POLK COUNTY COURT HAS FINAL WORD IN MATTER OF BRIDGE

Marion County Court Ready to Build—Judge Teal Said To Be Opposed

The report of Assistant State Engineer Holmes condemning the steel bridge across the river at this place has brought the matter again to the attention of the county courts of Polk and Marion counties and now that the responsibility has been shifted to the county courts it is necessary that some action be taken at once. The Marion county court is ready and willing to appropriate its part to construct a new bridge and it remains only for the Polk county court to agree to contribute its share to secure a new bridge. Thus the responsibility is shifted to the Polk county court and it is rumored that the Polk county commissioners are in favor of a new bridge and Judge Teal alone is said to be opposed to the move.

The county courts were warned in 1912 that the bridge was unsafe and the government engineers condemned it in that year and it is not likely that the structure has improved much in the last three years. Now that the physical examination revealed the fact that the steel has rusted out and excessive strain falls upon different parts of the structure which is likely to cause the bridge to collapse at any time, the Marion county court considers that it is time to act.

"It is necessary for the county courts to safeguard the people," said Judge Bushey today, "and there has been ample warning that the bridge is unsafe. If the bridge were closed, there would be a howl and if it is left open and it falls into the river there will be another howl, so about the only thing to do is to build another bridge as soon as possible. Marion county was ready last year to appropriate the money. This county is ready again and the laws have been remedied and it only remains for the two county courts to get together on the proposition."

A delegation will confer with the Polk county court today or tomorrow relative to the new bridge and upon the result of this conference hinges the probability of a new bridge.

That the bridge has been unsafe for several years has been known to most of the residents of both counties who have occasion to use it but in the past the extra tax that will be necessary to build the bridge has been a serious bar to a new structure.

In concluding his report submitted to the county court on the bridge, Mr. Holmes said:

The examination made shows that all the metal work has deteriorated and the metal at the connections has deteriorated to such an extent that the structure cannot be depended upon to safely carry the loads now imposed upon it. This condition is further emphasized by the fact that certain plates connecting the lower laterals and shoes have rusted to such an extent as to almost make the passage of traffic over the structure somewhat venturesome and hazardous.

As a result of this examination it may be stated without hesitation that all attempts to repair or strengthen the structure in order to meet the demands of present day traffic conditions would prove to be a waste of public funds, as the bridge has clearly outlived all practical usefulness.

In our opinion we deem it imperative, in the interest of public safety, to prohibit the passage of vehicles over the structure such as now are making daily use of the bridge.

THE WHOLE BODY NEEDS PURE BLOOD

The bones, the muscles, and all the organs of the body depend for their strength and tone and healthy action on pure blood.

If the blood is very impure, the bones become diseased; the muscles become enfeebled; the step loses its elasticity, and there is inability to perform the usual amount of labor. The skin loses its clearness, and pimples, blotches and other eruptions appear.

Hood's Sarsaparilla makes pure blood. It is positively unequalled in the treatment of scrofula and other humors, catarrh, rheumatism, dyspepsia, loss of appetite, that tired feeling. Be sure to get Hood's and get it today. All druggists.

"S'pose there's no use asking if you have a pair of pants to fit me—never been able to get a pair in town," said a substantial looking citizen, yesterday.

Our tape measure showed just 50 inches to be his waist measure.

"This way, if you please. This pair is $3.50, this pair $4, and these two styles are $5 each," said a courteous clerk.

"Well, well; this is sure a real clothing store," said the stout gentleman. "I'll take the $5 pair."

No matter whether you wear a 36 leg or a 50 waist we have pantaloons to fit you.

But love entering into her life changes her disposition and she is later reclaimed, after a trail of unfortunate victims is strewn behind her. She is a woman who has been terribly wronged and she knows no better than to set out on the road that leads to the downfall of those men who fall into her clutches. Jeanne Lefarge is not a vicious woman at heart and this is well exemplified toward the end of the play.

Judge Bushey May Offer Cut Rates In Divorces

There appears to be one man in Marion county who considers divorce an easy matter and is evidently laboring under the impression that couples can be unhitched as simply as they are hitched by the county judge. A resident of Gates addressed a letter to "Jug" Bushey today in which it was stated that the couple had agreed to migrate from the state of matrimony and asked the judge to forward the "papers" so the matter would be legal.

The letter follows and is self explanatory:

Gates, Ore., Oct. 18.

Mr. Jug Bushey, of Salem, Ore.

Dear Sir:

My wife and I have agreed to disengage and she has left me, agreed to give me a divorce at any time. As it is a long way to Salem and we can't stand such a long ride very well can't you send me the papers to fill out at the justice of peace in Stayton, and save us that long drive and tell me what the cost will be and I will send it to you. Please give me full particulars on return mail and oblige.

Yours truly,

Spreckels Companies Inquire Into State's Expenditure for 1913

W. Clayton, vice president and managing director of the Spreckels companies, of California, is making inquiries into the expenditures of this state for the years 1912 and 1913 and has asked Secretary Olcott for the desired information. Mr. Olcott replied that for the two years period from October 1, 1912, to September 30, 1914, he signed warrants for $7,440,372.90, which amount included $74,916.93 in transfers.

For the years 1915 and 1916 the legislature made appropriations amounting to $6,310,548.67 but the last session of the legislature was not obliged to accommodate the Tumalo irrigation project which cost $450,000 in 1913 and the panama fair which cost $175,000. Deducting these two amounts from the appropriation of 1913 and it would indicate that the "economy" legislature of 115 was about as expensive as the one in 1913.

The explanation of the use of the title "The Vampire," is well shown in the photoplay of that name, which will be seen at the Oregon today and to

CARS ARE MADE FOR HARDEST OF USAGE

Materials Used In Construction of High Class Electric Cars of Finest Grade

An interesting investigation was recently made by a prominent statistician with the point in view of determining the relative grade of materials used in different types of automobiles. In the general investigation it was shown that materials used in all automobiles of today, have improved approximately 50 per cent over the materials used 10 years ago. When this fact is considered, it is easily understood why automobiles in general continue to stand up and do the hard work demanded of them so much better than was the case even five years ago.

In investigating materials used in the construction of electric cars, it was astonishing to find that in even the smallest and apparently most unimportant parts of the car, the very highest grades of materials were used.

A careful investigation was made of metals, bearings, upholstery, and other materials used in the construction of Detroit Electric cars. It was found that the materials used in this popular electric were not excelled by any American or foreign made car, listing even at prices considerably higher than the Detroit Electric car prices.

It was pointed out that with the Detroit Electric, it must be so constructed that it could withstand the severe weather and road conditions throughout the entire year as the car was used as a general utility car by the entire family both winter and summer. Many gasoline cars are stored during the winter months and therefore, are not subject to the severe winter weather conditions whereas with the electric car, it was shown that it was in service practically every day of the year—winter and summer. To meet these conditions, it was explained that the most expensive and best types of material to be secured were absolutely necessary and that they were used unostentatiously and efficiently.

Causes of Baldness and Early Grayness

The hair grows from a sac or follicle. At the bottom of this little sac is the papilla, the productive organ, which takes from the blood the nutrient that makes the hair grow and the pigment that gives the hair color. It is estimated that each hair has a natural life of from two to six years. At the end of its life it falls out or is pulled out with the comb. If the scalp is in perfectly healthy condition, a new hair grows in its place. But if the follicle is obstructed with dandruff and germs, or otherwise impaired, a weakling hair or no hair at all may be the result. Or merely the pigment forming cells may be diseased so that a new hair of normal size will grow, but be gray or white. The first sprinkling of gray indicates that the papilla on which the root of each hair grows is losing its power of transmitting coloring matter from the blood to the pigment cells and thence to the hair. And the next stage of impairment of the papilla is the loss of power to produce a new hair. So you see that the first sprinkling of gray may be the forerunner of partial or total baldness. In all cases of dandruff and in other scalp disorders great numbers of germs are found on the scalp. These germs or microbes get down into the follicle and it seems probable that they infect the hair root, the pigment-carrying cells, and the papilla thus contributing to, if not causing, premature grayness and loss of hair. To prevent or overcome loss of hair and to revive the dormant pigment cells, try the following formula: 6 ounces bay rum, 2 ounces lavender de compound, and 1/2 drachm menthol crystals. You can get these ingredients from any druggist and mix them yourself, or the druggist will mix them for you. Apply to the scalp night and morning and rub in with the finger tips. This formula has been widely used for years throughout Europe and America, and if any thing will give you the desired results you should get them from this superb cleanser and scalp stimulant.

Japanese Girl To Go Home to School

Emiko Furutani, the little three-year-old Japanese girl so often seen playing on the business streets, is going to school, but not in the United States. Emiko is going to Japan to begin her education, and will sail on the 28th of this month from Seattle on the steamer Kanada Maru, accompanied by her father, Tokubei Furutani, proprietor of a restaurant on South Commercial street. For reasons best known to Mr. Furutani, he prefers the Japanese way of bringing up children to that of this country. The little girl will remain in Japan until she completes the high school course in the state of Hiroshima. Children under four years of age are carried free on the big Japanese steamers, and as Emiko will not be four years of age until the latter part of November, her traveling expenses will be light after leaving Seattle. She will be placed in the home of her aunt, and as she speaks but few English words, her remembrance of the American ways and language will soon be forgotten.

That controversy over the Efficiency Board goes on until it grows amusing.

Movement Started To Close Sunday Games

Portland, Or., Oct. 20.—A movement to place before the voters next fall an initiative measure which, if adopted, will do away with baseball and all other classes of commercialized amusement on Sunday, and result in the closing of every place of business that is not required by its nature to remain open on the Sabbath, is under way here today.

TIMBER RECEIPTS LARGER.

The receipts for timber sales on the national forests in Washington and Oregon during the first quarter of the present fiscal year, showed a marked increase. In fact, the receipts for this first quarter are more than half what they were for the entire previous fiscal year. This indicates a very decided increase in cutting operations on the government forests.
