The color motif, which was tastefully carried out in the placecards and decorations, was blue, the sapphire being the stone symbolical of a 35th wedding anniversary. A number of attractive gifts were received by Mr. and Mrs. Spencer, which were also suggestive of the royal blue jewel. Mr. and Mrs. Spencer reside in Ingleswood park.

Mrs. W. V. Johnson entertained at dinner Sunday in honor of Mrs. L. M. Query, of Renton, Wash., who is the guest of her son, C. D. Query, and family, at their home on Riverside Drive. The dining-room was prettily decorated with roses and covers were laid for ten.

Schaefer, their daughter, Louise, and Mrs. Schaefer's mother, Mrs. Sisson; Mr. and Mrs. Will Welch and Mrs. Welch's mother, Mrs. Waterhouse, of Newport, returned last night from a trip to Crater Lake. Though the roads were rather dusty and the heat extreme, the view of Crater Lake more than compensated for any annoyances on the journey, was the general opinion of the party. But most welcome of all was the sight of the Willamette valley as it greeted the travelers on the home stretch. The party was gone about 10 days.

He felt that the future of the state depended greatly on the graduates of the two state institutions and that having received their education from the state it was their duty to become good citizens and uphold the state in the coming generation.

Addresses were made by the outgoing president, Mark McAllister, and the new president, Joe McAllister. The evening's program included a violin solo by Miss Mary Schultz, a solo by Mrs. Percy Copper, addresses by Mr. Rulifson and Percy Copper, a song by Mrs. Ray Smeral and solo by little Francis Ward. There was a fine basket dinner served, interspersed by college yells and plenty of good cheer.

Arrangements will soon be made by the executive committee for a special O. A. C. day at the state fair, when it is hoped that students and alumni from all parts of the state will arrange to be here. While this O. A. C. day may be on Salem day, definite announcement will be made later.

SALEM WATER COMPANY MAKES YEARLY REPORT

"Dry" Town Uses 975,763, 900 Gallons of Water In Year Ending June 30

The residents of the city of Salem used up 975,763.900 gallons of water during the year ending June 30, 1915, and the pumping plant pumped a daily average of 2,673,325 gallons of water into the mains, according to the annual report of the Salem Water Co., filed yesterday afternoon at the office of the public utilities commission. The report also contains the chemical analysis of the water which is being used by the residents of this city, and Dr. F. W. Byrd says that the water is 98 per cent pure. It contains but two colonies of bacilla to the cubic centimeter, and no gas. Two colonies of microbes to the cubic centimeter is a small average and the absence of typhoid epidemics in this city is evident testimony that the water is above the average for the city of the valley.

The total amount taken in by the company in the year past was $72,543.22 and $40,950.48 was paid out for operating expenses, $8,777.90 went for taxes, and interest and other miscellaneous purposes required $14,150, leaving a net income of $8,964.84 to be divided among the stockholders. There is $506,300 in outstanding.

For labor about the plant and power and fuel the sum of $12,000 was paid out, and the federal income tax was $194.68. The report states that the reservoir contains 2,171,812 gallons and that the intake is 2646 feet from the pumping plant. The intake is 16 feet below the low water mark of the river.

The plaintiff in the suit of George Custer against C. W. Gillingham and Nona Gillingham, his wife, today filed a motion in department No. 1 of the circuit court to dismiss the suit as it will be settled out of court.

The suit of E. N. Derby, trustee, against the U. S. Fidelity and Guaranty company, U. S. National bank of Salem, and the state fair board was reopened in department No. 2 of the circuit court this afternoon for the hearing of additional testimony. This case was on for hearing August 9 but some accounts were introduced in evidence which the attorneys for the plaintiff wished to look over and the case was continued. This suit was brought by E. N. Derby, as trustee in bankruptcy for the W. H. Rodgers Plumbing company. Rodgers had three state contracts upon which the U. S. Fidelity company stood as his bond and when he filed a petition for bankruptcy the company finished the contracts. Mr. Derby contends that the money earned by the plumbing company up to the time that it defaulted the contracts should come to the creditors of the company. The bonding company holds that it is entitled to the money as it did the work. John Bayne represents the bonding company, John Carson the U. S. National bank, and W. C. Winslow the plaintiff.
