EDISON DAY ENDS WEEK OF TRIBUTE TO BRILLIANT MAN

Inventor Presented Bronze Medal—Firework Piece to Show First Light

San Francisco, Oct. 21.—A week of tribute to Thomas Alva Edison culminated today in "Edison day" at the Panama-Pacific exposition, with the electrical wizard as the central figure for admiring thousands.

Music and entertainment, with just a strain of things serious, marked the day. Festival hall, where the formal ceremonies were held, was packed with people. As President Charles C. Moore of the exposition, presented the wizard of light with a commemorative bronze medal, Edison was visibly touched, but simply acknowledged his appreciation with a bow of his head.

Prior to the medal ceremonies, Edison and his close friend, Henry Ford, were guests of honor at a luncheon given by President Moore and directors of the exposition.

Edison, accompanied by Ford, was followed by hundreds of school children and grown-ups on his tour of the exposition grounds today. High good humor was evidenced by the inventor as he occasionally stopped to exchange a word with groups of eager children.

Tonight Edison and his party will witness a special fireworks program, arranged in his honor. Half a ton of explosives will be used, and a set piece representing a mammoth model of the first electric light, invented by Edison, surmounted by the inscription "1879-1915" will be touched off.

The suggestion last evening at the dinner given at the Marion hotel offered by former Judge Scott, that farmers as well as the home folks be urged to attend the Manufacturers' and Land Products' show at Portland on November 2, met with the unanimous approval of the members of the club present.

Yeoman will have open house Friday evening, Halloween party.

According to George P. Hardy, manager of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, there is a new profession opening for energetic young men, one that will pay more than the average salary. This new profession is that of city manager, as from all parts of the country, towns from 5,000 population, are looking for young men with a knowledge and some experience in civic problems. During the past year while in Toledo, he states that he had ten or twelve chances to place men as managers at salaries varying from $1,800 to $3,600.

O. M. Plummer, president of the Portland school board, who addressed the Commercial club members at the dinner given at the Marion last evening, is a great advocate for the betterment of the public schools, taking the stand that one of the best investments Salem could make, would be to become known as the center of learning in the northwest. With the reputation of having the best schools on the coast, he felt that the future of Salem would be assured. "Get behind your schools, and you won't have to worry," was his suggestion.

Dance Given by Ladies A Success In Every Way

The dance given last evening at the armory by the Ladies' Guild of the Episcopal church, was a great success, not only in the large attendance, but in the financial returns as well.

As every one present was there for a pleasant social evening, there was a general spirit of democracy, in which all were friends and all willing to help others enjoy themselves.

Besides the dancing, and special exhibition given by Prof. and Mrs. Montrose Ringle, professional dancers, the Orpheus Male chorus of 26 voices, under the direction of Dan Langenberg, sang several selections. Music for the evening was furnished by the Peerless orchestra. The Portland committee from the Manufacturers' and Land Products show were present and invited the Salem folks to especially remember Salem day, November 2.

Several booths served the dancers, each booth cared for by ladies of the church. At the candy booth were Mrs. J. A. Wood, Mrs. George Fox, Mrs. J. H. Olinger and Mrs. H. V. McClean. Serving Leju at the punch table were Mrs. H. B. Thielsen, Mrs. Russell Catlin and Mrs. C. H. Dopp. Also assisting at the booths were Mrs. Ada Strong, Miss Ethel Rupert, Miss Doris Churchill, Miss Beatrice Walton, Miss Charlotte Corisan, Miss Helen Wood and Miss Thora Mortensen.

The dance was perhaps the most successful affair of the kind ever given by the Ladies' Guild.

WHITE.—At the home, 2405 Rose avenue, Thursday, October 21, 1915, Mrs. Lydia Augusta White, at the age of 81 years.

Surviving her are four sons and three daughters: Dr. Gibson P. White, John H. White, the Rev. Lorenzo J. White and William White, all of this city. The daughters are, Mrs. F. R. Frazier, Mrs. Fannie Seigenthaler, of Portland, and Mrs. Sophia A. Thurman, of Portland. As yet no funeral arrangements have been made. Mrs. White has been a resident of the city for the past 26 years.

land board yesterday rejected the securities and will require Mr. Moore to furnish other and acceptable securities. Mr. Moore's time limit expired Monday but he telegraphed the board that he had put up the securities for their investigation. His $10,000 which is deposited as security will not be forfeited to the state unless he fails to provide securities within a reasonable time.

J. W. Fennel, an inmate of the Oregon State hospital for the insane, fled today from that institution where he has been but a short time. Fennel was known as a high grade imbecile and was laboring under the impression that he was in the employ of the forestry service and it is likely that he took the opportunity to tie himself back to the tall unit. He was not dangerous and was committed from Columbia county.

The funeral of John Payne, who died yesterday afternoon at the State Training School for Boys will be held tomorrow afternoon at Oregon City. The mother of the young man came from Oregon City this morning, and the body was shipped this afternoon at 2 o'clock accompanied by the youth's mother and the grandmother, who lives in this city. To attend as pall bearers, the following boys who were his companions went to Oregon City with the body: Harry McBride, Alexander Sompi, Roia Summer, Frank Seeley, Colburn Stoops and Lyle Woolley.

A second complaint was filed at the office of the public utilities commission today by Oswald West and Claude McCulloch, in the matter of physical control of the Pacific States and Home Telephone companies in Portland. The plaintiff in today's case is the Apartment and Hotel association, of Portland. When the former complaint was filed asking that all the hotels in Portland be given an interchange of service on both companies the commission ordered that the service should be installed in all hotels equipped with switchboards sufficient to handle the increased service if the hotels desired such service. In today's complaint the plaintiffs ask that this interchange of service be installed in all hotels and apartment houses in Portland that have not switchboards but that may install them.

Indianapolis has 291,000 people and isn't trying to displace any other city; and that's real contentment.

SALEM COMMERCIAL CLUB

By Ella McMunn.

Some of us farmers have forgotten that the Salem Commercial club once gave us 25 cents a hundred for flies that were of no use to them whatever, that they made hitching posts for us, built us a public market, and on several occasions invited us to dinner and waited upon us just as nicely as if we didn't have cow hairs on our coats and manure on our boots. Yet, we have forgotten all that because we are pretty mad just now to think that they sent away for a manager for the club, instead of coming out here to Lake Labish and selecting a leading citizen, if they could not find one in Salem. Of course it is quite probable that if they had selected a home product, he would have had his own axes to grind, sell his own real estate or loganberry juice or whatever else he might have owned, through the influence of the club, while a new man would at least have no such temptations, and it is also quite probable that a new man would have brought some "new thought" with him.

That's it! New thought! We got along a hundred years without any in Salem till the formation of the commercial club; left our children hitching the horses before there were hitching posts, lost half the family by typhoid before they bought flies of us, stood around like lost sheep on holidays until they thought up some sort of a celebration, and paid for it.

Then that new man is not all we are mad about. There is that bread business. They want us to eat Salem bread and some folks want to eat Portland bread. Well, it is a perfect outrage upon our stomachs to eat either one, and any woman with a stove and a stick of wood and a pan of flour ought to be compelled to eat a slice off an excelsior mattress every morning if she will not make her own bread.

What is better in the morning than about nine brown cakes, with butter oozing between them and syrup dripping off the top. And at dinner what beats three hot biscuits with some more butter trickling over the edges? At supper there is hot corn bread surrounded by a nice little puddle of bacon grease. (Can you beat it? Certainly not with baker's bread that tastes like cotton batting flavored with vaseline.)

If you really wish to know how up-to-date the minute the Salem Commercial club is (and therefore competent to decide whether a new man is best), just get in touch with some of the other commercial clubs in the country and draw your own conclusions. I have had communications from at least twelve other clubs during the past few months, for every once in a while I get the notion that I have outgrown Lake Labish, feel like I would like to show them all—Dogsone 'em—that I am some individual, and that Tommyrot, you know, that comes to the surface and needs skimming off. When I get a spell like that I write to a commercial club, tell them what a nice person I am and how much it would be to my advantage to have me dwell within their hailiwick, and I ask them what they have to offer as an inducement for me to remove thence. Frequently they do not answer, but keep my postage stamp I have enclosed. After they do not answer a single question directly in regard to prices of land, industries, farming resources or social advantages. Sometimes the only reply comes from some real estate man who wants to sell me an alligator ranch when I have been inquiring for a modern bungalow, but the worst I think came a short time ago from a club in Idaho. The club is larger than Salem. People who have lived there like it. None of my questions were answered with the slightest ray of intelligence. They referred me to a weather chart that zig-zagged all over a paper like a siemograph in convulsions. It was of no interest to me, for I do not like weather anyway. They sent me a booklet three years old! Besides having been printed three years, it was covered with tobacco spit! Tobacco is all right in its place, which is in a man's mouth or drooling down his chin, but certainly not on a piece of advertising literature that is sent out to represent the town from which it comes. Have you seen the clean, beautiful literature the Salem Commercial club sends out? Have you received one of their personal letters inviting you to dinner? I tell you, I feel like "some individual" when I get a letter from them out of the rural carrier's hands, and for a long time thereafter, Lake Labish and the world locks good to me.

harvested crop in this section. A letter received from Mrs. William Croteau at Albernore, B. C., states that after a disastrous fire at their northern home last week which consumed the sleeping quarters of the employes of the farm, together with the contents. The fire originated from a pot of tar boiling over, which was being prepared to tar the roof. The presence of a hydraulic ram pumping water from the Bulkey river and the work of twenty men saved their steers, rooms adjoining where the season's crop consisting of 1,000 bushels of wheat, 1,000 bushels of barley, 2,000 bushels of oats and four carloads of baled alfalfa were stored. This is the first year that grain has fully matured and been harvested in the dry in that section, which is probably one of the most productive in the world for grain, hay and vegetables. Mrs. Croteau formerly resided here, being a daughter of Mrs. G. S. McMunn. Two weddings were celebrated at Clear Lake last week on the same day and hour, the contracting parties being Miss Herren to Mr. Mizener, and Miss Sargent to Mr. Pickens. All the young people are well known in this section and several pleasant affairs were given in their honor last week. The measles now prevailing at Claxter and Zeizer have not reached this section. At Claxter, Margaret and Eddie Matthes are among the sick.

OUR NIGHT SCHOOL
Will Begin Monday,
Oct. 25th

This affords an opportunity for those who have to work during the day, but have a desire to increase their efficiency, to do so by attendance at our night sessions. We will teach the following branches if a sufficient number enroll for each to pay the cost of maintenance: Book-keeping, Shorthand, Stenotypy, Spelling, Penmanship, Typewriting and Spanish.

Spanish is now attracting unusual attention on account of this country's growing trade with South American countries. A successful teacher of five year's experience will have charge of this subject. The principal will be in his office on Friday and Saturday evenings of this week to talk with any who desire special information.
