BRALEY WARBLER ABOUT "SOME GAME"

Tells In Rhyme What He Thinks of the Games and Also of the Players

By Berton Braley.
(United Press staff correspondent.)
Philadelphia, Oct. 16.—"Some game" that final battle which closed the series here, for little babes will prattle in many a future year of bits that smashed the fences or soared beyond the same, while rooters lost their senses—some game.
It was a bear, a whooper, replete with every thrill, as Speaker, Lewis and Hooper lambasted that there pill. Some game is no misnomer, it set all hearts aflame, when four men got a

But though Silk's eyes are foggy and blur at everything, and though he needs a doggie to lead him on a string, his awful miss, I take it—though he was much to blame—just helped a lot to make it—some game.
Yet, ah, how very blue is the Philly fan today, for Mr. Duffy Lewis, who lives up in Boston way, connected with a swapper and joined the home run crew along with brother Hooper, whose home runs numbered two. Thus, in the final inning, when runs were four and four, one of these swats went spinning and brought it one run more, and so with mighty clouting the Boston triumph came and went homeward shouting "SOME GAME."
Now comes the consummation, in all its larger scope, the recapitulation of all the series' dope; we must be grave and firm in our diagnosis here, in order to determine the facts as they appear.
And this is our conclusion—the lesson we have drawn, now that the loud confusion, the noise and strain are gone, now that the pall's descended on hit and bunt and run, now that the games are ended, we say, "The best team won."
For Philadelphia yielded because she was outit, out numbered and out fielded; her train of thought was ditched, because she was outwitted, outgeneralled, out pitched. In fact, to put it gently, now that the trouble's past, their team was evidently and thoroughly outclassed.
These were the things that lost on and save for these its plain they're just as good as Boston, which fact may ease the pain, reduce the royal dander and soothe the rooters' wrath who bet on Alexander and counted on Cravath. And then—they can think of the war over sea and of work and of jobs they must presently scurry about, and they'll probably come with the sage to agree—that baseball is nothing important to worry about.

Little Interest Shown In Football Games
New York, Oct. 16.—Football dopsters today saw little chance of upsets in the games to be played by the big eastern colleges this afternoon.
Principal interest centered in the game between Virginia and Harvard, inasmuch as Virginia defeated Yale two weeks ago. Pennsylvania clashes with the Navy at Annapolis and Colgate and the Army will get together at West Point.
The midshipmen got away to a poor start this season and so far have not registered a victory. They will tackle an aggregation which has three wins to its credit and only one defeat.
The Army also made a poor beginning, but turned around and defeated Gettysburg by a score almost twice as big as that which Cornell won with against Gettysburg.
GENE WALCOTT COMES BACK
San Francisco, Oct. 16.—Gene Walcott, (Willie Meehan) today planned future ring activities as the result of his "come back" last night, when he got a decision over Sailor Frank May.

HIS STOCK GOES DOWN
Pendleton, Ore., Oct. 16.—The public stock of Billy Farrell, the Pendleton lightweight, was way below par today as the result of a knockout at the hands of Tommy Clark, of Portland, in the tenth round of a scheduled 20-round bout last night. Farrell was knocked down for the count of nine and when he arose, stepped into a right to the jaw which put him out for good. Farrell led in all but the tenth.
A POST-SEASON SERIES
San Francisco, Oct. 16.—Henry Berry, owner of the Seals, today practically completed details for a post-season series of five games between the Seals and an all-star team composed of major league players. Berry proposes to start the series here October 27, and then go to Los Angeles for a similar number of games.
San Francisco Chronicle: A statistician of New York says that there are 100,000 persons writing verse in America today. It is either a very conservative estimate or they are all sending their contributions to the Chronicle.

The Turkish tobaccos in "Luxury" have never been used by any other manufacturer in a cigarette selling for less than 25 cents.
These tobaccos are unmistakable, convincing—irresistible.
