BOTH MOTORMAN AND DRIVER CARELESS IS VERDICT AT INQUEST

Southern Pacific Board of Inquiry Exonerates Car Crew In Report

That the driver of the surrey and the motorman of the car were both careless and that the car lacked airbrakes were the reasons given for the cause of the accident at the corner of Statesman and Center streets Sunday night in which Mrs. Casper Andregg lost her life and five other occupants of the rig were sent to the hospital by the coroner's jury which held an investigation yesterday afternoon.

The verdict of the coroner's jury which met in the Webb & Clough establishment was that Mrs. Casper Andregg "came to her death through a collision with a street car, in which she was thrown to the pavement, fracturing her skull. Moreover, the driver of the vehicle and also the street car motorman were careless and the car was not thoroughly equipped as it had no airbrakes."

At the coroner's inquest City Physician Cassatt was the first witness called and he merely gave formal testimony as to the scenes attendant after his arrival at the corner of Statesman and Center streets, where he found Mrs. Andregg dead and the others of the party injured.

Dr. Cassatt said the woman came to her death, in his opinion, from a wound on the head on the left side below the ear where the skull appeared to be crushed in. He said no post mortem examination had been made and he could not say whether her neck was broken or not.

Fred A. Theuer, the father of Arthur Theuer the 14-year-old boy who was hurt, testified that as the hour was late and his son had not come home and his wife left their home at 293 1/2 Center street and walked toward the Andregg home on Seventeenth street. They were near Twenty-first street, he said, when the street car passed them. At that time they could hear the patter of the horses' hoofs as the Andregg party swept along. He estimated that the car was going at a rate of 25 or 30 miles an hour, at any rate, the witness testified, the car was going faster than usual. Suddenly he heard a crash and started to run as fast as he could for the scene of the accident.

Upon arriving, he said, he could not find his boy after looking over the injured until he was told that the boy had been placed in the street car. He said the body of Mrs. Andregg was found about 12 inches from the rail of the car tracking along with the feet toward the south on the north side of the track. He said he heard no bell as the car passed Seventeenth street but could not say that none had been rung.

Conductor Church was then called by Coroner Clough. Mr. Church stated that he was the conductor on this run but that he got off with Motorman Shedeck at Twenty-fourth street to take a drink and when they got back on the car he took the front end and Motorman Shedeck, who reached the car after he did, stood on the rear platform and sang out that all was clear and then Church started the car as motorman. He said he slowed down at Seventeenth street but there was no passenger and he turned the controller over to nine points after he passed Seventeenth street. He said he saw the rig about 30 feet from it and shut off the power. Then he reversed the current but was unable to turn on the power to turn the wheels backward until after he hit the surrey. He said he was going at a rate of about 15 or 16 miles an hour and that the car went about 100 feet after striking the rig. The horses had crossed the track and he hit the front part of the rig. On cross examination he said that he immediately telephoned for help and called the hospital for an ambulance. He had been working since 8 o'clock in the morning without stopping and had taken his meals on the car. He said he was an extra man but had been accustomed to work both as motorman and as conductor. He said he began work with the company on June 3 of this year.

Rudolph Shedeck, the regular motorman, was called to the stand but said he did not see the surrey until after it was hit by the car and that the car was going at about 15 or 16 miles an hour according to his judgment. The time he said was 11:35 p. m. The Southern Pacific board of inquiry report is as follows: "Street car No. 72 was proceeding westerly about 11:36 p. m., on Center street, at a speed of 16 or 20 miles per hour and had started from Twenty-fourth street. Motorman sounded gong approaching Seventeenth street, shut off current to be prepared to stop, but as there were no passengers, he applied the current, crossed Seventeenth street and sounded the gong for Statesman street. As car approached Statesman street, horse drawn vehicle, driven by Casper Andregg, moving southerly on Statesman street, came into Center street. Several people have testified that Mr. Andregg stated immediately after the accident that he saw the car coming and thought he could get across the track ahead of it but just about the time he was crossing, small boy in seat beside him, took hold of the lines in effort to stop the team. "Team was visible about 25 feet before they reached the track and was moving about eight miles per hour. Motorman testified he saw the team when only 40 feet away but this board considers he must have seen them about 60 feet away. Motorman reversed car, accomplishing this result about the time of collision, after which car shoved vehicle ahead of it about 105

PLAN TO DEVELOP FISH AND GAME IN U. S. FOREST RESERVE

Forest Supervisors Will Collect Data For Use of State Commission

C. S. Bartman, United States forest supervisor, appeared before the fish and game commission yesterday and gave further details in connection with the proposed plan of co-operation between forest officials and state game wardens in game and forest protection and the distribution of fish in lakes and streams, etc.

The forestry officials compile comprehensive data concerning streams and lakes, as to temperature, food for fish, and the general possibility of development for sportmen. Messrs. Warren, Fleischer and Jack were appointed a committee to close the matter definitely, it being the understanding that an agreement would be entered into between the federal forest authorities, the state game authorities and the state forestry department.

No definite action was taken relative to the purchase of a state game farm. The matter of exchanging fish eggs with other states was discussed, and the matter was referred to Mr. Fleischer and Mr. Warren. A sum not to exceed $500 was ordered to be used for the propagation and distribution of black bass, none of which shall be placed in open waters of the state, but all in land-locked lakes where they cannot get into the streams and destroy fish.

An exhibit of game birds and fish at the state fair was authorized. The matter of certain repairs and improvements to the house at the Bonnevill hatchery was ordered, to which Superintendent of Hatcheries Clanton will soon move. It is expected that inasmuch as Mr. Clanton will be on hand to personally supervise the Bonnevill work, as well as the other hatcheries, a reduction in salary expense there can be brought about.

The commission of C. H. Russell, temporary deputy game warden of Lincoln county, was revoked, and W. G. Emery, of Newport, was appointed to the position. Robert Young, of Heppner, was appointed deputy game warden for Morrow county. The salary of the chief clerk in the Portland office was reduced from $150 to $100.

Fighting Fire Blight In Marion County

C. O. Constable, county fruit inspector, assisted by Prof. Posey, of Corvallis, are busy this week in their search for fireblight. Monday was spent by Mr. Constable along the cross roads in the Rosedale district, where two additional slight infections were found and destroyed. Yesterday, he was in the Brooks neighborhood where no traces of the disease was found. One small case was discovered about seven miles south of Salem.

Prof. Posey was in the Talbot county Monday where one case was found. Yesterday was spent in the East Independence part of the county to discover how far out from the river the disease has spread. The work being done is preventative, as every trace found on branches or trees is at once burned, thus stopping the spread of the disease in that section.

Pulpit Too Warm For Former Editor

Forest Grove, Or., Aug. 25.—An editor in his shirt sleeves is often seen by those who visit newspaper offices but an editor in the pulpit is perhaps not so common and an editor in the pulpit in his shirt sleeves is rather more so. This is what the congregation of the M. E. church here witnessed Sunday night at the regular evening service. E. B. Lockhart of Salem, for some years connected with a paper there, preached in place of Rev. Mr. Dunlap, the pastor, who was away.

Before the service opened two or three of the leading men of the church approached Mr. Lockart with their coats off on account of the heat, and smilingly asked him what he was going to do about it. The preaching editor instantly replied "The same, thank you," and peeling off his black coat caused a ripple of laughter to sweep over the congregation as he stepped to the platform. His example was then followed by other men in the congregation.

DO YOU FEEL HEADACHY? LOOK TO YOUR STOMACH

It is an unusual thing for a druggist to sell medicine under a guarantee to refund the money if it does not cure. Yet this is the way Daniel J. Fry, the popular druggist, is selling Mi-o-na, the standard dyspepsia remedy.

Never before has he had so large a number of customers tell him that a medicine has been successful as with Mi-o-na. People who a few months ago looked like walking skeletons have put on flesh and today are ruddy and vigorous with perfect digestion and good health.

There is no longer any need for anyone suffering or making their friends suffer on account of dyspepsia. Mi-o-na can always be relied upon. The percentage of cures is so great that there is little risk to Daniel J. Fry in guaranteeing to return the money if the medicine does not relieve. And he stands ready to do so without any questions.

Headaches, all forms of indigestion, specks before the eyes, dizzy feeling, poor sleep, ringing in the ears and all forms of liver trouble are helped by Mi-o-na. A few days' treatment should show considerable gain in health while a complete cure often follows rapidly. These days are the best in the whole year for the enjoyment of good health, and Mi-o-na will put you in such perfect condition that you can enjoy every minute of them.

Dreaming of Sunny Home and His Wife and Babies Italian Is Hurlled to Death

(Capital Journal Special Service.) Quinaby, Ore., Aug. 25.—Dreaming of home, his wife and four babies in sunny Italy, Joe Jermerosta, aged 47, a cook for the camp of laborers employed upon the Southern Pacific at this place, sat for a moment upon the grade in front of his ears, and was hurled into eternity by a crushing southbound passenger train at 10:30 Sunday evening. The heat of the day had made the sleeping cars very warm, and Joe, who had spent the evening making preparations for breakfast, had stepped outside for a brief rest in the cool, although the other 34 men of the camp were asleep, and only when the crew of the train that killed him knocked upon their door and announced his death did they know what had happened.

The body was kept at the camp until Monday morning when Coroner Clough removed it to his chapel, where it will remain until Saturday when a brother of the deceased will arrive from Washington, and the funeral will take place, attended by all his companions. There is deepest mourning at the camp, which has previously been the scene of great festivity, singing, music and laughter, always marking the close of their day's labors. They have been encamped at this point for over a month, raising the grade of the track, and while the dreary waste of right-of-way along the railroad track would scarcely appeal to the average home-maker, these weary toilers in a foreign land have contrived to make even the long row of red freight cars look home-like. There are two dogs at the camp and a whole family of kittens scamper over the tracks in play, while very carefully tended is a lone plant growing in a box by the door, and everything is as spick and span as if a New England housewife presided over it.

ATE HIMSELF TO DEATH Fairbanks, Alaska, Aug. 25.—C. S. Diekhurst, prospector, went without food for three days and then, upon reaching the cabin of a fellow prospector, ate so much that he died. This is the report made today by Dr. C. E. Danforth, United States commissioner, to Marshal Erwin.

Weak, Weary Women

SALEM CANOEING TRIP PLANNED

Harry W. Gamme, who has charge of the annual canoe trip which will be pulled off on Labor Day by the Portland Rowing club, stated that he expects fully as many men to sign up as there were two years ago, when the last trip to Salem was made. Last year the committee decided on a changed route and went down the Sandy and into the Columbia, but this didn't prove as popular as the Salem journey, and it was decided to go back to the old program again. Two years ago 43 canoes made the trip from Salem to Portland consuming two days for the journey. It is planned to send the craft down by freight cars on Friday night, and the majority of the party will leave by rail Saturday night, others following later. A camp will be made somewhere near Salem, but no definite arrangements have been made regarding its location as yet. Two years ago the boys camped on the grounds of the Salem Canoe club. A start back will be made early Sunday morning and a stop made for Sunday night somewhere in the vicinity of Wilsonville. This will break the monotony of the trip, and give the paddlers plenty of time to complete the rest of the journey on Monday, arriving at the Rowing club by 7 o'clock Monday night.—Portland Telegram.
