IS YOUR STOMACH CLOGGED WITH WASTE?

Daniel J. Fry Guarantees to Return the Money If Mi-o-na Does Not Relieve You.
"It's a pleasure to see a medicine when my customers come in afterward and tell me how much good it has done them," said Daniel J. Fry, the popular druggist to a Journal man, "and that is why I like to sell and recommend Mi-o-na, the dyspepsia remedy. The distribution of samples that I made created so much talk and so large a proportion of those who received a sample have bought a box of Mi-o-na that my clerks have been busy selling the medicine ever since. I have so much faith in this article that I am going to guarantee it for the future, and will return the money to any purchaser of Mi-o-na whom it does not help. That may seem rash but my customers have said so many good words in its favor that I do not expect to have many packages returned.
"Anyone who has dyspepsia, whose food does not digest well, and who has to take thought as to what he can eat, and when, can leave 50 cents deposit at my store and take home a box of Mi-o-na and if the remedy does not regulate his digestion and help his dyspepsia he can withdraw his money. I don't know but what we would be willing to pay him interest."
This shows great faith in the merit of Mi-o-na. It is really a most unusual medicine and the rapid increase of sales since Daniel J. Fry introduced it in Salem shows that it does all that it is claimed to do--relieves dyspepsia, regulates digestion and enables those who use it to eat just what they want with no fear of trouble after.

THREE ROBBERS MAY GET MILLION DOLLARS

Hold Up Train Carrying Big Shipment of Unsigned Currency
Parkersburg, W. Va., Oct. 8.—Three masked men early today held up a westbound Baltimore and Ohio train at Central, fifty miles east of here, and after uncoupling the mail car and engine, forced the engineer to take them to Toll Gate, six miles west. There they rifled the mail car and escaped with a large amount of unsigned paper money and $300 cash.
At Toll Gate, the robbers boarded an automobile which was awaiting them. Clarkburg federal authorities formed automobile posse at 4 a. m. and are in sharp pursuit.
The unsigned paper money was consigned to western banks, mostly in five, ten and twenty. Several hundred thousand dollars in unsigned notes is reported to have been the haul, though earlier reports placed the amount at $1,000,000.
Later reports stated that the trio got all of the registered mail, but reports conflicted as to whether or not the holdup men actually did or did not get a vast quantity of unsigned currency aboard the train.
They climbed aboard when the train stopped to take water, held up the engineers at the point of revolvers and forced three clerks to surrender the mail car. Surprised, they offered no resistance.
Money as Good as Signed.
Washington, Oct. 8.—The treasury department today said that if the West Virginia train hold up men secured a large haul of unsigned paper currency, it was just as good as signed money, if put into circulation.
Among the twelve consignments of unsigned bank notes sent out yesterday was one for the Harney County National bank of Burns, Ore.
The government will probably have to stand the loss as all the banks took out insurance with the government shipments.

Tennis Players Want To Finish Tourney

Salem tennis bugs are anxiously scanning the weather vane and barometers in the hopes that Jupiter Pluvius will hold off with his showers until after Saturday, and allow the belated finals of the Willamette Valley Tennis tournament to be played.
The Portland racket wielders are planning to arrive here Saturday morning on an early train, when the play will begin immediately and continue throughout the day. Today's south wind looks suspicious to those concerned although the barometer is still set at fair.
Brandt Wickersham, A. D. Wakeman, James Shives, Mrs. Herrick and Miss Furling, Mr. George Rodgers and Ralph Moores of this city, are still left in the finals, as is Miss Cowden, of Silverton, in the mixed doubles.
In the contest for the eight dollar racket offered by the Watt Ship company for the Salem man staying in the tournament longest four were eligible, as Thielsen, Putnam, Kay and Moores all succumbed in the same round to the prowess of the Portland men. These four are now playing off a round robin to settle the ownership of the racket.
It now looks as though one of the handsome silver cups on display in Barr's window will remain in Salem. A Rodgers and Wickersham are touted as probable winners in the men's doubles where they meet Frohman and Eastham in finals.

All Portland Hotels Given Privileges of Telephone Exchange

The Public Service commission yesterday afternoon issued an order granting to all of the hotels in Portland the same privileges of telephone service exchange that had been in use at the Hotel Oregon for some time and which was the basis of a complaint filed by the Public Service league and others against the Pacific Telephone company and the Home Telephone company. It appears that the guests at the Oregon may talk to subscribers of either line and the Pacific Service league petitioned the Pacific Service commission to issue an order granting the same privileges to all subscribers in the city of Portland.
A number of the Portland hotels joined in the petition and the order of the commission issued yesterday gives the other hotels who wish it, the same rights as are enjoyed by the Hotel Oregon for its guests. The matter of the original complaint has not been settled as yet although the Pacific Telephone company has filed a protest against the prayer of the petition with the Public Service commission.

COLD AND DULL WEATHER GREET'S OPENING GAME

Drizzle of Rain and Cold Wind Made Most Unpromising Outlook

By George R. Holmes.
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
Philadelphia, Oct. 8.—Cold and gloomy the world's series opening day dawned, driving before it a chilly night.

A fine drizzle "whipped the Quaker city fitfully, and gusts galloped down the streets, driving everyone into hotels, except the ticket speculators. But it appeared certain that the two mighty sides would clash, barring the unexpected. Club officials were on the ground at daybreak, inspecting the field, and the skies, as well as the 1500 shivering baseball nuts before the ticket window. After giving the situation the once-over, the magnates announced that the game will in all probability be played today.

The final decision rested with the National commission which met at the Bellevue-Stratford shortly before noon. Sold in the long and variegated history of baseball has a gullible public been prodded in the pocketbook to such an extent as today. Scalpers who seemed to have cornered the ticket supply, were fairly well along the road to independent wealth. Sets of three $3 seats brought $30 to $40 without a protest.

John D. Rockefeller and Andy Carnegie could hardly touch a $5 pasteboard, so high were the quotations. It was impossible to walk along Broad, Chestnut or Market streets without being fairly mobbed by ticket speculators. Policemen, popularly supposed to possess an undying hatred for the scalpers were conveniently absent and the grand little sport of prodding the populace went merrily on.

The betting odds were practically even. Occasionally a feverish partisan put up five to four on Boston's chances, but as often the reverse was true. The newspapers reported heavy betting, if it existed, it was not visible to the naked eye.

One hundred and fifty of the nuttiest nuts, mostly youths, braved the chill breeze, from the ocean all night to be on hand at the ticket window at 11 o'clock this morning. By six o'clock the crowd had grown to 200, while at 8 o'clock it had swelled to 1500.
Heading the string were about 25 youths who frankly admitted they did not expect to see the game, but wanted to sell their places at prices that would make Charles M. Schwab blink. As the hour for opening the ticket sale approached, these prices sky-rocketed with the abandon of Bethlehem steel.

The Boston fans came up early, but for the most part stuck to the lobby of their hotel. The royal rosters, whose hoist is that they never backed a loser, arrived behind a pompous band and a group of troubadours—all set to sing "Tessie" until the cows come home.

They amused themselves by telling a gaping crowd of the dire things that will happen to Mr. Grover Cleveland Alexander, when the Red Sox cut loose. If the Diamond battle is as hectic as the verbal contests about the hotels, 20,000 odd fans will be satisfied. The first two games will be witnessed probably by as notable a gathering as ever attended a world's series. No one but a millionaire stands a chance of entering the park. Elaborate preparations are being made for the attendance of President Wilson and his family tomorrow and while the Quaker City may gouge the Aliens, the bars are down everywhere for Wilson. Shortly before 11 o'clock the sun struggled out through dusky skies and the thousands of nuts were happy.

Rumors were that the size of the park will figure in the result. The centerfield bleachers have been extended, and now the mid section of the lot is short. It is not short enough, however, to necessitate special ground rules. Hence, a poke through center into the stands will be a good honor unless the umpires announce ground rules. But, as the matter stands, a lucky blow to mid-field, might mean the winning of the game.
New stars are expected to flash across the horizon, and a new series of heroes come to the fore. Eganoff, fresh from the Pacific coast, will be watched closely. His name is heard most, as a possible fielding order or batting hero, and he is in grand form, playing the game of his life.

LAND GRANT IS DISCUSSED AT CLUB

Various Views Expressed Before Government Attorney

At the meeting held this morning at the commercial club between S. W. Williams, an attorney sent here by the department of justice to secure the sentiment of the Oregon and California land grants, and the officials of the state and county, a motion was made and carried that it was the unanimous sentiment of those present and the community, that they did not favor any action on the part of congress that might cause these lands to be placed in a reserve, either by the state or federal government.

Various views were expressed as to what should be done with the lands, but those attending were very emphatic in their opinion that the lands should not go into a reserve.
One of the ideas, on which there was a difference of opinion, was that congress should remove all restrictions from the railroad in order that it might sell the land to prospective settlers, and that the railroad could not afford to hold the land on account of the taxes.
Another suggestion debated, was that the state should be allowed to buy the land at $2.50 an acre, dispose of it to the best advantage, and use the profits for the further development of schools, roads and for irrigation.

Mr. Williams, who is here to get the general sentiment of the people, expressed the opinion that just at present, the matter seemed to be entirely between the federal government and the railroads, and that technically, prospective settlers at present had no rights.

The meeting today had no authority, but was called to discuss the subject with the special agent of the government, and to get the opinions of the people in Salem. Mr. Williams will confer with the commercial club at Englewood tomorrow.

Among those present and taking part in the discussions were F. G. Deckebach, Charles H. McNary, Representatives George Weeks, Thomas Brown and Dana Allen; State Engineer Lewis, W. M. Hamilton, president of the commercial club, State Forester Elliott, County Commissioners Beckwith and Geole, County Assessor Ben F. West, County Surveyor Herrick, George T. Bowen, clerk of the state land board, A. N. Gilbert, Lute Westcott, Leonard Underwood, special agent of the general land office and a fair representation from the commercial club.

PREDICTED MARRIAGE.
Portland, Ore., Oct. 8.—Attention was called here today to a prediction made in Portland seven months ago by Professor Donshow Kodama, the Japanese seer of Tokio, that President Wilson would marry a widow forty years old in March, 1916. Kodama didn't miss it far if present plans carry.
