were held at St. Vincent's choir in singing the Gregorian chant.

Most Rev. Edward J. Hanna, D. D., archbishop of San Francisco, officiated as consecrator, assisted by Rt. Rev. Thomas Grace, D. D., bishop of Sacramento, Rt. Rev. Thomas F. Lillie, D. D., bishop of Kansas City, and Rev. P. J. Cummins of San Francisco.

Rev. T. J. Fitzgerald, of Redlands, was among the clerical attendants on Bishop Conant, and Rev. J. A. Reardon of Long Beach officiated as one of the masters of ceremonies.

MARTHA HEDMAN IN "THE CUB"

World Film Corporation presents Martha Hedman in a five-part Wm. A. Brady photoplay, "The Cub," based on the stage offerings of the same name. Thompson Buchanan, who wrote "Life," was the author.

Miss Hedman, who had a distinguished stage career in Sweden, England and the United States, is one of the numerous clever and beautiful actresses who owned her principal opportunities to the late Charles Frohman, who brought her to this country. This is her first appearance in motion pictures.

The story of "The Cub" is a highly diverting one. At the time of some bitter feuds in Kentucky a newspaper editor desired a special story, and assigned a new, young reporter to the job. He, clever and debonair, promptly got himself in a terrible mess by falling in love with one girl who was prominent on one side of the feud, and getting himself fallen in love with another girl who was on the opposite side.

The result, though disastrous to him, was provocative of a series of highly diverting and dangerous situations, which were finally cleared up by the intervention of the militia.

John Hines, an extremely clever comedian who has made a great reputation for himself in World Film features, has a part in which he fairly revels as the cub. There are other highly finished players in the cast.

"The Cub" will be presented at the Oregon theatre starting tomorrow. In addition a vaudeville program of merit far beyond the ordinary offering will be given by Ching Chims camp fire girls.

CIRCUS DAY IN SALEM NEXT WEEK

It will soon be here. That day of all days.

Circus day!

And when circus is mentioned, it refers naturally to the coming of the Al G. Barnes wild animal circus that is dated to exhibit in Salem, Friday, August 27.

A complete line of new and novel entertainment is promised by the show's management this season—an entertainment given almost exclusively by educated wild and domestic animals. This troupe of animal actors numbers over 600 members, and perform in 65 amusing, instructive and thrilling acts and features.

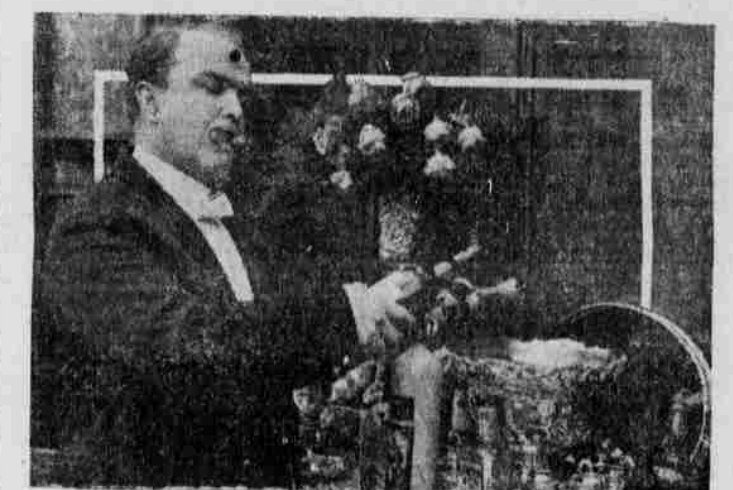

Wild animals are the star actors on the show's program. Sixty lions, tigers and leopards are performed by famous men and young women trainers who daily risk their lives for the plaudits of the public. Twenty-four of the largest African lions in captivity are shown in one act—a group of big cats valued at $50,000. A troupe of 30 bears, hyenas, zebras, apes and chimpanzees are a part of the wild animal actor section. Big Bill, the giant wrestling grizzly, and Samson the balloon lion, offer two amazing spectacles.

A herd of splendidly trained elephants and camels, seals and sea lions, goats, dogs, alligators, laughing hyenas, ostriches, and the Barnes challenge horses and ponies to the number of 550 are used during the action of the program.

Miss Bessie Harvey, prima donna soprano of "the white tops," accompanied by the educated horse King George and a flock of 50 trained carrier pigeons, presents what is said to be the most beautiful circus act extant.

A continuous line of wholesome clever fun is provided by 50 clown animals, Danger, Dynamite, Gasoline, Cactus and Gunpowder—mules, and Maj. Thornton's comedy pigs, leading the fun brigade.

VICTOR MOOR IN "CHIMMIE FADDEN"

The Jesse L. Lasky picturization of "Chimmie Fadden," which is to be seen at the Ye Liberty on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, introduces Victor Moore to the public as a photoplay star for the second time. Mr. Moore's first appearance was also under the Lasky management in the picture version of "Snobs."

Mr. Moore is one of the leading Broadway comedy stars, and has been particularly in such George M. Cohan bits as "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway" and "The Talk of New York." In "Snobs" as a milkman who suddenly inherits a vast fortune, he scored an instantaneous hit, but it is only fair to say that he has ever more fruitful opportunities in "Chimmie Fadden," the story of a Bowerly boy who finds his way into the household of an aristocratic millionaire.
