Hogs Are Responsible for Spread of Disease. Specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture who have been investigating the supply of crimson clover seed report there is apparently a larger supply than in any previous year, but that much of the seed is of poor quality. France and Austria normally supply the greater part of this seed used in the United States. In view of a threatened shortage owing to disturbance of the import trade, seed men, during the year ending June 30, 1915, secured as much seed as they could with the result that 12,500,000 pounds were imported from France as compared with 7,500,000 pounds the year previous. Much seed of poor quality was imported during May and June. Tests with several lots amounting to 1,000,000 pounds showed germination of only 20 per cent to 22 per cent. Farmers, therefore, should make sure of the quality of the seed they buy. Crimson clover seed of a bright greenish yellow color usually germinate well, while a brownish color usually indicates poor germination. Lots containing brown seed should especially be tested for germination.

TO PROTECT BIRDS. With the approach of the open season for shooting wild birds, the United States Department of Agriculture is warning sportsmen that the Federal regulations as amended October 1, 1914, will be strictly enforced. The department will consider any recommendations submitted in good faith for amendment of the regulations, but will hold no public hearing thereon, nor will it amend the regulations prior to October 15, 1915. It is the purpose of the department to conform the regulations to the wishes of the majority of sportsmen so far as it can be done and, at the same time give wild fowl the necessary protection. Federal regulations divide the United States into two zones. Zone No. 1, the breeding zone, include the states of Oregon, Idaho, Colorado, Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey, and all states north of them. Zone No. 2, the wintering zone, includes all States south of those named. Information as to the seasons during which migratory birds may be hunted can be secured from the State Game Warden or from the Biological Survey, Washington, D. C.

ARE YOU GOING TO THE EXPOSITION? Diving girls at Panama-Pacific exposition. Many things at the Panama-Pacific exposition are attracting attention. But these diving girls seem to be getting more than their share. The photo itself indicates the reason. The girls give their exhibitions in the famous sun zone.
