

Notel Violinist Is Coming

Axel Skovgaard to Be in Salem on Jan. 12. Owns Famous Stradivarius Violin Costing Professor $15,000.

An entertainment of rare excellence is billed for the Grand Opera House on Wednesday, January 12, in the appearance of Axel Skovgaard with his company of Grand Opera singers. This young man has gained a wide reputation as a violinist, owning an original Stradivarius instrument for which he paid a small fortune of $15,000.

SKOVGAARD The Danish Violinist

which wins the admiration of the most skilled musicians. In the past Skovgaard accompanied Walter Damrosch and his famous New York Symphony Orchestra as solo violinist appearing in the larger cities of the United States and Canada in Wagner's great work, "Parsifal."

Musical was born in Skovgaard. As a child of four he fashioned his first "violin" out of a cigar box and at the age of seven he was a child prodigy astonishing all by his musical instinct and his rapid development as a musician. His teachers found in him the readiest pupil imaginable for it was only necessary to exemplify a difficult passage once for the lad to repeat it with an accuracy which many others acquire only through years of practice.

As a mature artist Skovgaard has revisited the scenes of his boyish triumphs, appearing in London, Paris and Berlin, where he received flattering recognition. His violin is a famous Stradivarius and between himself and the instrument there seems to be an almost living sympathy. As a performer, Mr. Skovgaard is graceful and easy in manner, his remarkable skill enabling him to perform the most difficult movements with such surprising ease that the uninitiated do not always appreciate his great talent.

A SIMPLE WAY TO REMOVE DANDRUFF

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

PROHIBITION LAW IS ATTACKED IN COURT

Washington Brewers Seek to Secure Injunction In Federal Court

Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 6.—The United States district court, Judges Cushman, Gilbert and Rudkin, sitting en banc, this afternoon denied the restraining order asked by the Seattle Brewing and Malting company to prevent Attorney General Tanner from destroying beer valued at $50,000, which the company claims it is unable to ship out of the state within the time provided by the prohibition law.

It is predicted that an appeal will be taken to the United States supreme court. Arguments Presented. Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 6.—The question of the constitutionality of the state prohibition law, which was attacked in United States district court here today by attorneys representing the Seattle Brewing and Malting company, will be decided this afternoon by the three federal judges who are sitting in the case. Arguments were concluded at noon and adjournment was taken until 2 o'clock at which time the court, consisting of Judges Cushman, Gilbert and Rudkin, sitting en banc, will announce a decision.

The action is in the nature of an application for an injunction to prevent the state from stopping the manufacture of beer by the Seattle Brewing concern or forcing that company to remove or destroy its product valued at $50,000, before January 11.

The brewing company was represented by J. B. Howe, of Seattle. Attorney General Tanner personally appeared in court and opposed the petition for an injunction. Attorney Howe said that as Attorney General Tanner had moved to have the case dismissed it should be clear that the state realized that serious questions of law are involved. The Seattle Brewing company, he said, had erected a brewery at Seattle valued at more than a million dollars. There are now on hand 40,000 barrels of beer. This property, he declared, cannot be removed from the state within the ten days allowed by the law.

Judge Rudkin interrupted the attorney to inquire whether the breweries did not receive 13 months notice that the law would go into effect on January 1.

Howe admitted this point, but maintained that if it were lawful to sell liquor until January 1, it was also lawful to manufacture it and that the beer so manufactured and sold up to that time should not be destroyed, as the state proposes to do, unless it be shipped away before January 11. Howe said the supreme court of the state had rendered an opinion on the prohibition law, but not a decision. The opinion, he claimed, was merely advisory and public policy undoubtedly entered into the courts findings.

SON NOT SURPRISED

Berkeley, Cal., Jan. 6.—Hearing of Yuan Shi Kai's large reward offer for his father, Dr. Sun, Po Sun, University of California student, commented today: "I am not surprised at the size of this reward, for Yuan Shi Kai would like the death of my father and one or two other leaders, for he knows he can accomplish nothing permanent in suppressing revolution in his empire until they are out of the way."

CONSCRIPTION BILL NOT DUE TO FAILURE

Nearly Six Million Englishmen Have Volunteered For Service

By J. W. T. Mason.

New York, Jan. 6.—England's conscription bill cannot be regarded as a result of the failure of the volunteer system, and it is a serious mistake to interpret it as a criticism of the reluctance of a democracy to offer itself freely for service on the battlefield. Nearly 6,000,000 English subjects have volunteered since the beginning of the war, while the other belligerents have used conscription from the outset; moreover, Britain's response compares fully with the conscript armies.

The Asquith forced service bill will add comparatively few to the ranks, and the maximum estimate of 500,000 obtainable thus, may dwindle to 225,000. The main purpose of the measure is not to increase the armies decisively, but to enable Premier Asquith to keep his pledge to married men that if they would come forward voluntarily they would not be drafted into actual service until all the single men had been exhausted.

Conscription in reality has not proven essential as a military measure in Great Britain and whatever danger of defeat there is for the bill lies in that very fact.

Peace Delegates Allow Pet Squirrel To Die

By Berton Braley.

With Ford Peace Party, Christiania, Norway, Dec. 19.—(By mail.)—So busy were the delegates, with weighty work of peace; so plunged in various mental states by words that did not cease; so well engrossed in hosts of things of import extra high; so deep in wireassing to kings, they let the squirrel die.

They let the little squirrel within his cage of wire, although with mutely pleading eye he showed his dumb desire for just a nut or two for food to spur his flagging breath—and so amid this noble brood, the squirrel starved to death.

They brought this little pet along upon this merry trip, yet no one in the highbrow throng that filled the peaceful ship had time to feed the ebbing strength that faded day by day, and so they let him starve—at length the squirrel passed away.

Although the squirrel was a joke, a jest of low degree, what shall we think of peace ship folk who brought him overseas, and then while talking hand on heart of love with every breath, allowed his spirit to depart and let him starve to death.

FORGOT ABOUT WOODROW

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 6.—Democrats around the state house awoke today with a start, had a hurried consultation, and then telegraphed to Washington, for it had dawned on them that the time for filing a petition to place President Wilson's name on the presidential primary ticket expires tomorrow and that nothing had been done thus far.

Washington, Jan. 6.—Henry Ford of Detroit, will come here next week to discuss anti-preparedness with a number of congressmen.

BETHEL NEWS

(Capital Journal Special Service.) Bethel, Or., Jan. 6.—The debate at the literary last Friday evening was on the question "Resolved that it is better to trade at the home towns in preference to elsewhere." The speakers for the affirmative were Harlan Hoffman, Madison Nichols, and John Zak. Negative, John Clark, Ed. Schulz and Paul Baker. The affirmative presented quotations to show that they could buy to better advantage in the home town. The negative had another set of quotations to prove the contrary. They also claimed that they could sell to better advantage in other markets. Many other arguments were presented on each side. The judges of the debate were: Mr. Swales, Mr. Albert Fuestman, Mrs. Alice Crabtree, Mrs. Swales and Mrs. Remoh Schulz. The decision was three for the affirmative and two for the negative. The following program was given: Song, "Aula Hula," by a mixed chorus. Reading, "Getting Into the Wrong Room," by John Zak. Song, "Wie Kan Ich Die Lassen," by Ed. Schulz and W. R. Baker. Reading, "Befriending a Horse," by Frank Kuciter.

Song, "The Old Year and the New," by Mr. and Mrs. Roth, Mrs. Matten, Mrs. Fuestman and Mrs. Rautenburg. Reading, "Setting the Old Blue Hen," by Gustave Bahnsen. Mandolin duet, "Silver Bell," by Paul Baker and Walter Zuker. Recitation, by Herman Doney. Song, "Blue Bell," and "Dublin Day," by Frank Kuciter, Ed. Schulz, Roy Marchand and Harlan Hoffman. Reading, "Personal Recollections," by G. L. Johnson. Reading, "H. R. Hoffman. Autoharp solo, by Mr. Roth. Reading, "The Old Maid and the Burglar," by John Clark. Reading, "A Midnight Murder," by Clifford Johnston. Recitation, "The Deacon and the Choir," by Harlan Hoffman. Song, "Where the River Shannon Flows," by a mixed chorus.

Among the former Bethelites present at the literary last Friday evening may be mentioned Mrs. Alice Crabtree of Stayton, Mrs. Ruth Arnold of Seia, and Miss Bessie Schunk, of Salem. Last Saturday evening a dance was given by Chris Battalion. There were a large number present and they tripped the light fantastic till an early hour. The music was furnished by Mr. Fliegel and Bert Bressler. The school board is using a floor dressing on the floor of the school house this term. The dressing is giving good satisfaction as a dust extirpator and it wears well. The first coat was applied in September and the second coat was applied just last week. Many Bethel young people have been taking advantage of the unusual opportunity to go coasting. Tekeburg's hill is a popular place for the sport and many happy hours have been spent toiling up the steep slope for the pleasure of the wild ride to the bottom, with the possibility of a roll in the wet snow at the end of the ride. Emil Sundborg has just had a siege of the grippe. Mr. Sundborg is able to be about but the rest of the family are indisposed. William Heeman, who has been working for Mr. Nichols, is laid up with the grippe. George Matten is another victim and there are several others who are complaining of bad colds. There are a few gopher scalpers in Bethel. Gustave Bahnsen sold 115 scalps to the county clerk last Monday. Ed Schulz had 59, George Bahnsen 49, Chris Battalion 46, Madison Nichols 24 and Harlan Hoffman 19. A deer passed through this neighborhood recently. Emil Sundborg saw the fresh tracks Monday where the deer had jumped some wire fences near H. B. Hoffman's house. Others have seen the tracks and agree that it must have been a large deer. It is believed that two hunters were closely following the fleeing animal. Mr. Arthur Page, recently from Canada, is visiting at the home of his brother, Mr. Cloud Page. Mrs. Ruth Arnold, of Seia, has returned to her home after a short visit at the home of her sister Mrs. Remoh Schulz. Mrs. Arnold is teaching a district school near her home. The annual meeting of the Big Four Telephone company has been postponed for another week. The date is now set for January 11th. W. H. Baker, the company lineman, is trying to arrange for a telephone demonstration to be given at the meeting. Further announcement will be made next week. If the carrier does not give service notify the office.
