that can you replace it with? Yet in the theatre is found the opportunity to express those instincts which are inherent in every individual—a love of the beautiful, a redeeming power of joy. Continue the idea of Percy MacKaye, who sought through church and university the development of the dramatic instinct. Let this God-like instinct have an open field, encourage and strengthen it, so that it may lead the race onward to a brighter morning. This is the mission of the American theatre.

The title of the next lecture in the series is: George Meredith, the Philosopher; His Novels and Poetry.

LINN COUNTY HOLDS GOOD SCHOOL FAIR

Excellent Exhibits and Great Interest Shown Says L. P. Harrington

Mr. L. P. Harrington, industrial field worker for the state department of education, has reported to Superintendent of Public Instruction J. A. Churchill that the school fair at Albany is the best ever held in Linn county. In speaking of the fair, Mr. Harrington said, "The exhibits are all of better quality, and there are more districts, more children represented and a greater interest is manifested than at any fair heretofore held in Linn county."

The armory building is being used and is entirely filled with poultry and agricultural products, together with baking, canning, sewing and many other kinds of handwork. Forty-five schools or school rooms have separate booths entirely filled, and in addition there is a general exhibit for the overflow from districts not having individual booths. In addition to the miscellaneous exhibits, there are 45 exhibits of chickens, 80 of ducks, 10 of pigeons and other pets, and over 50 bird houses. The corn exhibit is especially good. It includes 55 exhibits of field corn, 18 of sweet corn, and 46 of popcorn, each exhibit containing 10 ears. There are 50 exhibits of potatoes besides many other vegetables. There are several fine garden exhibits, including one by Roland Parker, who has an individual collection of about 40 varieties of grains and vegetables.

The Albany high school has an excellent exhibit of manual training work. This domestic science department shows cooking and canning, the grades being represented in this work. City Superintendent Boettcher is much pleased with the exhibit but says that another year will show great increase in quantity and improvement in quality. He states that the splendid new high school building was planned with a view to emphasizing agricultural and industrial work. The high school is now offering four years of manual training, while the grades have two years of domestic art.

County Superintendent Jackson and Supervisor Benner are much pleased with the interest which is being shown by the country as well as by the town schools. "The school exhibit in the armory," Superintendent Jackson declared, "is the biggest and best school exhibit ever seen in Linn county, if not in the state."

TO ORGANIZE FLORAL SOCIETY IN SALEM

Meeting Called at Commercial Club For Friday Next For This Purpose

The Salem Floral society will be organized in this city by J. W. Marney, and with this in view, a meeting has been called at the auditorium of the Commercial club Friday, October 22. This meeting is open to all who grow or are interested in flowers, one of the special benefits in view, being an arrangement by which flower slips may be exchanged. At the meetings of the society, papers will be read and the various means of beautifying Salem discussed.

According to those who are interested in the organization of such a society, there is a need of such a society in Salem, and in fact this city has been rather backward in this respect, as Portland, Eugene and other cities have organized, much to the benefit as well as pleasure of those interested in flowers.

Besides the exchange of flowers, it has been proposed by those interested, that the society take up the proposition of planting certain kinds of roses in the different school grounds, and of benefiting different lodges in the city. "There is a general feeling that a slogan of 'Beautiful Salem' will soon be the word for this city, and that a floral society would be of great benefit in carrying out this idea."

After the society is fully established, it is thought probable that the exchange of slips would not be confined to the city alone, but would include other cities.

In order that the society may organize with a larger charter membership, efforts will be made to secure a large attendance at the first meeting next Friday.

Two Unarmed Crafts Captured Guaymas

TRY FOR ATTENDANCE OF 1,000 TOMORROW

Teams Make Spirited Contest, and Expect to Secure the Full Number

With a standard set for an attendance of 1,000, the members of the Christian Sunday school are working hard today, securing pledges from their friends by which they agree to attend the annual rally day to be celebrated in the church tomorrow morning.

And just to add zeal to their efforts, besides the desire to secure the 1,000 attendance, it has been agreed between the Reds and the Blues, the two sides into which the workers are divided, that the losers will entertain the winning side with a banquet next week. One year ago, the standard of attendance for rally day was set at 800, but when the final count was made, a total of 915 were found to be present. While an attendance of 1,000 is a pretty high figure to work for, yet the active workers feel confident today their ambitions will be realized.

Special music has been prepared by the regular choir, the men's male quartet and by the orchestras. The program for the Sunday morning services in full is as follows:

9:45—Selection Orchestra
9:45—Hymn No. 11
9:50—Hymn No. 6
9:55—Prayer Rev. Porter

Will Make Six Talks On European War

The Sunday evening services at the First Congregational church are attracting more than ordinary attention. Taking a timely subject for his lectures, the Rev. James Elvin will begin a series of six talks, to be delivered Sunday evenings, on "Europe and the War." The first address of the series tomorrow evening will take up Germany and why she is strong, showing her marvelous development and organization, and the power of her Germanic state. The lecture will be illustrated with 50 stereopticon slides.

The succeeding five lectures, each to be delivered at the Sunday evening services, are as follows:

October 24—"France and the Marshall Islands." Her contribution to liberty. Her inheritance from the revolution. The weak point in her development.
October 31—"Great Britain and Her Empire." Constructive liberty. The Anglo-Saxon genius. Industrial and commercial leadership. European complications.
November 7—"Russia, the Land of the Koss." Her subject races. Her majestic religions. The Russia of today. The Russia of the future.
November 14—"Austria and Italy." The double monarchy. Germanic Austria. Slavie Austria. Hungary. The old Italy and the new. The whirlpool of nations.
November 21—"The Balkans and the Eastern Question." Old races and new races. Pan Slavism. Bulgarian, Greek, Servia. The sick man of the east. The Crescent and the Cross.

High Schools All Have Fine Libraries

Washington junior high, Lincoln junior high and Grant junior high schools are all equipped with libraries of their own, all under the personal supervision of Miss Flora M. Case, clerk of the public library. In each of these schools, the books are placed in one room, and are charged out to the pupils, following the system in use at the Salem high school.

The library at Washington is the largest, with about 500 volumes. Lincoln and Grant junior high schools each have about 300 volumes. This arrangement of books of each school in one room in each building has been adapted since the organization of the junior high schools. In each of the buildings the library is in charge of one teacher, assisted by two or three pupils, who are all responsible to Miss Case.

To assist her in the high school work, as well as in the three junior high schools, Miss Case has appointed as apprentices, Miss Pearl Burton and Miss Bernice Rise, both members of the senior class. In their work, they gain valuable experience in library work, assist in the charging out of books, and aid in the mending and general care necessary in handling the 1100 books now in the high school library.

Young Woman Dies In Doctor's Office

Portland, Ore., Oct. 16.—Efforts are being made today to identify a young woman who died in the office of Dr. A. Auspund late yesterday. The body bears unmistakable evidence of a criminal operation, Coroner Dammasch declared.

Dr. Auspund, questioned by District Attorney Evans, said the woman, whom he did not know, had visited his office several times and induced him to make an examination. It was during this examination that she died, he asserted.

The woman, Dr. Auspund said, had told him that she had attempted to relieve her own condition. Dr. Auspund was released, District Attorney Evans determining that not enough evidence existed to warrant holding him. The investigation into the woman's death is being continued, however. The woman is about 25 years old. The man who dissipates to prove his iron constitution conclusively proves his wooden head.

EVERYBODY NEEDS PURE, RICH BLOOD

Pure blood enables the stomach, liver and other digestive organs to do their work properly. Without it they are sluggish, there is loss of appetite, and sometimes faintness, a deranged state of the intestines, and, in general, all the symptoms of dyspepsia. Pure blood is required by every organ of the body for the proper performance of its functions.

Hood's Sarsaparilla makes pure blood, and this is why it is so successful in the treatment of so many diseases and ailments. It acts directly on the blood, ridding it of impurities and other humors. It is a powerful combination of blood-purifying, nerve-toning, strength-giving substances. Get it today.

A New Disinfectant and Best Yet Found

As a result of experiments conducted at the hygienic laboratory of the United States Public Health Service it is announced that a new disinfectant, possessing qualities superior to ordinary disinfectants, has recently been discovered. The announcement is particularly important at this time, coming as it does in the face of the shortage in coal tar derivative which has resulted from the European conflict.

The new preparation is derived from pine oil, a by-product in the manufacture of turpentine. It is easily prepared by mixing certain proportions of the oil with rosin and sodium hydroxide solution, the finished product being a reddish-brown, rather thick and oily in appearance but free from turbidity. With water it makes a perfectly white emulsion, much resembling milk. It has a pleasing odor, no objectionable taste, and attacks neither fabrics nor metals. It possesses over four times the disinfectant properties of carbolic acid and is altogether nontoxic, so that it may safely be used as a throat spray or mouth wash in solutions of the ordinary strength. The cost of the preparation is remarkably low as it can be manufactured for less than 50 cents a gallon, solely from products which are produced in this country.

Many of the disinfectants now on the market are neither efficient nor economical. It having been demonstrated that a number of the most expensive and widely advertised are extremely weak in disinfecting power, so weak so that their strength is undeterminable by ordinary methods. The sale of compounds of this nature constitutes a second class of proprietary preparations are of guaranteed strength, thus putting a legal responsibility upon the manufacturer, but the cost of these per unit of disinfecting power is frequently excessive. The household is therefore often at a loss to select a disinfectant which is efficient, economical and of constant strength and it is believed that this new compound, which is to be known as "Hygienic Laboratory Pine-Oil Disinfectant," will become one of the most useful preparations of that character.

If it's for sale, a Journal Want Ad will sell it.
