To Manage Kansas City Federals. Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 21.—George Stovall, manager of the Kansas City Federals, will manage the Cleveland Americans in 1916, according to an intimation contained in a letter written by him to his brother, Jess Stovall at Ozark.

This information became known here today through Dan Tobey, manager of the Pacific Electric baseball club, who played his team at Ozark yesterday. While there, he saw Jess Stovall. "Jess told me he had heard some interesting news from George," said Tobey today. "He said George had written him in a very guarded manner but had given him to understand that the Cleveland management would be open to him if he cared to accept.

George wrote that he had little fear of being marooned when the Federals disband as he had been positively assured that he would be taken care of."

YOU CAN'T BUY DRINK FOR ANYONE ELSE NOW IN DEAR OLD LUNNON

By Wilbur S. Forrest, (United Press Staff Correspondent.) London, Nov. 2.—(By Mail)—London's anti-treating law is no joke. It is no American Sunday closing affair. It's the real, unadulterated article. When American city fathers agree that there shall be no Sunday saloons they draw up their ordinance and notify the saloon keepers. But they don't lock the back doors. England does, also the windows; also the cellars. The vast difference between American and British observance is startlingly shown in the effects of this latest step against intemperance. In one month drinking has diminished 25 to 4 per cent in England. Drunkenness is down forty per cent and still decreasing. Careful investigation proves today that there is no treating in London. Fashionable cafes in London's downtown district now have many empty chairs. Leading hotel cars lack the little groups of "stragglers" who gathered daily to discuss the war over whisky and soda. Professional "mochers," well known in London, have been annihilated by the law which says they may have no drink unless they pay for it. Semi-respectable restaurant-public houses have been hard hit. No groups gather to talk over ale and bitter. The patrons are drinking almost pathetically alone. The lower class of public houses has suffered less. Laborers still drop in for their morning and evening nip or tankard of ale. They paid for it themselves before, anyhow. At a certain American bar and hotel well known to Americans the veteran barmaid who makes the best Bronx cocktails in England, admits she isn't making so many nowadays. She knows many of the most prominent Americans in London and many who frequently come over but she admits she's not seeing them so often. The secretary of one of London's largest clubs declares that two drinks are now being taken where three were consumed before. The manager of a well-known West End cafe admits that his daily bar receipts are off nearly forty per cent. There is no one to buy for "the other fellow." Police court figures show that where London produced 1000 arrests weekly for drunkenness before, there are now not more than 600. In other parts of England and in Wales and Scotland, where the law is effective, police figures sum up that there were 600 convictions for drunkenness there are now 400. In Liverpool during the month preceding the anti-treating order there were 193 arrests and in the following month but 125. In Newcastle there were 75 against 41. Durham 59 against 34, Northumberland 40 against 25 and Cardiff 6 against 1.

Prominent Physician Sued For Damages

(Capital Journal Special Service.) Dallas, Or., Dec. 21.—Mrs. Laura M. Barham, wife of A. J. Barham, of this city, has through her attorney, B. A. Kikis, of McMinnville, filed suit against Dr. L. A. Bollman, one of the most prominent physicians of this city, asking for damages to the extent of $4,850. Mrs. Barham alleges in her complaint that the doctor gave her an incorrect diagnosis of the case under his care and that he was unskillful in his practice. Mrs. Barham was injured in a fall at her home on Court street last March and she alleges that the doctor diagnosed the injury other than what it was and that he treated her for a period of about two months for a trouble she alleges did not exist. As a result of the alleged unskillful practice the plaintiff's arm was paralyzed to the finger tips and she claims that even now after treating with specialists the trouble has not been entirely cured. The case promises to be one of interest as both parties are well known in this vicinity. Among the expenses that are listed in the complaint are those of medical treatment, nursing and domestic help since the right arm became practically useless. Campbell Sells Farm. H. G. Campbell of this city last week traded his 20 acre ranch near Cottage Grove to J. O. Vincent, of Salem, for an eight acre tract near the Capital city, receiving $1,000 in cash in the transaction. Ruliest Against Commission. Circuit Judge H. H. Belt last week handed down a decision in favor of William R. Moore and Anna A. Moore, dependent parents of the late H. J. Moore, in their appeal from the award of $10 per month made by the state accident commission. H. J. Moore, a son of the aged couple was killed in an accident in Polk county several months ago and his parents being dependent upon him, the accident commission awarded the mother and father $10 a month. This sum was not nearly the amount contended to their support by their deceased son and the parents appealed from the ruling of the commission. An account kept by the young man showed he gave to his parents for their support a sum of $40 per month. Judge Belt's decision gives the parents an increase in their allowance from the commission to $20 per month. Club Will Have Dinner. At the annual election of the Dallas Commercial club which will be held on January 4th the members of that organization will be treated to a dinner at the Gail hotel after which the regular business of the club will be taken up. Mrs. Frank Chapman, of Salem, was in the city last week a guest at the home of her mother, Mrs. J. C. Gaynor. M. L. Thompson, a prominent business man of Falls City, was a Dallas visitor the latter part of the week. Miss Ethel Minty, of Salem, is visiting friends and relatives in Dallas. Rich and other relatives and friends. Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Patterson, Jr., arrived in Dallas the latter part of the week from Greys River, Washington for an extended visit at the home of

High Winds, Heavy Rains Prevail Along Coast

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 21.—With a 60 mile gale racing along the Washington and British Columbia coast fear was felt here today for the safety of shipping. Wires from Tatoosh Island were reported down by Weather Observer Salisbury, who stated however, that no damage from the storm had been reported by wireless at an early hour. During the night the wind increased to a velocity of 76 miles. Storm warnings were ordered to remain up throughout the day. The forecast is rain tonight and Wednesday with continued northerly winds. Rainfall last night was .30 inch. It was .63 inch yesterday. Pierce Gale at Astoria. Astoria, Ore., Dec. 21.—A heavy gale struck the coast at North Head last night, the wind attaining a velocity of 72 miles an hour. Shipping has been delayed, but no damage was reported early today.

Think "Girl" Is Trying To Beat Old Santa Claus

Beware of Santa Claus letters, supposed to have been written by a nice little girl or boy eight years old. Several prominent citizens, including Governor Withycombe, and several firms have received appealing letters from an eight-year-old child, whose writing resembles very much that of a woman, in which said child relates the marvellous fact that he or she has four little sisters and a grandmother 77 years old. The said child also has a mother who is working for them all, but has no money to send them presents. The child does not want any presents, but would like a contribution for the mother. The letter further states that as a present, a load of wood, a sack of flour and a nice box of apples would be acceptable. Several of these appealing letters have been compared and all are in the handwriting of a woman, and not an eight-year-old child. Mrs. W. E. Anderson of the Salem Social Service Center and Mrs. C. H. Pickett attendance officer of the public schools, would like to secure additional copies of these Santa Claus letters, in order to take steps to prosecute the party sending them out. They are convinced the letters are frauds, and that the party sending them is liable to prosecution for using the mails with fraudulent intent. Anyhow, it might be well to note carefully all letters from children addressed "Dear Santa," asking for a Christmas present of a load of wood and eating materials.
