WHITE RIBBONERS ARE INTRODUCED TO LOJU

H. S. Gile & Co. Turn On the Juice and Floods of Information With It

The national delegates of the W. C. T. U. while stopping an hour in Salem last Saturday evening, were introduced to the joys of loganberry juice of the Pleasant brand, through the courtesy of H. S. Gile & Co. Not only was the juice served to them during the luncheon at the state house, but every member of the White Ribbon train was presented with a small bottle, and with the bottle, an artistic pamphlet with recipes telling of the many good things that can be made from the evaporated berry. Parties distributing the bottles of loganberry juice and the pamphlets accompanied the train as far as Jefferson.

STATE NEWS

Silverton Appeal: Jerome D. Simmons died at his home near Monter, Oregon, Wednesday, October 13, 1915, aged 58 years, after an illness of nine days. The funeral was held in the Masonic hall at Woodburn on Friday at 1 o'clock p. m. Interment in Belle Passi cemetery.

Woodburn Independent: Mrs. Jane J. Holcomb died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. M. C. Davis, on Monday of carcinoma of the stomach, at the advanced age of 72 years. Mrs. Holcomb was born in Virginia and moved to Oregon at an early age and settled near Eugene, where she lived until coming here to make her home with Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Davis. Mrs. Holcomb was the mother of eight children, six of whom survive her. They are: Mrs. A. C. Davis, Woodburn; Mrs. Bertha M. Gibson Hood Biver; Mrs. Nellie M. Franklin, Washington; J. H. Holcomb, California; C. C. Holcomb, Washington; and H. C. Holcomb, Coberg.

Silverton Tribune: The old gallon Louise built just across the Abiqua river on the Mt. Angel road shortly after Silverton became a dry town, is a thing of the past. J. M. Zeis is tearing it down and will use the lumber for a better purpose. The destruction of the old building brings to mind a bit of history dating back to the year when Silverton took on the reform movement and voted out the saloons. A few weeks after the saloons closed the building was erected by one of the ex-boozie vendors, and a little stock of liquors was put in. It was supposed to be a place where consumers of the fiery goods could buy it by the gallon, but it is said, they were not required to pay for it all at one time, or remove the entire amount at the time the purchase was made. An automobile was run frequently from Silverton to the road house and this was equally as well patronized.

Aurora Observer: It is reported that the county court is again considering the building of a new bridge across the Willamette at Salem. It is understood that Marion county and Salem are to put up two-thirds and Polk county one-third of the cost. Under the plan, the bridge will be built at a cost of $1,000,000, exceeding either the 1913 or 1914 taxes by more than 6 per cent. The total amount for which the county court made levies in 1913 was $591,434.61, and in 1914, $536,720.88. Thus the taxing power of the county court for this year is limited to $627,132.68, or the amount levied in 1913, plus six per cent. The county tax budget for 1915 has not been made up yet but it is estimated that it will be about the same as last year. According to this it would give the county about $90,000 for the creation of the bridge provided there were no increased expenses in any other departments of the county.

Gervais Star: The Mt. Angel Tribune, abandoned by Bert C. Jones, its founder, has moved its plant to Silverton where a paper will be published for Silverton.

Aumsville Record: Died, at her residence in Aumsville, October 11, 1915, Mrs. Emma E. Speer, age 61 years, 3 months and 21 days. Emma E. Painter was born at Harrisburg Pa., June 20, 1854. She was married to Marcus H. Speer at Galesburg, Illinois, October 27, 1875. To this union was born eight sons and one daughter. The first 15 years of their married life was spent in Illinois. They came to Oregon in March, 1890 and have since that time made their home at Aumsville. She united with the Christian church about 20 years ago. Besides her husband, M. H. Speer, seven sons survive her, F. W., P. C. and C. L. all of Alameda, California, R. W., of Junction City, M. H. Jr., of Tangent, and A. P. and Brand, of Aumsville.

Forbids Building of Million Dollar Track

San Francisco, Oct. 19.—The fate of the postponed million dollar race track at Tijuana rested today with Carranza. While he had issued orders against construction of the track or any form of gambling his consul, Ramon De Negri, here telegraphed him today regarding the status of the situation, asking for further particulars. De Negri said that if promoters have a concession from his claim, it is not from Carranza, who became provisional president with recognition today. In any event, he said, gambling will not be allowed, even if Carranza should later allow the track to be built. Albert Madero, brother of the former President Madero, is one of the backers of the track, and has with him a number of prominent capitalists. He said he would issue a statement later. Harry Broloski, ex-bookmaker, announced he will go to Washington and that he has already sent a telegram to Secretary of State Lansing, presumably bearing on the Tijuana situation. Broloski is opposed to the plan for establishing a Monte Carlo there and he says that the promoters are arranging for all kinds of games.

A "Flying" Expert Who Could Not Fly

San Francisco, Oct. 18.—Further sensational revolution concerning conditions in the United States aviation service were expected to be made when the court martial of Lieutenant Colonel Lewis E. Goodier, judge advocate of the western department United States army, was resumed today. Goodier is charged with inciting officers to prefer charges against Captain Arthur B. Cowan, head of the San Diego aviation school. He pleaded not guilty. That Cowan has absolutely no knowledge of aviation, that he has drawn "flying pay" since July 1913 and has never made a flight, were some of the allegations of officers testifying for Goodier. It was charged that Cowan is incompetent and that he, together with Colonel Samuel Heber, head of the aviation section at Washington, play favorites, and do not consider merit or ability.

Burned Building To Conceal Burglary

Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 19.—In an effort to cover up the theft of jewelry, paintings and silverware valued at more than $1,000, burglars early today set fire to the general merchandise store of Dolittle and Harris, at Milton, near here, county authorities believe. The fire started in a store room. Mrs. Dolittle, one of the proprietors, spent the night in Tacoma and this morning when she returned to Milton, found the main portion of the store in a mass of wreckage. Jewelry, silverware and considerable money left in her apartments above the store were missing. The loss in merchandise and damage to the store building amounted to about $2,000. If these are the "good old times" of a hundred years hence, what is the matter with our eyes that we can't see them now?

It is truly a great picture. This has been said of so many photoplays that proof is needed to convince the hardened picture fan. Its name is "The Closing Net." First glance over the cast. Howard Estabrook, who made the world laugh in "Officer 966," plays the lead. Playing opposite him is the beautiful woman who won your hearts in "Three Weeks," Madeline Traverso. Cast as the daring chaperone is Bliss Milford, erstwhile Edison shining star. Kathryn Bowen-Decker plays the part of Edith, the sister, whose bravery is a feature of the play. The story takes the life of a boy, born under dubious circumstances, and follows him through his career as a fine arts burglar, under the name of the "Tide Water Man." His work takes him to Paris, where he falls readily into the fast life of the underworld. The working out of the plot brings about the final regeneration of the "Clam," and his love for a girl brings to him complete happiness. On the program today is the second Get Rich Quick Wallingford story, called "Three Kings and a Goat," in which Max Figman and Lolita Robertson make sodas of fun for themselves and everybody else. All this two hour program at Ye Liberty, the "best picture" theatre, today and tomorrow, at the bargain prices of five and ten cents.

Convicts Recaptured

Olympia, Wash., Oct. 19.—Three convicts who escaped from the Douglas county "boon" camp of the state highway department on the Inland Empire highway, have been recaptured the board of control announced today. They are Ed Van Arlen, Thomas Daly and Carl Mikleson. Other convicts at the penitentiary are reported to be in no mood to deal leniently with the honor convicts who broke their word to the governor and the indefinite solitary confinement treatment is being accepted by the returned men as a protection against possible violence. Allies got nearly as much money from the United States as the people pay to see the movies.

James H. Polhemus, V. Parker, C. B. Wright and W. Haddon, United States engineers, arrived here Tuesday morning for the purpose of making a survey of the Unquaga bar as asked by the Port of Unquaga, which is the first step in the direction of building jetties for the improvement of this harbor, says the Port Unquaga Courier. This will be welcome news for those who have been so long endeavoring to see this accomplished. In 1903 a survey was made under Engineer Tower for the same purpose, but it appears that obstacles were thrown in the way of the improvement by parties interested, and the government failed to do anything in the matter of improvement.

Rooseburg Review: C. C. Briggs and Joseph West, who have resided in the Hubbard Creek vicinity of Douglas county for several years, were brought here this afternoon by Sheriff George Quine and Joseph Sykes to face a charge of larceny. The accused men were arrested upon complaint of W. R. Pinson, of Coles Valley, who alleges that they stole several head of his cattle, which they later killed and sold to a local butcher.

Smugglers Nearly Deceived the Officers

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 19.—Customs inspectors were trying today to learn the identity of members of a smuggling ring who were to have removed $70,000 worth of opium discovered aboard the Blue Pannel liner Calchas, now lying in drydock here. The contraband is believed to have been stored in one of the vessels air shafts at Liverpool. Customs Inspector Osborne found the stuff after the liner's engineer had complained of a faulty fire. The draft had been poor since leaving Liverpool, he said, and Osborne, crawling into the tube, found 1,580 lbs of the drug. Since leaving Liverpool the Calchas stopped at Panama, San Francisco, Vancouver and Victoria, and was searched by customs inspectors at each place. Being overpraised, Osborne presumes to "act up" and behave like November.
