OLD AGE FINDS COMFORT

Beyond comparison in a correctly fitted pair of glasses.

In old age the chief source of enjoyment is the ability to read easily and comfortably. This is a privilege that should be enjoyed by everyone and good glasses make it possible.

If you are not now wearing glasses or the ones you have are not satisfactory it will pay you to come and see me at once. I guarantee you perfect satisfaction in every respect, if glasses will help you I will tell you at once.

I do not use drops or drugs in making examinations, as they are dangerous.

Tracy Strong, of Seattle, who delivered an address before the Older Boys' conference on "The Most Influential Person in the World," is regarded by the Salem workers as one of the most successful workers in the northwest, among young men. He is giving all his time to work with boys and at present is secretary of boys' work in Seattle.

Given away, $7.50 to $20.00 on every suit at Mosher's, the tailor, and he does not take it out of the workman's pocket or material, as all his men are union tailors and are paid by the piece. Therefore there is no slighting or skimping because of reduction in price. 344 State.

And now comes the bedless house, not in Salem, but in Los Angeles where an apartment house is under construction, without a bed. The occupants will not sleep on clothes hooks in the closet, however. The beds will fold directly out from the wall onto a sleeping porch. With such an arrangement, it might be advised for wives to look carefully into the folding bed before reporting a lost husband to the police.

Prizes awarded at the Horticultural Palace of the Panama-Pacific exposition have just been announced. A gold medal, which is a first prize, was awarded to A. D. Teters on his exhibit of Champion prunes, and E. D. Teters was given honorable mention on his Willamette prune exhibit. A second prize, or silver medal, was awarded D. M. Field on his display of Italian prunes. S. N. Kimball was given a bronze medal for his exhibit of Ring cherries.

With the advance in price from 35 cents to $10 a pound for fancy dye stuffs within the last year, manufacturers of dress goods are finding themselves up against a hard proposition, and dry goods merchants in the city are receiving letters announcing that in certain lines of fancy dress goods, prices have advanced radically within the last few months. A taffeta dress goods that was worth wholesale 90 cents a yard, is now quoted at $1.20 and advances were announced in almost all dress goods, on account of the scarcity of dye. All of which seems to indicate, that along with gasoline, dry goods are going up.

Do not mail your best friend a fancy tinsel postal card toward Christmas and expect said friend to acknowledge receipt, as there is not one chance in a thousand of the card being delivered. The postoffice department has repeatedly ruled that tinsel cards are unmailable. When such cards reach the mailing clerk, they are stamped "not mailable," and then end their travels. If any one wants to mail a tinsel card, enclose it in an envelope, place thereon a two cent stamp, and it will be started on its way. But the tinsel card by itself is a poor traveler as it never gets any further than the local postoffice.

Mayor Harley O. White has received an invitation to be present at a banquet to be given at the Chamber of Commerce, Portland, the evening of December 9, tendered by the Chamber of Commerce to those attending the fifth annual Pacific International Live Stock exposition. This exposition will

Election Day Here and Congress Meets

One week from today, Monday, December 6, several things will happen. On that day congress will convene in Washington and a city election will be held in Salem. An alderman for the fifth ward will be elected, the candidates being C. M. Roberts and Levi McCracken. The seventh ward will elect an alderman, choosing between John White and N. D. Elliott.

An amendment to the city charter will also come up before the legal voters of Salem. This amendment provides for means to facilitate the sale of property on which there is delinquent assessments. The present charter is faulty in that it does not give a satisfactory title to land sold for assessments and it often happens that the city is obliged to take over the property, or let the assessment remain unpaid.

The amendment proposed provides for the sale and foreclosure on delinquent assessments in the same manner now provided by the state law for sale and foreclosure of delinquent taxes.

meet at the Union Stock yards in North Portland, December 6 to 11, when livestock from the entire west will be shown. At the banquet, it is expected that the governors of Oregon, Washington, California and Idaho will be present and take part in the expressions of good will following the banquet. The exposition to be held at the Union stock yards is purely an educational affair, and there is no admission charged.

Dr. O. L. Scott, who has been ill for several days, is reported to be much improved although he will not be able to resume his practice for several days.

The first dance of the season at the Elk lodge will be given Tuesday evening for the members of the lodge and their ladies. These dances will be held once a month during the winter. The Elk orchestra will furnish the music.

Pennoyer English, Alfred Oliver and Homer Egan returned yesterday to the Oregon Agricultural college, after spending the Thanksgiving holidays with relatives.

Dr. Will S. Skiff, who has been in a Portland hospital for several weeks, is reported today to be slowly improving, with the chances favorable to recovery.

The concert tonight at the armory is billed to begin at 8:30 o'clock. Madam Biheladfer and her company, who open the season, are regarded as one of the best attractions of the course.

Scott and Scott, the bicycle firm at 252 State street, have sold their furniture part of the business and hereafter the business will be run exclusively for bicycles and bicycle repairs.

J. N. Cosmalman, of Cheney, Wash., has moved to the city with his family and will live at 970 Union street. Until two years ago, when he went to Cheney, he had been a resident of Salem.

The German-American Society of Salem, Ore., held its regular annual meeting yesterday and elected officers for the coming year as follows: August Kehlberger, president; Fred Hartman, vice-president; H. Schueney, secretary; John Stollman, treasurer. Delegates elected to the States Verband are Mr. Kehlberger and Mr. Humburg. The meeting was largely attended. Thirty new members were admitted to the society, making a total membership of 85.

The citizens of Wasco county have agreed to vote road bonds amounting to $340,000 but cannot agree upon the division of the bonds according to Chief Deputy State Engineer Cantine who returned to this city yesterday after attending a meeting at The Dalles Saturday night. The residents of the southern part of the county want to expend $200,000 in the vicinity and the residents along Columbia highway want $200,000 for the completion of Columbia highway.

Pulling a loaded shot gun from a buggy, with the muzzle pointing directly towards him, was rather disastrous this morning to John Wirt, who lives with his father four miles east of the city. The gun was discharged, and Mr. Wirt is now in the Salem hospital with an ugly wound in his fore arm. He was at once taken to the office of Dr. E. H. and W. Williams, where the wound was dressed. The shots entered the fore arm midway between the wrist and elbow, and while they touched the bone, no arteries were severed. Mr. Wirt, who is 25 years of age, will be obliged to stay at the hospital for several days.

Here is a chance to practice practical Christianity. About 50 men, all of families and good citizens of Salem, want work, and have applied for work to the Salem Social Service Center. These men will cut wood or do farm work, or any kind of work. It has been suggested by several interested in the work of the Social Circle, that those who have wood to cut should telephone Ivan G. McDaniels, secretary of the Circle, at the Commercial club. Men will be supplied at once for any jobs and at the same time, parties having this work done will do their share towards helping the families of the many unemployed men in the city. With many men, it is urgent that some work should be provided, in order that their families should have the necessities of life.

Mr. Benjamin Williams and Mr. R. A. Harris were the speakers at the Social Service meeting at the Unitarian church last evening. Mr. Williams spoke on "Modern Conception of Social Justice." It was a fine address dealing with vital interests in an ever enlarging field of social responsibility. Mr. Harris read a carefully prepared paper upon, "Justice in the Division of Cost and Profit." That Mr. Harris is a patient and careful student of social and political economy was thoroughly demonstrated by the care and scope of the paper. These social service meetings are of real value to our people, especially those who believe in public education through public discussion. Next Sunday Mr. Walter Denton will speak upon the subject, "What Society Owes to the Underworld."

GETTING READY FOR THE NEXT SESSION

Caucuses Over Filling Committees Are Harmonious—Only Nine Absentees

Washington, Nov. 29.—Machinery for the sixty-fourth congress got slowly into motion today. Harmony was the watchword in both the democratic senatorial caucus and the house ways and means committees session to pick committee selections.

Neither gathering raised the vital question of party policy. The senators adjourned to Wednesday when the rules committee will place a cloture plan to choke off unlimited debate, and Senator Kern will announce the steering committee.

Kern was unanimously chosen caucus chairman, and Senator Pittman, of Nevada, was named secretary succeeding Senator Sausbury of Delaware. Only nine out of the 56 democrats were absent.

The house committee started the preliminary work of drafting committees, and reached a satisfactory division of places with the republicans.

Selection of president pro tem for the senate went over to Wednesday. Opposition to Senator Clarke, of Arkansas is lessening, hence no difficulty is expected in choosing him.

Senate May Have Cloture.

Washington, Nov. 29.—Wheels of the congressional machinery turned up today. Senate democrats in caucus, began consideration of organization for the winter. Cloture and revision of the rules promised some fireworks. The house ways and means committee started the job of chalking up committee recommendations, and all because congress meets next Monday.

The senate caucus heard from Senator Owens' committee which has been considering revision of the rules. Their report, it was understood, was a recommendation for a modified cloture. Some senators, however, seemed to resent encroachment on the time honored right to talk without hindrance. Despite this there appeared to be a definite prospect that some means would be adopted whereby an unending filibuster cannot prevail as in the past.

Re-organization of the senate leadership promised to return Senator Kern as majority leader, Senator Lewis as party whip and Senator Clarke of Arkansas as president pro tem.

Committee assignments are likely to be much as in the past.

Two republican vacancies exist on the important foreign relations committee by virtue of the retirement of Senators Burton and Root. While there are no democratic vacancies, the committee must assign Senator Phelan of California, Senator Underwood of Alabama, and four others to berth as new members.

On the house side, there are many committee vacancies. Likewise, they are many new republican members to be taken care of. The democrats will caucus Saturday night. Then the republicans will have an opportunity to present their lists of committee recommendations.

Chairmanships on the foreign relations, appropriations, military, banking, judiciary, merchant marine committees will remain unchanged.

When the house budget committee gathered this forenoon there seemed little prospect of reaching an agreement on a recommendation for a special budget system.

Dr. Stone's drug store.

Yayne Feike and Harold W. Williams, delegates to the Older Boys' conference, from the First Christian church, Portland, returned to their homes this morning. While here, they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Gile.

According to an expert automobile dealer, it will cost the owner of an automobile four cents an hour more to ride than last summer, providing he drives at the rate of 20 miles an hour and uses about a gallon of gasoline. The price last summer was 12 1/2 cents a gallon and now every gallon pumped into the tank costs 16 1/2 cents.

The championship for high schools will practically be decided next Saturday, when the Salem High school foot ball team goes up against the Portland Washington high school boys, in Portland. The Portland Washington High school team defeated Columbia University several weeks ago, while the best Salem could do last Saturday was to play a tie game. Whatever wins next Saturday will be acknowledged to be the best team from high schools in this part of the state.

Mrs. Fred D. Weber of Portland, is in the city today, coming especially to hear her friend, Madam Biheladfer, who appears at the armory this evening. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Velle, also of Portland are here especially to attend the concert. Mrs. Weber is a member of the Laurelhurst Club, a musical organization, and she hopes later to arrange for the appearance of Madam Biheladfer in Portland, under the auspices of the Laurelhurst club.

KNOX'S SHOP GIRL BRIDE DISMANTLES PHILADELPHIA HOME

Mrs. Philander C. Knox, Jr.

Indications that Philander C. Knox, Sr., former secretary of state, has never completely forgiven Philander C. Knox, Jr., for his marriage to a Providence, R. I., shop girl is seen in the dismantling of the home of Mrs. Knox, Jr., in Philadelphia. It is understood that the home was dismantled and the furnishings sold to meet the demands of creditors. The former secretary of state is said to have denied his son financial aid.

Store and Home

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING IS the direct link between store and home—People look to the advertisements for news that will guide them to satisfactory buying.

THEY PATRONIZE THE STORES that advertise and they buy advertised goods—There is no other medium that forms such an active link between store and home as the daily newspaper.

NO ADVERTISING BRINGS SUCH profitable results as the evening newspaper which comes to your home and is read by every member of the family after the day's work is over.
