Dr. Carl Gregg Doney, president of Willamette university, is booked for several engagements next month. Next Sunday he will preach both morning and evening at the Centenary church in Portland. A paper on "A Minister's Preparation for Efficiency" will be read November 8 before a meeting of the pastors of Portland and on the evening of November 23, he will read a paper before the Men's Six O'Clock club at the First Methodist church. When the Older Boys' conference meets here, Dr. Doney will deliver a lecture on "The Marks of a Man." This lecture has been arranged for the 26th of November.

The Salem District of the Epworth League of the M. E. church will meet in this city three days, beginning next Friday, November 5. This district, of which the Rev. T. B. Ford is superintendent, includes 45 churches and it is expected that several delegates will attend from each church. The opening meeting will be held Friday night at the Jason Lee Memorial church, in the form of a reception. The Rev. J. C. Spence is president of the league.

Although a great part of the Polk county business may be cut off tomorrow, the indications are that the public market and sales day will be largely attended tomorrow, as a general interest has been awakened in the success of this sales day, and the farmers now realize that it is up to them to make it a success or failure. Articles to be offered for auction sale have been listed at the Commercial club. W. S. Low will personally take charge of affairs to see that the sales are carried out strictly in accordance with his promise to the farmers that everything would be on the square.

Herman W. Barr, of the Barr Jewelry company, returned yesterday from a visit of three months which included Buffalo, New York, Washington and Chicago and other cities in the east. On his return he spent a few weeks at the San Diego and San Francisco exhibitions. He says the indications everywhere are that business is on the up-grade. In all parts of the country road building was going on and traffic was heavy on all the railroads. The wave of good business and prosperity started in the east a few months ago and is now almost to the coast, was his general opinion of business conditions.

The Falls City Lumber company has purchased the stock and good will of the Capital Lumber company and the two firms will be consolidated with offices at 349 South Twelfth street. Kelsey, former manager of the Capital Lumber company, will be in charge. The West Salem yards of the Falls City Lumber company will be conducted by W. T. Grier. The offices of the company at Commercial and Chemeketa streets were removed to the office at 349 South Twelfth street a few days ago.

The social service meetings which proved such a happy success last winter at the Unitarian church, will begin with the first Sunday in November. Rev. Tischer is arranging a number of programs which should prove of benefit to the people of this city. Social service and social progress is the need for intelligent and intelligent sympathetic study and consideration. Public forum, such as these meetings are, will fill a need in our life and give full and free opportunity for the discussion of vital and timely subjects. All friends of social service and of social progress are cordially invited to co-operate to make these meetings a success and send any suggestions to Rev. Tischer, who will greatly appreciate all practical co-operation.

"What is Sin?" is the theme for discussion by Rev. Tischer at the Unitarian church Sunday morning. Since sin is recognized to be a moral and spiritual malady the world over afflicting all mankind, the consideration of this vital problem should prove interesting, as it is important. Sin has been, and still is, the basis of every scheme of salvation by sacrifice which have come to us from Semetic sources, hence is one of the fundamental and important factors in religion and in moral philosophy. What sin is, whence and how it came, its value and purpose, these questions will all come in for consideration. All students of religion and of moral philosophy are invited to this series of lecture-sermons.

If anyone in Salem wonders where Charlie Chaplin, the movie comedian, learned his famous "walk," that question was answered this afternoon when "Betsy" a hair grown brown bear shambled down the street at the end of a chain. Betsy's keeper modestly disclaimed that fact that the bear taught Charlie to walk but it is certain that Charlie never taught it to her and they perform exactly alike. Betsy was advertising a show tonight at the Wexford where a special program is to be given by the Rose Theatrical company.

Tischer, who will greatly appreciate all practical co-operation.

"What is Sin?" is the theme for discussion by Rev. Tischer at the Unitarian church Sunday morning. Since sin is recognized to be a moral and spiritual malady the world over afflicting all mankind, the consideration of this vital problem should prove interesting, as it is important. Sin has been, and still is, the basis of every scheme of salvation by sacrifice which have come to us from Semetic sources, hence is one of the fundamental and important factors in religion and in moral philosophy. What sin is, whence and how it came, its value and purpose, these questions will all come in for consideration. All students of religion and of moral philosophy are invited to this series of lecture-sermons.

If anyone in Salem wonders where Charlie Chaplin, the movie comedian, learned his famous "walk," that question was answered this afternoon when "Betsy" a hair grown brown bear shambled down the street at the end of a chain. Betsy's
