In the second and third columns above the (*) represents decreases. Confidence of the people of Oregon in the future and a rapid recovery from the general depression in all lines of trade, is evidenced in the statement above. Although the total demand deposits of all the banks in the state, including balances due to other banks, show a decrease of $6,212,475.05 for the year, there has been a steady increase during the past two or three months, this statement showing an increase of $1,813,538.12 since the statement of June 23, 1915.

Time and savings deposits continue to grow and have reached a grand total of $37,920,873.17, an increase of $2,379,672.88 since the September statement of last year.

Redeemables with the federal reserve bank amount to $140,315.20, having increased only $36,325.57 since the June call. Other redeemables and bills payable amounting to $2,533,430.30, are unusually high at this time of the year. This is due to the fact that farmers do not seem to be disposed to sell their crops but are holding for higher prices. This item shows an increase of $1,154,743.66 over the statement of September 12, 1914.

The national banks of the state now have an investment of $461,783.34 in the stock of the federal reserve bank and are carrying reserve balances with that institution amounting to $1,454,929.41.

The statement as a whole makes a most satisfactory showing and indicates a rapid growth of business during the past two months and an early return to normal conditions. The banks are carrying good reserves and are in a position to meet all legitimate demands.

A bad and a hasty temper and that she frequently packs her grip and leaves the house. They were married in Hood River in 1913 and there are no children or property rights to become involved in the controversy. Smith & Shields are attorneys for the plaintiff.

A marriage license was issued today to Charles M. Cummings, a farmer of Turner, and Eva Russell, also of Turner. Henry E. Homingson, a farmer of Silverton, and Verna Jones, of Silverton, likewise secured their matrimonial permit.

Caroline Muller today filed a suit for divorce in the circuit court of this county against Henry Muller alleging cruel and inhuman treatment. The marriage was "made in Germany" in 1899 on July 4. The plaintiff alleges that her husband struck her with his fists on one occasion and that peaceful married life is no longer possible. She asks for a decree of absolute divorce with $20 per month as alimony and $75 for suit money. Pogue, Page & Roberts are attorneys for the plaintiff.

J. C. Davis has brought suit in the circuit court of this county against Dorothy V. Panzau to collect $90 which he alleges is due for redeemed hop checks. It appears that Mr. Davis was conducting a store and that the hop pickers exchanged tickets for merchandise as collateral. He alleges that the defendant refuses to redeem the hop checks which are valued to $90. W. C. Winslow is attorney for the plaintiff.

Today is "Salem Day" at the state fair but the officers at the court house are wrapped in subdued gloom on account of the death of their friend and former fellow worker, Harry Minto, and this fact adds another element of change to "Salem Day."

"Eight years ago on Salem Day," said County Clerk Max Gehlar, "as the youngest clerk and general factotum about the clerk's office, I was delegated or sentenced rather, to remain in the county clerk's office to keep the shop open while all the other county court house inhabitants went to the fair."

"During that entire long lonesome day only one man called in at the clerk's office to transact business and I welcomed him like a lost brother, but only one man called and the rest were at the fair. This morning before 10 o'clock at least 75 people called to transact business and this afternoon has been a busy one so far."

"The question is are people paying less attention to the state fair or more to business affairs."

Cost of Fighting Fire In Northwest

Portland, Ore., Sept. 27.—Fire fighting in Oregon, Washington and Alaska, since July 1, has cost the government $50,000. Most of the fires were prevented from doing any material damage to merchantable timber. The majority of them were confined to old burns.

The forest service has in Oregon and Washington a total of 4,062 miles of telephone and 4,028 miles of trail. These are primarily for use in fire suppression.

The forest service has, in Oregon and Washington, over 100 high lookout points constantly manned during the fire season. The best known of these lookouts is Mt. Hood.

An officer of the forest service has designed a portable telephone for rangers, which weighs only two and a half pounds. Connection may be made anywhere along the line with this instrument. Over one hundred of them will be used in Oregon and Washington next year.

Success has followed forest planting on the sandhills of Nebraska. Jack pines planted there by the government forest service ten years ago now have a height of over 15 feet and a diameter of four inches.

Only one modern sawmill is operated in the Territory of Hawaii.

THE MARKETS

Although the wheat market is showing signs of an advance in the eastern markets, on account of unfavorable weather, no changes are noted in the local markets. The price here runs from 73 to 75 cents with but few willing to buy or sell.

Eggs are holding strong, with a few storage offered in Portland. In the local markets 28 and 30 cents is the market price so far this week.

Pineapples are now on the market, with a quotation of 7 1/2 cents.

ENGLAND ORDERS 20 GIANT FLYING BOATS OF "AMERICA"

The "America," photographed shortly before being taken to England.

A new $500,000 order for flying boats of the type of the America, the great oceanic vessel that was constructed before the war for a flight across the ocean, has just been placed at Hammondsport, N. Y., by the British government. The order is for twenty of the flying boats at $25,000 apiece. The America was shipped to England shortly after the outbreak of the war, and is one of the best hydro-aeroplanes in the British service.
