"Nyeena Klosha Illahee" An Ideal Christmas Gif

If you are going to send little souvenirs to your friends in the east, and of course you are, you will find that little book of poems by J. H. Cradlebangh just the thing. It has some pretty word pictures of Oregon and the pioneers, and other poems, that will make the renders glad that Christmas time came and caused them to get your little present. Get it, read it, enjoy it, then send it along to make some friend smile and be happy with you. It is on sale at Patton's, cloth $1.00, paper 50c. It is benutifully illustrated with photographic views of Oregon scenery. Shop early in this case.

LITTLE TACKS DID IT.

Portland, Or4 Dec. 16.—Street cars on Third street did a flourishing business yesterday because some person who had little sympathy for jitney cars industriously strewed tacks for a block over that thoroughfare. Hardly a jitney escaped the field of sharp points.

Dozens of other automobiles suffered.

Daniel J. Fry, the popular draggist, has been in the drug business long enough to have his own opinion of the best way of selling medicines. He says the plan adopted by Miona, the great dyspepsia remedy, is the fairest he has ever heard of. He doesn't believe that a medicine ought to be paid for unless it does the user some good. And Miona is seld under a positive guarantee.

The stock market continues more or less unsettled by derangements growing out of the war. Home conditions remain exceedingly satisfactory and trade revival continues mehecked. Western business is in excellent condition because of a good harvest and cheap money, while in most sections business is back to normal, being in some instances even better than normal. The cases of unusual activity are confined chiefly to the iron and steel regions as well as to cities where the making of munitions has become of unusual importance. The fevershness making of munitions has become of unusual importance. The feverishness arising from these causes is sporty and not general. Trade as a whole in voldine is not largely in excess of last year. In values, however, the increase is very unusual owing to rising prices and speculation which magnify or distort our so-called prosperity. Had road traffic is heavy owing to the rush of grain and munitions, also to the larger shipments of westbound fherehandise. Higher freight rates, ample traffic and reduced expenses combine to make the present season one of exceptional profit to railroads. How permanent these factors will be remain to be seen; and if our great transporta-
