Hat old Cure-all, the tariff

The three congressmen from this state, Sinnott, Haw ley and McArthur, all find fault with the suggestions made by the president in his message as to the manner of raising revenues; all insisting that the only proper way to get money for the general government is through the tariff. Congressman Sinnott goes oven further and insists on the replacing of the tariff on wool, thus making, as he expresses it, "the foreigner pay for our defense."
It is passing strange how any intelligent man, and such Mr . Sinnott certainly is, can make such an assertion, for he certainly knows that the tariff is not paid by the foreigner, but by the American consumer. The foreigner does not even as a general thing import the goods on which the tariff is paid. This is done by the American which the tariff is paid. This is done by the American wholesater, who pays the tariff when the goods are wholesater, who pays the tariff when the goods are landed, but he does not forget to pass the cost on to the retailer and the latter passes it on to the consumer himself and insults the intelligence of his constituents in making the statement.

It is evident also that he does not keep posted on the Wool question or on the position taken by the wool grow ers, who at a recent convention held in Pendleton proer, and admitted just what the democratic and some republican papers have for years insisted on that it was not pubican papers have for years insisted on that it was not but rags.
was asserted by them that there was only wool enough raised in this country to make 27 per cent of the goods sold in ## stead, shoday

cided to ask such legislation as would compel the manu facturers and dealers in woolen goods and their substi tutes to label their products so that they would be sold fo what they were, whether wool or shoddy. When this is done the price of woolen goods will be higher than it ha been and the price of shoddy when it is known and sold as such will fall.. It is only by traveling under the name of wool that the eastern manufacturer has been able to hold the consumer up for the price of wool when he wa selling him the cast off rags of the pauper laborers of Europe made over for American consumption. yhousands of tons of these rags are imported every easter are good enough for the American who is paying tariff
As a matter of fact it matters not how the money raised to carry on the government, whether by tariff o direct taxation, the consumer pays the bill.
And as for a high tariff as a revenue producer, as long as the war continues the idea is absurd, since our imports have been practically cut off. There could be no material revenue from this source since practically no foreign goods are coming in. Of course Congressmen Hawley and Sinnott know this to be true and even McArthur rught to grasp the idea in at least a hazy kind of a way The war is acting now like a tariff wall against foreign commerce, so high that it is almost prohibitive. If we pense it must come from some other source than duties on imported goods-because there are no imports to speak of.

The department of justice down in San Francisco is getting ready to begin, to prepare, to start, to investigate the charges against Crowley and others as to their condestroy, burn, wreck and annihilate something or other, somewhere, some time, some how. The prosecuting attor somewnere, some time, some how. The prosecuting attor wires hot about it for weeks while they are rolling the their sleeves and doing the getting ready stunt. A weary public hopes they will soon shoot or give up the gun.

Now comes Sir Francis Webster, of Scotland, who has Federal Authorities At San been engaged in manufacturing linen for years as did his Francisco Start To Solder father and grandfather before him, and pronounces the regon-grown flax the finest ever. Of course we Ore-Oregon-grown flax the finest ever. Of course we Oreonians knew this all the time, but it is highly gratifying to have so distinguished an authority indorse our judg.
Bryan apparently has his eyes on the presidential nomination again. The wireless tells us that he comthe suggested tax on gasoline and the horse-power of automobiles. If he can get a stand-in with all the autoists he will have a walk over at the election.
The Cuban commission made a present to Uncle Samuel of their building at the exposition, part of which was on the Presidio, but the old gentleman thought he had foreign troubles enough on his hands and declined the gift which cost the Cuban government $$ 75,000$.
Another evidence that prosperity is waking up and getting busy is the telephone company rebuilding its lines and planting carloads of new poles. This will help the umber industry some, and other things a bit more.
The state buildings sold at the exposition brought at the rate of $$ 1.50$ for each $$ 100$ of their cost. They cost $$ 864,000$ and sold for $$ 12,445$, a loss on the lot of $$ 851,555$.

PEACE ADVOCATES
The statesman who's demanding peace-a lasting peace that will not cease, until we're ages older-seems always in defiant mood; he struts around the neighborhood, a chip upon his shoulder. His every hood, a chip upon his shoulder. His every action seems to say, "T'm bound that peace shall come our way; if any man opposes, if any men would block my schemes, or sidetrack my pacific dreams, I'll surely pull their noses. Why breed the blood lust in our sons? Why purchase endless ships and guns, and make our taxes stiffer? Peace is the only righteous plan, and I can larrup any man who has the nerve to differ. The Jingoes have a gory creed, for which they argue, threaten, plead, but every sane man fouts it; our bulwark and our shield is Peace, and I can is the balm for every sore, Peace is the welcome at the door, the greeting and the blessing; if any man says 'No' to that, I'll knock his jawbone through his hat, and leave
