THE MARKETS
The wheat in Portland has but little effect on the local market, as the Portland market is speculative to some extent. When a ship arrives and large orders are to be filled for the European market, prices advance a cent or two on the Portland market. A few days ago a ship arrived for wheat in Portland and at once the market was reported firm. This is the Portland situation, according to a local dealer, and explains why, when wheat advances a cent or two, the Salem market does not respond.

Christmas turkeys are retailing at 25 and 30 cents.

EGG MARKET LOWER
IN PORTLAND NOW
Portland, Dec. 21.—The egg market is in very bad shape along Front street, and quotations have dropped as low as 35 cents a dozen for case count.

While only one of the big commission houses was offering eggs freely during the day at the lower price, others were not asking over 38 cents, but at neither price was there any special inclination among retailers to clean up the street's holdings.

Receipts of fresh eggs along the street are increasing rapidly, and while some of the dealers have not yet been able to feel the growth of arrivals, others show by their receiving books that supplies at least doubled during a week's period.

Butter is Out.
The market for butter is now general at 29 1/2 cents for extra city creamery cubes, with small packages at 32 1/2 cents. There has been more or less secret cutting of creamery butter values since Friday night. Who made the cut, and what was its purpose none seem to know.

In any event, the big city creameries which have been charged time and time again by various interests with controlling the price of butter, actually knew nothing whatever about the cut until it was fully a day old, and some of their salesmen ran across the lower prices.

The new price is a cut of two cents a pound all the way through for butterfat as well as butter.

The new quotation on butter fat is: No. 1, 31 cents; No. 2, 29 cents per pound, butler'd delivery.

Storage butter is naturally feeling the effects of the weaker tone, and cut in fresh creamery, and various cuts are reported in that line as a result.

Hog Prices Higher.
While total offering of hogs at North Portland at the week's opening were fractionally less than a week ago, still there was a big showing of supplies in the yards.

Prices were bulged up another nickel during the morning trade with tops commanding $6.10 with ease. A number of sales were made at the higher figures, thereby firmly establishing the new quotation.

General hog market range:
Choice light weights $6.05@6.10
Good light weights 5.90@6.00
Medium weights 5.50@6.85
Rough and heavy 4.85@5.25

Cattle Market is Good.
There was a rather liberal run of cattle in the North Portland yards over Sunday, but the trend of the trade continued quite favorable as compared with last week. Buying of cattle continues on a liberal scale. Good stuff especially is being sought at full prices.

Wheat Advances.
Wheat market is showing a further advance in leading world's centers for the day, which is giving the interior Pacific northwest markets a generally better feeling.

Buying of wheat in the interior is again on a rather extensive scale for eastern shipment to millers and for movement to Europe via the Atlantic seaboard. For that reason, aside from the coast milling demand, the interior trade is on a higher basis than tide-water.

Flour market continues to show a steady tone, and while there is again more or less talk of another advance soon in the price of patent flour, leading millers say there is nothing in sight at the moment.

Millstut demand from the south is quite good, according to local millers, and they are able to secure with ease much better values than are shown in the local exchange.

FLOUR—Selling price: Patent, $5.90; Willamette valley, $5.00; local straight, $4.40@4.80; bakers' local, $4.60@5.00; Montana spring wheat, $5.70; exports, $4.30@4.40; whole wheat, $5.45; granular, $5.20; rye flour, $5.50 per barrel.

Hay—Buying price: Willamette valley timothy, fancy, $13@13.50; eastern Oregon-Idaho fancy timothy, $15; alfalfa, $13@13.50; vetch and oats, $11; clover, $9.00.

GRAIN SACKS—1915, nominal. No. 1 Calcutta, 8 1/2 cents in car lots; less amounts higher.

MILLET PIES—Selling price: Bran, $21@22; shorts, $22@23.

ROLLED BARLEY—Selling price, $29.50@30.50.

Wheat bids were unchanged to 1 cent a bushel higher than Saturday on the Portland Merchants' Exchange for December delivery. Even this price was not as high as the same interests are bidding in the country. No sales.

December oats and barley were unchanged with no sales.

Mrs. Clyde Phillips returned from Portland Tuesday evening where she had been called on account of her husband badly burned by the explosion of a can of gasoline with which he was starting a fire, supposing it to be coal oil. He was taken to a hospital in Portland, and although he is badly burned about his face and feet the physicians think his eyesight is not impaired.
