LAMAR TOOZE GOES ON FORD PEACE TRIP TO WARRING EUROPE

As President of U. of O. Student Body Is One of 15 College Delegates

Lamar Tooze, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tooze, of this city, has accepted an invitation to become a member of the Ford peace party which will sail from New York December 4 for the European peace capital at The Hague. Tooze is president of the associated student body of the University of Oregon and was appointed by President Campbell upon the invitation of Louis J. Lochner, Ford's secretary. There are to be 15 colleges represented on the proposed peace mission and the University of Oregon was asked to send a representative with the result that Tooze was chosen.

Mr. Tooze left Eugene last night for New York and will reach that city in time to sail on the Oskar II if the boat sails on the afternoon of December 4 as is the present intention. In the event that Mr. Tooze does not reach New York in time to catch the first boat he will sail later on the Frederick. The peace delegates will go first to Stockholm, then to Copenhagen and later to The Hague where the peace conference will be held. The trip will require about six weeks.

Besides being president of the student body, Mr. Tooze is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, National Journalism fraternity, Alpha Kappa - chi, National commerce fraternity, Beta Theta Pi and Friars, honorary senior society. In his freshman year he was a member of the underclass debating team that won the cup. In his sophomore year he was president of his class.

Lamar was born in Woodburn, but has spent most of his life at Falls City, in Polk county, graduating from the grammar school and high school of that place. He is a hard-working and industrious student, having worked most of his own way through the university by correspondence for newspapers.

He has represented The Capital Journal as its Newport correspondent for several summers.

A SMOOTH, WHITE SKIN
THAT DEFIES WEATHER

During the coming months of biting winds and intense cold, you who would keep your skin smooth, white and velvety, should turn your attention to mercerized wax. Nothing else will so effectively remove a chapped, roughened or discolored surface. By gradually absorbing the weather-beaten cuticle, the complexion is kept in perfect condition, and even the beauty of expression appears more pronounced. If your skin be blotchy, pimply, freckled, coarse, sallow or over-red, why not shed it? One ounce of ordinary mercerized wax, to be had at any druggist's, will completely transform the most unsightly complexion in less than a fortnight. Use the wax nightly, like cold cream, washing it off mornings.

If weather, age or poor health, has marred your face with wrinkles, here's good news... You can quickly remove every line by using a harmless, refreshing face lotion prepared by dissolving 1 oz. powdered saxolite in 1-2 pint witch hazel. The firmer, smoother skin, the more youthful appearance, even after one application, will astonish you.

HILLMAN AND WIFE ARE BURIED AT AMITY

Divorced Wife of Suicide Arrives From Colorado--
Motive of Tragedy

Dallas, Ore., Nov. 30.—The funeral of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hillman, victims of the tragedy near Bethel on Thanksgiving day, took place at Amity yesterday with interment in the cemetery at Amity.

A new light on the story of Frank Hillman's life has developed in the arrival at Amity of Mrs. Marion Hillman, divorced wife of Hillman with his three children, Frances, aged 13; Don, aged 8, and Blanche, aged 4.

Mrs. Marion Hillman came from Greeley, Colo., with her children to attend the funeral services of her former husband.

In December, 1911, Marion Hillman obtained a decree of divorce from Frank Hillman in Chicago and was awarded the care and custody of the three minor children. Almost immediately following the entry of the divorce decree and in the same month Frank Hillman was married to the woman whom he shot Thanksgiving day.

His second wife was the divorced wife of Charles Linke, now of Hutchinson, Kas. She was the mother of Mildred Linke and Neva Linke, the two children who have been living with the Hillmans on their farm, and who were present when the crime occurred. When divorced from her husband she was given the care of these two girls, and upon her marriage to Hillman they were taken into the Hillman family. These two girls are now at the home of Ralph Marvin, a merchant of Amity. Their future is problematical. Their father has not been notified of the tragic death of their mother, and it is not known whether he will ask for their custody or not.

Marion Hillman, Frank Hillman's first wife, has never remarried. She will remain in Amity until steps are taken to administer the estate of the father of her children. It is not believed that Hillman left a will, consequently Hillman's children by his first wife will fall heir to his estate, estimated at $25,000.

Mrs. Hillman says that Mildred and Neva, stepdaughters of Hillman, will be looked after in the administration of their stepfather's estate, regardless of whether or not he left a will.

To a fellow-passenger from Denver, Mrs. Hillman No. 1 told the story of the domestic relations of Hillman which led to the tragedy. Three years ago, according to Mrs. Hillman, they were divorced in Chicago. They had three children, two girls and a boy. A few months later, Hillman remarried and moved west.

A few weeks ago his divorced wife, so her story goes, wrote him, asking him to take charge of his boy, feeling unable to care properly for the children.

"Not only," she says Hillman replied, "will I take him, but I shall make him my heir."

Recently, the first Mrs. Hillman her husband wrote her that he was tired of wife No. 2 and wished to return to No. 1.

TRAIL 70 MILES LONG CARPETED WITH DEAD

Starving Refugees Struggle Through Snow Waist Deep Seeking Safety

By William G. Shepherd.
Salonika, Nov. 30.—(Delayed)—Fearing to be cut off from their retreat to Monastir by fall of that city, thousands of starving refugees are believed to have changed their weary trail and headed toward Durazzo, the Albanian seaport.

The mountains to that point, however, are waist deep in snow, and almost impassable. For that reason, the fate of thousands of women and children, irregular bands of Serbian soldiers and Austrian prisoners may not be known for weeks to come.

The Bulgarian advance guard is between Salonika and the end of the Albanian trail, so it is unlikely that further news of the horrors of the trail will be brought here.

A courier sent by the American consul before Nish fell, arrived here today and told of the sufferings of a pitiful cavalcade attempting to reach safety.

The trail he pictured as a road 70 miles long, carpeted with dead and dying. Along it, 2,000 government employes and influential residents of cities invaded by the Bulgars are staggering along with many of the poorer residents. Their shoes have been worn to shreds, and much of the way the trail is blood-flecked.

At last reports the Bulgarians were drawing closer to Monastir. Serbians tried to block their path by setting off dynamite at the Czerna river bridge 12 miles from Monastir, but the charge was of such poor quality that the structure was only slightly damaged. Meaningless, Anglo-French transports are arriving here steadily and pouring out their fresh lives for the assistance of suffering Serbia.

The weather is so bitterly cold that many of the new comers are afflicted with frost bites, but all of them are uncomplaining and eager for the dash into Serbia.

Crowley supplied money for a destructive campaign against munitions shipments at Seattle and Tacoma.

Walter Brown, alias L. J. Smith is slated as the chief witness against Crowley when the latter's case comes up for hearing Friday. Just where Smith is, remained a mystery today, though it was hinted he is bound west from Detroit.

United States District Attorney Preston crawled into his shell completely today and refused to cast further light on the case. Walter Brown, alias L. J. Smith, depended on as a strong witness against Crowley is known to be under arrest, but when he will get here no officials would say.

Crowley's attorney issued a statement today declaring he is satisfied of Crowley's innocence and charging that the prosecution is apparently an attempt on the part of some of the officials and agents of this government to involve the representatives of the German government in the destruction of the barge, loaded with munitions at Seattle last May.

Why Acid Stomachs Are Dangerous

Excess acid in the stomach is dangerous and it frequently contributes to the seriousness of ulcers when present. The acid from its corrosive nature has a natural tendency to destroy the mucous lining of the stomach itself. No one intentionally swallows hydrochloric acid, but it is often present in large quantities and causes food fermentation in the stomach which so frequently follows the eating of the dainties and most tasty foods or the indulgence in any form of alcoholic stimulants, including beer, wine liquors, etc. This fermentation causes pain, uneasiness and discomfort because of the acid, which burns like a red-hot iron, and the formation of gas which distends the stomach, causing shortness of breath and palpitation of the heart. The trouble being entirely due to the unnatural condition of the stomach contents, and not in any way to the fault of the stomach itself, physicians have adopted with marvelous success the plan of neutralizing the acid and stopping the fermentation by means of simple antacids taken after eating. For this purpose there is nothing better than plain bisulphated magnesia which you can get from any druggist. Take a teaspoonful in a little water immediately after eating or whenever discomfort is felt. The immediate relief following the use of bisulphated magnesia is striking proof of the contentment of medical men that failure to digest food properly is almost invariably due to the acid condition of the food contents, and in no way the fault of the stomach or vital organs.
