Wells, will go to Banks, in Washington county, tomorrow to attend a meeting held for the purpose of discussing the advisability of consolidating several school districts in that county and organizing a union high school.

The last of the evenings with the great poets, the series of meetings being held by the Epworth League of the First Methodist church, will be held Sunday evening. Whittier's "Seaboard" will be the subject of the evening, with Prof. James T. Matthews in the chair.

dress, together with a statement of the kind of work required, with Principal J. C. Nelson at the high school building. Prospective pupils are constantly inquiring as to the chance of securing such work--many of them are entirely dependent on it, and cannot attend school unless they can work their way. Such pupils deserve special consideration, and the school wishes to be of service to them in every way possible.

The farmers around McMinnville have no reason to complain this year. The fields are yielding immense grain crops, and the prune crop is coming out much better than expected a month ago. The crop in that section will be fully 55 to 60 per cent of a crop, much larger than last year, and more money will be put in circulation from prunes than a year ago. Drying will begin about the sixth of September. Glenn E. Urush, who has been spending the last week on his farm near McMinnville, reports these general good conditions.

For the first time in the history of the Willamette valley within the last 20 years, warehouse men have been obliged to build platforms to accommodate the grain that is being stored. Throughout the valley, the warehouses are already stored to their capacity. Harley O. White returned today from the Perrydale and McCoy districts, and states that oats are running 60 to 90 bushels on the clover land and close to 40 and 45 on other land. On fields that have been cared for, wheat is running 40 to 45 bushels an acre in that section of the country, and an average of 30 bushels where the land has not been fertilized. The warehouses in that section are too small for the crops and platforms have been built to take care of the grain. There is a general disposition among farmers to hold for better prices.
