SALEM AND COLUMBIA BATTLE TO 0 TO 0 ON MUDDY GRIDIRON

With Badly Crippled Aggregation Locals Play Visitors to Standstill

The line held after the boys became accustomed to the muddy field but the scoring machine that has carried Salem through to victory this season was not at home.

Hanser, of Chemawa refereed and Nagle, of Portland, was umpire. McClelland officiated as head line-man.

The lineup:

Sols, None. Houser, referee; Nagle, umpire; McClelland, head linesman.

The first half was Columbia's although at one time Salem carried the ball down to the Columbia 20 yard line. In the second half however, the locals gingered up and outplayed Columbia on the defensive end but the loss of Grovesnor showed whenever Salem secured the ball. In the first quarter two long end runs and a complete forward pass Columbia advanced the ball to Salem's 15 yard line but the quarter ended before they had a chance to score. They lost the advantage on a fumble in the second half when the ball seceded across the field. Columbia at one time ran the ball down to Salem's five yard line on a forward pass to Murphy and then lost it on a fumble. Things looked dark for Salem then when Proctor's punt failed to carry more than 15 yards but Columbia tried a forward pass which was intercepted by Haggelorn and the ball was held in mid field in Columbia's possession after an exchange of punts. Columbia had a pair of halfbacks in the Jacobberger brothers that several times shook off tacklers and went around the end for long gains but costly fumbles and rapid offensive work on Salem's part kept the visitors away from the goal.

The second half was a different tale and Salem started off with a vim and outgamed the visitors. At one time they worked the ball down to within 20 yards of the goal but did not try for a place kick and lost their one chance to score except on a fluke as neither team could advance through the line for more than two or three yards and end runs were uncertain though most of the yardage was made on a flank movement.

The mud oozed up through the sawdust that covered the field earlier in the season and the sidelines were under water in places. When a man was tackled he often skidded for five yards carrying the tackler with him. Salem missed up several passes on account of the slippery ball but the boys were in the game every minute. Haggelorn and C. Radcliffe played a star defensive game and Captain Proctor showed up in every department of the battle.

Multnomah No Match For University of Oregon

Portland, Or., Nov. 25.—After a long reign, the Multnomah Amateur Athletic club football team bowed to a decisive 15-2 defeat by the University of Oregon yesterday on Winged "M" field. It was Oregon's first victory over the club in this annual. Thanksgiving day embroglio since 1909, and Bezieck's team made up for its job-like patience by doing the trick up brown.

From the spectators' standpoint the game was interesting for not until the fourth quarter was the engagement decided. In the meantime, the program on the muddy sawdust-covered gridiron ran through the entire gamut, from the sublime to the ridiculous.

Approximately 3000 fans and fanettes were in the grandstand when the fun began.

Huntington Is Big Noise.

From the start the university boys and the much beefier veterans on the defensive, with this 180-pound half-back, Huntington for Oregon. Yet, the first half ended 0-0, and for a time in the second half it looked as if the club would win through an unusual and unexpected mental miscue by Huntington.

On the kickoff at the start of the third quarter, the ball went over the goal line. Huntington walked out with it to the one-yard line and then deliberately retraced his steps and touched it down behind the goal. Of course, there was nothing for the officials to do but call it a safety, and this gave Multnomah club two points.

Clubman Make Dash.

With this 2-0 score in its favor Multnomah immediately perked up and began its first real offensive campaign of the game.

It was of no avail, however, and the university eleven showed their superiority in every department of the game. In the last half they tore the clubmen to pieces and scored almost at will.

EASTERN COLLEGES LOSE THEIR PRESTIGE

Yale and Harvard Outclassed By West and Pacific Coast

(United Press correspondent.)

New York, Nov. 25.—The football season of 1915, which was officially entered this week, will go down in gridiron history as the most weird ever foisted on a gasping public. Small colleges, from time immemorial the lawful coast of the Big Ones in the collegiate world, turned with a vengeance that makes the well known worm look like the Rock of Gibraltar.

With the exception of Cornell and Pittsburg, by now acknowledged peers of the Eastern division, not an Eastern team went through the season with a clean record. Starting with the Yale defeat by Virginia on October 2, the season was one long-drawn out and of unexpected upsets.

W. and J. followed the Southerners and took a slap at the Blue. Then came Colgate with the same tale, and lastly little Brown, which had been licked by Syracuse and tied by Trinity, took a parting kick at the bewildered Bulldog.

Cornell loped into Cambridge and went out with the seal of Percy Houghton—the first time a Harvard team had been defeated in three years. Princeton, with the best Tiger eleven of a decade, was defeated four times by the Yale aggregation.

The Army and Navy passed into the second division of football institutions by being licked by numerous small colleges. Lafayette came along and whipped Pennsylvania.

Out in the west, old Fielding H. Yost has completed the most disastrous year of his long connection with the Wolverine institution. Michigan's Aggies, Syracuse, Cornell—all took a whack at the heretofore feared Yost machine.

In view of these events, football fanatics from coast to coast are waiting for the annual pun—an all-American eleven—with more than usual curiosity. The Michigan Aggies defeated Michigan. The Aggies were in turn licked by the Oregon Aggies, and they in their turn were whipped by Washington States and the University of Oregon.

Just how the experts, and particularly Walter Yale Camp, are going to select an eleven which represents America, is pretty hard to see. One man, or a dozen men, could not in a season view all the college teams in these United States. Washington State, the Oregon university and the Michigan Aggies certainly are to be considered.

The year has been the most weird in history. It's possible to pick an all-eastern team, an all-conference team in the middle west, and an all-western team for the coast contenders, but an all-American team is not only impossible but ludicrous. And this year wouldn't be a bad one to witness the burial of this annual joke.

Eugene's backs had little difficulty in perforating the Portland line for long gains. Wigmore and Foster starred for Eugene, with frequent long gains through the line.

Portland's nearest chance for a score occurred late in the game, when Collins, with the ball on a fumble, ran

The game was witnessed by a large crowd, most of whom had come from the remotest corners of the state on a football pilgrimage.
