MABLE STARK AND BABY LEOPARD

'Bout every small boy in town will be up and dressed long before daylight tomorrow morning.

So will a lot of "grown-up" boys, too, and along with them will be a lot of girls and pa's and ma's and grand-pops.

There's a reason. It's circus day! And when circus is mentioned, it refers of course to the coming of the Al G. Barnes wild animal circus.

For the "kiddies," it means that there's going to be great big bears, and some hyenas that laugh just like folks, and naughty lions and tigers that eat up people, and camels that carry water in the humps on their backs, so's they don't have to drink, and elephants that stand on two legs so's you will feed them peanuts, and snakes that swallow kids if they don't look out, and clowns that make up like giraffes to fool you and a feller that swallows a sword forty-seven feet long, and—

For the "kids" that are larger and older, it means—well—just about what it does to the youngsters, and they who were not on the show grounds this morning watching the tents "go up"—getting satiated with circus enthusiasm along with the juvenies, will get their about 10:30—parade time.

You'll get it then, sure pop. For when you hear the trumpeting bands and the totting callioles, when you get a look at the glittering chariots and dens of wild animals, the prancing horses and the pretty show girls—and—

After the parade you'll be saying, "Well, ma, guess I can get away this afternoon—hadn't we better take the kids and go?"

But, perhaps you haven't any kiddies—what then? How about those 'round the corner, or those hungry eyed little shavers over in the next block—Put some sparkle into eyes,

Little eyes where dark gloom lies, Chuck your grouch, don't be a "tight" Take a kid or two tonight.

There's to be two performances—2 and 8 o'clock. Advance announcements say that the show's program is replete with new and novel features—many acts that were shown for the first time this year. Educated animals give the entire entertainment, over 600 of them being performed. The Barnes show is an annual visitor to Salem and its exhibition of splendid animal talent has always pleased local audiences.

There's to be two performances—2 and 8 o'clock. Advance announcements say that the show's program abounds with much new and novel entertainment this year given by a troupe of highly educated wild and domestic animals numbering over 600 members. Performing laughing hyenas, savred cattle, zebras and llamas, educated zebras, a string of racing and riding ostriches, an elephant riding pony, lions that ride in balloons and shoot fire works and sea lions that do Japanese juggling are among the novelties promised.

Arrested For Assault Upon School Teacher

Baker, Ore., Aug. 26.—Arrested near Weatherly on the charge of attacking Miss Eleanor Storie, aged 20, a man who refuses to give his name was lodged in the county jail here today after narrowly escaping lynching at the hands of infuriated farmers.

Miss Storie was riding horseback along a country road when a man sprang from ambush, seized the horse's bridle, and ordered her to dismount, flourishing a revolver in the white. Instead Miss Storie struck her assailant several times with the reins.

Enraged, the man attempted to drag Miss Storie from the horse's back. The animal took fright, however, bolted, broke the man's grasp and ran. Miss Storie rode home and gave the alarm. A thresher crew headed by her father set out in pursuit and soon overtook the alleged assailant.

He was brought back to the Storie ranch and captors were staid to have been debating lynching when an officer arrived and took the prisoner in charge.

ALLIES' NEW PLAN TO FORCE DARDANELLES

Two Failures Are Followed By Third Effort to Dislodge Moslems

(By J. W. T. Mason.)
(Written for the United Press.)
New York, Aug. 26.—Operations in Gallipoli indicate the complete failure of the first and second land offensive movements toward subduing the Dardanelles. They will be substituted by a third plan which is now being developed.

The first military efforts of the allies to open the way toward Constantinople was in the form of a double attack upon Gallipoli, on the Asiatic side, the French disembarked on the Asiatic side, and the British forces effected several landings in Gallipoli. This parallel attempt was unsuccessful, however. The French were driven back into the sea, and the British were unable to hold the shore positions.

In the second plan, the English and French forces concentrated in the southern tip of Gallipoli and made this their sole offensive point. They instituted a forward movement along the line occupied by the French on the Dardanelles side, and the British on the Aegean side, but the movement was again a failure.

In the third plan, the attempt to reach the narrows from the south has been postponed, while a new effort is being made to drive across the peninsula from the west. This is the meaning of the new operations in the Suvla bay district. The distance to be covered from the south or west is practically the same—from six to eight miles. The advantage of the new offensive movement is that a larger force can be employed.

For the first time the allies are now in a position to operate with a force proportionate in strength to that of the Mohammedans.

Mob Law Means Life To Nation, Says Bleese

Boston, Aug. 26.—"When mobs are no longer possible, then liberty is dead," was the statement of Cole Bleese, former governor of South Carolina, in an address before the governors conference today in which he championed southern mobs who take the law into their own hands. Lynching for unmentionable crimes, Bleese declared, was a protection to civilization.

Denouncing the prison methods of most states, the former governor branded the third degree practices employed in the north and west as cruel and unconstitutional. He prophesied that the time would come when the nation would follow South Carolina's footsteps and support mobs who punished criminals guilty of hideous crimes. In defense of mob law, Bleese said:

"There is no hypocritical and sanctimonious violation of fundamental rights under the cloak of the law by those sworn to uphold the law; the deed is open and civilization and justice are vindicated. When mobs are no longer possible, then liberty is dead."

Governor Hunt, of Arizona, joined Governor Dunne, of Illinois, in a plea against capital punishment.

"Tragic experiments of the past," said Governor Hunt, "in conjunction with the research of scientists in recent years have not only discovered the contention that drastic punishments prevent crime, but have indicated that violence in dealing with offenders begets violence in the populace."

Governor Goldsborough, of Maryland, was greeted with tremendous applause, when, in replying to the speech of Bleese, he said southerners did not approve of such sentiments as expressed by the former South Carolina executive. He declared such sentiments were un-American, irreligious and unchristian.

MANY ARE COMING TO OLD WILLAMETTE

Students Will Be Enrolled This Year From All Parts of Northwest

Word was received today at the Willamette university headquarters from students in different parts of the state who had made arrangements to attend here the coming school year. These students are from the high schools of the state, and all have a standing of high rank in their respective schools.

W. B. Jeffrey, who was been working in the interests of the university throughout the state with A. J. Gillette, will go to Portland tomorrow to close the season's work in the vicinity of that city co-operating with Mr. Gillette. Mr. Jeffrey will have charge of the university book store the coming year and also manage the Collegian.

Among those who have written within the last few days announcing their intentions of attending here this fall are Leon Pierce, a debater from the Eugene high school, and Horace Highland, a track man from the Springfield high. Lester Sparks will come from Bardonia, and John Anderson from the high school of Ashland. Miss Beulah Williams will come from Grants Pass to continue her studies in music. Miss Gladys True, a leading scholar from the Roquian high school will be here, and Miss Edith Anderson, recently graduated from Estacada, will enter the freshman class. These well known students from Albany, Merrill Ohling, Raymond Archibald and Henry Fish, will enroll with Willamette. Fish and Ohling have been active in the student body of Albany high, and Archibald is one of their best football men. Others who have written within the last week announcing their coming, are Ruth and Paul Green, of Halsey; Miss Susan Evans, leading scholar of North Central high, of Seattle; Miss Ruby Williamson, of La Grande, and Miss Lois Carpenter, who won a scholarship at Lebanon.

Taft Propounds His Anti-War League Plan

San Francisco, Aug. 26.—A league of federated nations which will arbitrate international quarrels rather than go to war over them is the plan which former President William Howard Taft is on record today as favoring as the only feasible method of eliminating the possibilities of warfare.

An international court, a commission of reconciliation to hear evidence and make recommendations for the settlement of disputes, an obligation on the part of all members of the league to refrain from warring on each other and to join solidly against member going to arms without first seeking the international court are the basis for such a league, he declared in an address last night.

Taft declared that the United States may have to disregard the principle laid down by Washington when he warned his country to beware of "entangling alliances."

"It seems now as if the time has come when we must make a great sacrifice," he said. "Conditions have changed since Washington uttered his historic advice. And even without 'entangling alliances' we seem to have difficulty in keeping out of war."

DUNNE AGAINST HANGING

Boston, Mass., Aug. 26.—Governor Dunne, of Illinois, made a plea for the abolishment of capital punishment before the governors' conference here today. He asked the co-operation of other executives in doing away with the scaffold and electric chair.

"The argument that capital punishment acts as a deterrent to crime has been proven fallacious," Dunne declared. He cited government statistics to show that states which do not inflict the death penalty have the least number of homicides.

Declare Girl Sold To Italian Husband

Portland, Ore., Aug. 25.—Legal developments in the untying of the marital knot binding 12-year-old Lizzie Colacola to Pietro Dasti, aged 28, were started today when several arrests were made. The police allege that the little girl was given to Dasti in marriage in return for an equity in real estate that he owned.

Those arrested including Dasti, the child-bridal and her mother. A warrant was also issued for the arrest of Cito Colacola, the father, but he could not be located.

As soon as they were taken into custody the prisoners were hurried to Vancouver, Wash., where the marriage ceremony was performed last week.

Colacola, the father, disappeared the day following the marriage, the police learned, after he had quarreled with the bridegroom over a dower settlement. He was to have been arrested on a warrant charging perjury, in falsely swearing that the girl was 16 years old.

According to the police, Dasti has lived with the Colacola family in a house owned by him for nine years, or since his bride was 3 years old. When he threatened to eject them, the Colacolas are said to have agreed to let him marry the little girl in return for part ownership in the home.

When brought to the police station the child-bridal looked pathetically small and scared, but was dressed in the manner of one many years older.

Prominent German Shot In Quarrel Over War

Santa Rosa, Cal., Aug. 26.—Carl Schmid, a prominent German resident and proprietor of the Germanic hotel here, is in a serious condition today as a result of having been shot last night following a dispute believed to have been over the war.

Michael Keys, a laborer, who shot Schmid, is being held pending the outcome of the hotel man's injuries.

Schmid was shot three times, one bullet hitting him in the jaw and the others lodging in the arm and shoulder. He is said to have tried to eject Keys from the hotel, following the dispute. Keys was knocked down and warned Schmid if he struck again he would kill Schmid. Schmid is said to have hit Keys after being warned and the latter immediately opened fire.

THE EDITOR BLUSHED.

(From an Exchange.)
A good joke on an editor who went one evening to report a party at a home recently blessed with a new babe: He met his hostess at the door, and after the usual salutations he asked after the baby's health. The lady, who was quite deaf and suffers from the grippe, thought he was asking after her child, and answered that she usually had one every winter. This was the worst one she had ever had; it kept her awake at night a good deal, and at first confined her to bed. Then noticing that the newspaper man was getting nervous, she said she could tell by his looks that he was going to have one just like hers, and asked him to come in and sit down.

Capital Journal Only Complete Paper Sold

The Capital Journal is the only evening daily published in Salem that is a complete newspaper. The Portland papers peddled here are printed in the forenoon about 11 o'clock, are simply the regular edition of the day before with some changes on the first page. They are only extras made up for street sales and out of town circulation, making no pretense to being real newspapers. The Capital Journal on the other hand, contains the complete leased wire service up to 3:30 p. m., which is 6:30 p. m. in New York and past midnight in Europe, the seat of the great war. It also contains all the local news of Salem and surrounding territory that is worth while. It is a complete afternoon newspaper and the only one circulated in Salem. When you pay your money for a Portland evening paper here you are merely being "faked" into buying a cheap extra with big headlines on the first page and yesterday's news everywhere else.

The Capital Journal sells on the street for 2 cents. Pay no more.

COCOANUT OIL MAKES A SPLENDID SHAMPOO

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, the less soap you use the better.
Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain unacidified coconut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.
Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.
You can get unacidified coconut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

PEACH WEEK DESIGNATED
North Yakima, Wash., Aug. 26.—Next week will be "peach week" throughout the state, according to a proclamation of Acting Governor Hart. Word to this effect was received here today.

SCENE FROM "THE SECRETARY OF FRIVOLOUS AFFAIRS" ACT MUTUAL MASTERPICTURE MADE BY AMERICAN

Exciting Chase Follows When "Little Blond Loveliness" Appears In Her Nightgown.

One of the most exciting chases recently shown in motion pictures occurs in "The Secretary of Frivolous Affairs," a four-part Mutual Masterpicture by May Fretelle, when "that little blond loveliness," as a critic recently called May Allison, comes down the stairs in her nightgown and kimono and tries to prevent four thieves from getting away with the pictures owned by the Hazard family. They overpowered and gag her, carry her outdoors and, after a realistic encounter with the son of the family, succeed in driving away with her in a farm wagon they have halted and requisitioned. After being shut in an abandoned house the heroine shoots through the door. Her guard incapacitated, she staggers out of the house and along the beach. Meanwhile the thieves have been pursued and a revolver and hand to hand fight bring the chase to a close as the pajama clad hero discovers the girl lying in a faint on the sand. These scenes are all enacted amid settings of unrivaled natural beauty. "The Secretary of Frivolous Affairs" will be shown at the Bligh Theatre today, Thursday and Saturday.

Newspapers Not Entitled To Special Rates On "Juice" Is New Ruling

The public utilities commission today issued a ruling that newspapers were not entitled to any lower rates for electric energy used about the plant than any other customer or class of customers. The ruling states that any cheaper rate to newspapers would be a discrimination in favor of a particular customer and that such was prohibited.

"Public utilities may classify their customers," says the commission, "but it is unlawful to grant special privilege to any customer or class of customers." The matter was brought to the attention of the commission by the Eastern Oregon Light & Power company.
