"A BOY WITH A BACKBONE"

Rev. Carl H. Elliott addressed his junior congregation Sunday morning on "Daniel, a Boy With a Backbone Who Dug Vigorously and Was Divinely Rewarded." The incident that was used as the basis of the minister's remarks was the refusal of Daniel and his companions to eat of the dainties and wine that the king of Babylon prescribed for his cadets in preparation for service in his state.

Daniel's objection was doubtless a religious one. He had been taught so in his home back in Judea and he as a boy of 14 or so was standing on the principles of his faith. It took courage, genuine backbone to assert himself under those surroundings.

The same kind of grit was shown by the high school senior girl who entered her protest to the class having intoxicants on their senior banquet bill of fare. She won her point and carried her class with her because she had the courage to stand for what she felt was right.

But Daniel was more than merely bravely conscientious. He must have been exceedingly diligent. He had the difficult Chaldean language to learn and the other lines of learning that were then in vogue in Babylon. I dare say it was quite as hard as any geography or algebra or English lessons that boys and girls have to learn now. And I know that Daniel studied very diligently for when he appeared before the king after three years of study, he is said to have been 30 times as competent as the native scholars.

And because he had backbone and dug diligently at the work that was placed before him God blessed him with a chance to use his learning and he became one of the greatest statesmen of his time.

Forty or more years ago a colored boy started off with a few dollars in his pocket to get an education. His money ran out and he worked until he had enough to take him a little farther and part of the way he walked until he finally arrived at the school where he had heard a colored boy might earn his way. But even then he was not sure that he would be admitted. He was given a room to sweep and dust while the teacher was attending to other duties. He swept the room once but it did not satisfy him. He swept it again and still it did not seem clean enough, and so he swept it a third time and dusted it carefully and then summoned the teacher to inspect his work. She looked about and touched her finger to the woodwork but there was no dust there. She was pleased with his work and he became a student in Hampton Institute and dug into his studies so faithfully that he became known as Booker Washington, the most useful negro of our time.

God blesses those who have backbone and pluck.

PUBLIC MARKET TO BE PLACED AT CHEMEKETA AND NO. COMMERCIAL

No More Rewards For Conviction of Bootleggers-- Part of Water Bill Paid

The city council last night decided to allow the public market to be placed on Chemeкета street north of the Barnes store and to pay $1.33 per month for the fire hydrants up to and including October of this year, reduced the auto license from $25 back to $10 and repealed the ordinance allowing a $25 reward for evidence leading to the conviction of bootleggers.

It was stated that property owners on North Commercial and Chemeкета streets favored the placing of the public market at this place but Councilman Cook, of the street committee, asked that the promoters of the public market be required to paint the booths and to construct them according to the approval of the street committee. The old booths, it was stated, were but temporary affairs and the council did not approve of the placing of them on one of the principal street corners at Chemeкета and Commercial. The entire public market will be subject to the control of the street committee though it will be under the immediate charge of the commercial club.

The question of the water bills for the fire hydrants was brought up and as the final disposition of the matter is now in the federal court it was decided to pay a part of the bill while the case is pending. Accordingly $1.82 each will be paid for the hydrants for the 10 months period during which time no bills have been paid for water. The water company wishes to abide by the ruling of the public service commission which sets the price at $2.50 per hydrant and the city adheres to the provision of the franchise of the company in which the maximum charge was fixed at $1.82.

The petition to open Hall street across the Southern Pacific through Melwood was indefinitely postponed. In the matter of the condemnation of the Cronise land on Liberty and A streets it was suggested that the paving of this property be completed while the remainder of the street was paved.

A. N. Banta, who has been appointed watchman on the bridge will be sworn in and given police powers. The ordinance committee introduced a bill for an ordinance relative to the permanent stands for autos for hire on the streets of this city. As read last night the ordinance would require that any auto for hire secure permission to park the auto from the owner or lessee of the building in front of which the car stood and a car should be considered as establishing a permanent stand when it had been parked in one place for three days. The parking space along the side of the street was to be numbered and if secured by the auto owner under the terms of the ordinance should become his permanent parking space. The ordinance was read and referred to the ordinance committee for a report at the next meeting.

The city attorney was instructed to draw up a sidewalk resolution for a moment sidewalk on the south side of Wilson street between Saginaw and Pitt streets. The street commissioner was instructed to change the street signs on all of the streets whose names have been changed by ordinance.

The coming of the new year was forecasted not by the familiar, "Do your New Year's shopping early," but by frequent reference to the 1915 council. The matter of the improvement of Meyers street from Saginaw to Fairmount was referred to the 1916 council with the remonstrance against the paving of North Liberty from A street to Shipping. The problem of the bridge across Mill creek on South Church will also be inherited by the 1916 council.

The regular payroll for the month of November was adopted and the city attorney was instructed to look into the matter of the bad sidewalks near the Fairgrounds road.

House of David May Move To California

St. Joseph, Mich., Nov. 16.—Benjamin "king" of the House of David colony near here, and his flock of more than 100 Israelites may sell their fertile acres in Michigan's fruit belt, close up "Shiloh," "Jerusalem," the "ark" and the inner courts and move to California.

The cult is angered at the recent decision against the "king's" son "Prince" Coy, charged by a former "Shiloh" fanatic with slander.
