HANDSOME TROPHIES TO BE GIVEN WINNERS IN TENNIS MATCHES

Salem Tennis Association Planning to Stage Meet Sept. 23, 24 and 25

The Salem Tennis association is planning to stage a tournament here September 23, 24 and 25 which will attract some of the best tennis players in the northwest to the courts of this city. The prize cups and trophies already offered include a handsome cup to be donated by A. Bush for the Men's Singles. This cup will probably be a continuing event and must be won three times before it becomes the permanent property of the tennis champion. The Gray Belle has offered to contribute two cups to be given to the winners of the mixed doubles. Barr's Jewelry store has contributed a cup for the ladies' singles and Hauser Bros. and Watt Shipp have each offered to put up an $8 tennis racket.

One of these rackets and a box of candy donated by the Spa will be given to the Salem man and to the Salem woman who remains in the tournament the longest. It is probable that in consideration of the array of brilliant talent that is coming to this city for the tournament that the Salem players will hardly last until the finish and the foregoing arrangement was made to make it a Salem event.

There have been no formal entries so far and it is not probable that any matches will be made until the time for beginning actual play. A number of the crack players of the Multnomah athletic club, as well as players from Albany and Eugene will be here for the tournament. Even Seattle is to be represented by one entry and the present indications point to one of the most successful tournaments ever pulled off in this city.

Lodge No. 1 and Salem Rebekah lodge No. 1 are requested to assemble at the lodge rooms Wednesday evening, Special program. Committee. Sept 22

An interesting feature of the Methodist conference now in session at Roseburg will be the conference parliament on Saturday afternoon of this week, when topics of interest will be discussed by leading members of the conference. Among those honored by an opportunity to take a leading part in the discussions is the Rev. Edwin Sherwood of Kimball College, who will lead the discussion on "Are We Ministers and Teachers in Any Way Responsible for Today's Desecration of the Holy Sabbath?"

Miss Anne D. Sweeney, librarian of the Salem public library, is planning for a lecture course this winter of unusual interest. It has already been decided that Prof. A. F. Reddie, professor of public speaking at the University of Oregon, will be secured for one of the attractions. Prof. Reddie is justly popular with Salem audiences and his appearance here always induces an enthusiastic audience. The lecture course will be held as usual in the auditorium of the public library on the first and third Friday of each month, beginning with November.

Judge William Galloway, of this city, who is now with Mrs. Galloway visiting the San Francisco fair, writes to friends in this city that Mrs. Galloway suffered a painful injury when going down to the fair on the boat but that she will doubtless be able to visit the fair within a few days. Mrs. Galloway was thrown against a table by a sudden lurch of the boat and was badly bruised but no serious consequences are expected. Judge and Mrs. Galloway will leave San Francisco on their return trip September 25.

A reception and banquet will be given this evening at the First Christian church to those who have been working for funds to help in securing an endowment for the Eugene Bible university. The evening will be rather one of entertainment, including music by the Hatley and Gillfillan ladies' quartet, and selections by the Christian church male quartette. Short talks will be made by E. C. Sanderson, president of the Eugene Bible university, G. S. O. Humbert, field secretary of the university, and Orlo H. Williams, a field worker. Leon B. Myers, pastor of the Christian church at The Dalles, will also be present and deliver a short address. Thos. B. Kay will act as toastmaster for the evening.

Arrangements were made yesterday by the Elks committee and W. Al Jones secretary of the state fair board, by which the Elks will be given the new auditorium for their program on the evening of Thursday September 30. The Elks committee are now in correspondence with the Portland board and expect to complete arrangements by which they will accompany the Portland Elks delegation. Besides the band members, the Orphans male chorus will sing several selections, and short talks will be made by prominent Elks. In fact, the lodge here is preparing to put on an evening's entertainment in the new auditorium that will be a credit to the lodge and an entertainment for the visiting members from Portland and other cities in the valley.

John W. Lewis, state engineer, returned with his family Sunday night, from a two weeks' visit to the San Francisco fair. During his stay in California Mr. Lewis attended a number of irrigation meetings and delivered an address at the International Irrigation congress held at Stockton. Mr. Lewis spoke on "State Control and Regulation of Irrigation Districts." The greatest problem, says Mr. Lewis, that is now to be solved by the irrigation authorities is the financing of the settlers on the irrigated lands. If the settler on developed land needs a system of rural credits and cheap money on long time loans the settler on undeveloped land needs it all the more and it is to satisfy this need that irrigation experts are now laboring.

Wild Speculation Today In Industrial Stocks

(Copyright 1915 by the New York Evening Post.) New York, Sept. 21.--The movement of the market today was wholly made up of wild speculation in industrials identified with the recent "war contract" excitement.

The rise was held by Central Motors which advanced 54 points--an achievement made more remarkable by the fact that people affiliated with the company have been protesting that profits from which greatly enhanced earnings, and a 50 per cent extra dividend were created, had not been derived from orders for war materials.

Many of these advances were extremely violent. The speculative outside public was plainly in the market, and the movement frequently became hysterical as in the earlier stages of the frenzy.

The pace, however, was too extravagant to hold. It resulted in the afternoon, as was to be expected, in a violent reaction in which General Motors itself lost more than half of its rise. The close was uncertain and irregular. Standard investment shares played scarcely any part in the day's activity.

Among those who were present at the organization of a juvenile department of the United Artists, Saturday evening were Maelya Hunter, Margaret White, Leetha Wilson, Mona Schumann, Ruth Cook, Ruth Ross, Grace Davis, Theodore Smith, Helen Smith, Marie Cook, Thelma Cook, Loren Louise, Othel White, Kenneth Kaiser, Theodore Pollock, Harry Esch, Dorothy Esch, Gladys Dimeter, Harry Dimeter, Gladys Noden, Ruth E. Ross, Merle Matlock, Lowell White, Reta Claggett, Cleo Kalford, Bessie Shafer, Irene Platt, Alma Kirtley, Edwin Kirtley, Garnet Clearwater, Essie Lindsey and Orley J. Leffingwell. All the members of the juvenile department of the Artists will be presented to the lodge at the regular meeting tomorrow evening.

Former United States Senator Lafe Young, editor of the Des Moines, Iowa, Daily Capital, is in Portland, and will leave on the Shasta limited this Tuesday. He has several friends living in Salem whom he will be pleased to meet, and will stop off the train when it reaches Salem about 5:30 p. m. to greet several who have asked him to make his appearance. It is suggested that the Iowa society greet him with a delegation and that the members of the Salem press make a personal call. Senator Young is well known throughout the nation as a man of strong character, Senator Young and Albert Tozier, mayor of the Tilleda City, are warm personal friends and have toured the United States, West Indies and Mexico, together as members of the National Editorial association. He is accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. John Herrick, of Holivar, New York. They are on their way to the San Francisco exposition.

DIED BENCH--In this city, September 21, 1915, F. O. Bench, at the age of 41 years.

Surviving him is a wife and brother living in this city. Also his mother, a brother and sister living in Missouri. He was a member of the Masonic and members of that order will attend the funeral to be held from the Terwilliger cottage parlors Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The Rev. R. S. Gill will officiate and interment will take place at the City View cemetery.

FOOTBALL AT NIGHT Chicago, Sept. 21.--Coach Childs of the Indiana university eleven plans an innovation in football. He has the Indiana field wired so it can be brilliantly lighted at night, and plans to escape the heat of day by holding night practice.

At the Frame Shop there is on exhibition this week an interesting specimen of frame work done by Fred Bonaparte, an inmate of the state penitentiary, upon which has been lavished much patience and ingenuity. It has been carved with a pen knife and three weeks was consumed in making it. The work represents a vine, with flowers at intervals, upon each of which a bird is perched. The birds and flowers are colored. Upon looking at this worthy endeavor, the interesting speculation arises as to what benefits might accrue both to the inmates and society outside if competent instructions in the handicrafts were given at such institutions. The household helps your wife needs can be found quickly through the Journal Want Ads.

Sep 23 The Seattle Tillicums, the boosting organization of that city, will pass through this city shortly on their way to the San Francisco exposition. As the Cherrians would like to make their acquaintance, they have been invited through Secretary Wilson, to stop over a short time and take in the beauties of the Capital City and also take a look at the Oregon organization that walked away with the first prize at the Portland rose festival this year. Only a few more days of Mosher's sixth annual fall opening sale. W. W. Seymour, a prominent citizen and former mayor of Tacoma, stopped over in the city last evening, on his return by auto from a trip to Crater Lake. He was enthusiastic over the scenery and the beauty of the trip, but wasn't especially impressed with the roads near Salem. In fact, he said the roads were all fine, until within 10 miles of this city and was of the opinion that a drug would materially improve them. Rushing the Tailor--So many suits have been sold during Mosher's sixth annual fall opening sale, that he has been compelled to add two extra men to his workroom. Here is a school teacher that has the proper idea of boosting Oregon. Isla Laughlin is a teacher at Fremont, Ore., and in order to properly study Oregon and its resources, has written the Commercial club asking for circulars and pamphlets. If Miss Laughlin writes every Commercial club in the state, and receives their literature, it is a sure thing that by the end of the school year, her pupils will know a lot about Oregon and its resources that the average boy and girl doesn't even imagine. For the convenience of those who can not attend during the day time, D. H. Mosher, the tailor, announces that his store will be kept open evenings during his sixth annual fall opening sale, being held this week. While the sixty-third annual state conference of the Methodist Episcopal church is in session this week at Roseburg, the Layman's association of the Oregon conference will also be in session, to discuss church affairs from the layman's standpoint. Among those who have been appointed to attend the Layman's conference and who will attend from Salem are Mrs. Pauline M. Penn, Mrs. Emma C. Corneilus, Mrs. George H. Alden, Mrs. Carl Gregg Doney, Ernest Hise, Prof. Florian Von Eschen, Dr. R. L. Steeves and A. A. Lee. All members of I. O. O. F. Chemeketa
