STATE NEWS

An excursion of local cranberry enthusiasts to the north shore bogs, being planned for September 12, says the Astoria Budget. A similar outing was held last year, which was attended by a number of local business men who are interested in the development of the cranberry industry in the territory bordering along Clatsop plains. The local cranberry delegation will look over the bearing bogs across the river, while the picking season is on. The party will make the cross river trip via one of the O. W. R. & N. company's steamers, proceed via train to Ilwaco, and there automobiles will be waiting to transport the cranberry delegation through the adjoining country. Clatsop county's land products show, held in connection with the Astoria regatta, was a great success. Best identifying the possibilities of the agricultural development of the lands along the Columbia river was the exhibit of the Brown Dyking company, mainly composed of vegetables grown on its dyked lands near Clifton. An imposing array of the finest vegetables ever grown was exhibited to demonstrate the fertility of the soil and the coolness of the climate. A corn exhibit was perhaps the most prominent in the display. Millet also fares well in Clatsop county. Only one difficulty, Lebanon Express: Alfred Todd last week purchased 1040 pounds of pepper-mill oil, the product of the crop grown in the vicinity of Knox butte, and prepared it for shipment from this place yesterday. It is shipped in tins containing 20 pounds each, and the tins are placed in solid wooden crates, three tins to a crate. The shipment goes to the eastern market via San Francisco. He paid $1.30 per pound, which is an unusually low price. The Lebanon producers have not yet sold, holding for a higher quotation.

Ensign Arthur Dewey Struble nephew to Wallace R. Struble, publicity manager of the Astoria regatta, was ordered by the navy department to join the U. S. S. South Dakota, while in Astoria harbor, and went South with the cruiser when she departed.

Tom Quinn, pioneer fisherman of the Columbia river, and one of the best known men along the waterfront, died suddenly of heart failure. His particular employment during recent years was to patrol Sand Island during the salmon fishing season in the interest of the fishermen. For the efficient service rendered he was dubbed the "mayor of Sand Island."

T. P. McAuley, a progressive and prosperous Yamhill county farmer, has permanently located on the old Hansel ranch near Clatsop. Mr. McAuley's main reason for making a change, he says, was the equable coast climate.

THE MARKETS

Wheat is bringing but 70 cents in the local market today, and the mills and commission men are not very keen to buy even at that price. The government report shows an unusually heavy crop this year, and in Europe and Argentina, crops are heavy. Locally, everything is in a waiting condition, just waiting to see what is going to happen.

The egg market is firm with an upward tendency. While 25 cents in trade is freely given, yet there is a feeling that this price will advance within a few days. Veal is off one cent. Poultry is in good demand with a firm price. Everything points to a higher market in both eggs and poultry.

There is much dissatisfaction in the butter trade regarding the present quotation basis. Up to a short time ago there was only one quotation for cubes, the price being confined to what city creameries were willing to pay for offers of country cubes. Later the price of city cubes was arbitrarily set, although perhaps less than 1 per cent of the butter business in this market is done in cubes.

The print basis upon which former butter markets rested here because practically all the trade is in prints was abandoned, causing an end of difficulty to retailers and cream shippers who were no longer able to judge accurately what the real butter market was. The change in basis of quoting butter was a woe for the country creamery and strenuous efforts are being made by dairying interests to settle the matter on a basis that would be satisfactory to all.

Capital Journal Only

Complete Paper Sold

The Capital Journal is the only evening daily published in Salem that is a complete newspaper. The Portland papers peddled here are printed in the forenoon about 11 o'clock, are simply the regular edition of the day before with some changes on the first page. They are only extra made up for street sales and out of town circulation, making no pretense to being real newspapers. The Capital Journal on the other hand, contains the complete leased wire service up to 3:30 p. m., which is 6:30 p. m. in New York and past midnight in Europe, the seat of the great war. It also contains all the local news of Salem and surrounding territory that is worth while. It is a complete after-noon newspaper and the only one circulated in Salem. When you pay your money for a Portland evening paper here you are merely being "faked" into buying a cheap extra with big headlines on the first page and yesterday's news everywhere else.

Butter Fight Breaks Out

Between Creamery Interests

Portland, Ore., Sept. 10.—There was a general advance of 1c a pound in the price of all grades of butterfat in the local market this morning. Supplies are getting scarce.

Another fight between creamery interests is shown locally and the price of butterfat is chiefly affected. While the general quotation for No. 1 fat remains at 29c a pound, Portland delivery, it is stated that some interests are paying this price at country points which means the addition of 1c a pound if the cream was delivered here.

There is much dissatisfaction in the butter trade regarding the present quotation basis. Up to a short time ago there was only one quotation for cubes, the price being confined to what city creameries were willing to pay for offers of country cubes. Later the price of city cubes was arbitrarily set, although perhaps less than 1 per cent of the butter business in this market is done in cubes.

The print basis upon which former butter markets rested here because practically all the trade is in prints was abandoned, causing an end of difficulty to retailers and cream shippers who were no longer able to judge accurately what the real butter market was. Country creameries which had contracted to pay cream shippers a certain differential from the price of cubes,

found to their dismay

after the establishment of a price for city cubes, that they were losing about 2c a pound on every pound of butterfat they had contracted, with the view of paying on the former basis—that of country cubes. A meeting of the creamery interests is being planned to settle these difficult matters.
