SHEPHERD DESCRIBES IN GRAPHIC PHRASE RETREAT TO SALONIKA

Following is the first of seven installments of one of the most gripping narratives of the war in which William G. Shepherd, United Press staff correspondent with the allied armies in the Balkans gives the first close-up picture of the allies' retreat from Serbia.

Salonika, Dec. 11.—For nine days I have been watching the Salonika retreat of the allies. From the front trenches, back to the harbor of Salonika, a strip of land sixty miles wide, I have seen the thousands of demonstrations and tokens of retirement.

I have talked to General Sarraill, the leader of the allied forces here, and to General Bullard, in the field to major, captains and privates of both the French and British forces and they have, more or less, admitted that a retreat is under way. But one man whom I believe more than all the war departments and chancelleries of Europe, is the man, who with his family and his few household goods, loaded on a little rattling wagon, hauled by steers, is coming to Salonika today.

DO THIS FIRST—YOU!

You know, and every physician knows, that when any sickness has passed, whether it be throat trouble, organic disturbances, contagious diseases, or even a severe cold, a relapse is feared, because sickness robs the system of Nature's resistance and leaves it subject to lingering germs.

Drugs never build up a worn-out body—only food can do that, and the first thing to take after any sickness is the concentrated, blood-making oil—food in Scott's Emulsion, which feeds the tissues, benefits the blood and strengthens both lungs and throat.

Physicians prescribe Scott's Emulsion after sickness. Nurses everywhere advocate it. Scott's is pure medicinal food, without alcohol or drugs.

Play Mixed With Tragedy.

There is play and fun mixed up in this story, as well as tragedy and sorrow. Where the commanders use the simple word "retreat" or "retirement," they are covering a vast field of human activity and human emotions.

My experience began on the afternoon of December second in the office of General Sarraill, when he said: "Would you like to see the allied front in Serbia?"

When I answered in the affirmative he put his hand on my shoulder and pushed me to one side of the room where he had herded a few correspondents. After he had collected us into a favored group, he said, rubbing his right hand through his grey curly hair: "Please be at the railroad station at 7 o'clock in the morning. An officer will be there to take charge of you. You shall see Kriwouak, where the French are fighting the Bulgarians and you also shall see the British front. Good day, gentlemen, and bon chance."

Work of Social Center of Great Value to City

The work of the Salem Social Service Center has been of great value to the city, in that it has enabled many citizens to give help and relief to those really in need. With this organization, the giving has been to those really in need, and before this help has been given, work has been investigated.

The work of the organization has been thorough and systematic. Besides giving temporary relief after a full investigation, the Center has been instrumental in securing permanent work for many. The key note of the Center has been personal service. In many cases those appointed to investigate cases of want, go into the homes of the people and learn as far as possible what can be done, not only for their immediate needs, but how and what can be done to assist them to become self supporting.

In many cases the directors first relieve the family in need, then place the members in those families where they can make their own way and do all that is possible to bring about better conditions.

In order that the work might be handled in a business-like way the work was divided into departments. The social service department had charge of bundle day and the giving of attention to special cases. Another department to that of furnishing clothing.

During the last season, out of 71 cases investigated, 41 received temporary aid in the form of food, groceries and medicine. Four cases received permanent aid from the county and 29 cases were found unworthy. Each case is checked up with other organizations doing charitable work, especially with the Salvation Army and the county court. If those asking for aid do not show a disposition to work, no assistance is given them. Work is always obtained if possible for those willing and able to work.

Bundle days were of great assistance to the center, as the donations from the citizens were of great value to the Center, as there had been many calls for clothing early in the winter. The clothing was all assorted and arranged and placed with those really deserving.

No money of the Social Service Center is spent in salaries, except a small sum each week to a widow who assist in working over and distributing clothing.

Here are several sample cases, taken care of by the Center. At one home was a father, mother and two children. The father was paralyzed and unable to work. These were furnished medical aid and clothing. Friends and relatives were found, and now this family will be able to pass through the winter without suffering.

Another case was that of a man 82 years old, who was found living in a basement without wood or food. These were supplied and relatives communicated with. Arrangements were made for work.

A deserted mother and six children were given help. Proper food and medicine was provided.

An aged couple was found, with no relatives. One of them was gradually going blind. Arrangements were made for permanent help.

A widow was found with a deaf and dumb daughter. As she was unable to work away from home the Center hopes to secure plain sewing in order that she may support herself.

The employment bureau has been of great service in bringing the man and the job together. Special efforts were made this winter to provide work for those applying. This was accomplished through the establishment of a wood camp. As an indication of how scarce work was this winter, it may be noted that 427 men applied for work in this wood camp. Of these 112 were placed on jobs temporarily, and 17 were found permanent jobs.

The financial report of the work done by the Salem Social Service Center for the year 1915 is as follows:

Receipts: Total receipts for the year $305.00 Of this amount, $285.00 was

Total $276.71 Balance on January 1, 1916, $ 28.29 The Salem Social Service Center is supported entirely by voluntary membership and contributions. Its receipts nothing from taxation from the city, county or state.

The cold weather is multiplying the problems of the Center and more money is needed. Since January 1, the following contributions have been received: Mrs. A. N. Bush $12.00 R. A.
