Jones Says Withycombe Paid Political Debt

A political debt, and then Jones recalls some of his services in the interests of the governor's candidacy and election.

Tried to Handicap Fair. "The whole thing to start with," said W. Al Jones today, "is that the governor has had it in for me ever since I was elected secretary of the fair board last April. He has told this to certain parties, although he denied it to me but he told certain members of the board that I was not the man for the place and that he wanted a strong agricultural man."

"The governor has tried to handicap the fair in every way in the world. I am led to believe that he prevented his son Bob, who has charge of the experiment station at Union from bringing an exhibit to the state fair for the reason that I had a quarrel with Bob Withycombe saying that he could not bring down an exhibit and there never has been a time before that Union has not had a creditable exhibit at the state fair."

M. L. Jones to Promote "Harmony." "There is no question but that he appointed M. L. Jones, a political and personal enemy of mine, a member of the board after his election last April to stir up dissent and to get my scalp. This fact I had known for some time but only yesterday did the governor say, after he had tried every other excuse for his action, that M. L. Jones was at the bottom of the whole thing and that Lea was Jones' candidate and that he did not know that Lea would ever accept the position nor had he consulted with Lea about it. The party to whom he made the assertion answered by saying that this was not the case and that Lea had been consulted and that he would accept."

Promised Lea Job. The governor substantiated this by making the assertion to two members of the board:

"I will see that Lea is elected secretary of the state fair board if the state fair goes to Leas."

I want to say further in response to the governor's denial about having anything to do with my removal that Mr. Savage told both Mr. West and myself that he was under pressure for the governor and could not support me and would have to vote for Lea although he hated very much to have to do so. This happened at the office at the fair grounds on January 12 and on a previous date Mr. Savage told me personally:

"It looks very much as if the governor is interfering."

The Fair Gate Ticket Scandal. I know that a certain member of the board was adverse to an investigation of a recent gate scandal that was unearthed during the last state fair and for the following reasons. I do know that Governor Withycombe was very much in sympathy with the suppression of the story, and although I cannot say just how far he went in the matter I am led to believe it was to the extent of having Cleve Simpkins "come into the picture" and abducting Rex Turner, who, in my estimation, from testimony at hand, was the main instigator in the crime. When I use the word crime, I do so for the reason that the grand jury has already indicted both Rex Turner and Cleve Simpkins.

In the case mentioned, to substantiate my inference that the governor was a party in the much sought for suppression of evidence in this case will say that I arranged a meeting with the governor in his private office for the purpose of ascertaining whether he was opposed to my determined investigation or not. It was hard to even consult with him at all. And he took up most of the time by telling me that it was only a matter of $18 and that they were two fine young men and that it was not right to go on and prosecute them, for it "would blast the rest of their lives for such a paltry sum."

"You Must Hush It Up."

I said, "Why, governor, for the protection of the fair board as well as myself, I do not consider that I can legally drop the matter and I am certain that I cannot morally."

Whereupon he became quite indignant and repeated:

"Hush it up. Hush it up. Hush it up."

"I tell you, Jones, you've got to hush it up."

I told him I had lived for 38 years and had never been obliged to hush anything up before, and I was too old to begin to do so now.

Then the governor asked me, "What do you want to see me about this for?"

I said the district attorney did not bring it before the grand jury during the October term of the circuit court and I demanded that he, as governor, should see that this prosecution was carried out. He said that he had nothing to do in the matter and I told him that the 1915 session laws provided that if the district attorney failed to prosecute that it was up to the governor to appoint a district attorney.

Admits He Is Stuck.

"Why, you are mistaken, Jones," replied the governor. "That law relates only to prohibition."

I answered, "You are the one who is mistaken, this law was passed in 1913 and the prohibition law in 1915."

He then got his session laws and read the chapter over twice and then shook his head and said:

"It's too bad, too bad, too bad. I guess I'm stuck for it."

Then I asked him what to do in the matter and he replied that I should do as the board directed in the matter and I told him that I had the written authorization from three members of the board to go on with the prosecution and the oral authorization from N. K. West. I told him I did not expect to get an authorization from the other member as there was not on file a single answer of any kind that I had received from him a piece of correspondence concerning the state fair.

Helped Wing the Shaft.

I know no reason why the governor should take a hand in my removal as he told Mr. Savage that he had to pay a political debt to Bert Lea after I had worked with Bob Withycombe not only during the November election but through the primaries for his father for governor. The governor knows this as Bob Withycombe has told his father the above facts. He also knows that I did support his requests during the legislature as far as I thought was right and the only place I kicked was when Putnam, his private secretary, came to me and asked me to support

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

SIMPLE HOME REMEDY

This cough cure is worth its weight in gold. The herbs can be purchased at drug stores. One package here-bound, one package comfrey root, one package mullein. Take half of each one and steep in a pint (or a little more) of water (put on in cold water). Steep well and strain. Add to one-half pint of thick syrup made of brown sugar, cook a few minutes and it is ready for use. It is excellent. Take half teaspoonful every half hour till cough is relieved.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING

When kitchen soap becomes thin, just stick it onto another bar and it will finally become a part of it, thus avoiding small particles which are such a nuisance.

In pearling embroidered scallops, it is better to use cotton thread than embroidery floss. The work will be much less clumsy.

Blankets may be readily washed by using the bathtub or any large laundry tub, when washing machine is not available. Make a strong soapy solution and pour over blankets, then use an ordinary colander and draw the water up and down with vigorous pull. This creates a suction and the dirt is easily drawn out.

Outing Flannel Slippers. — To keep the feet warm, make slippers of heavy, colored outing flannel, having them come well over top of the foot and about up to the ankle bone. Cut bottom of slippers on a fold of the goods so there will be no seam to irritate the feet, and cut around heel and toe. Sew up in neat seams and hem upper 2 edges. Pattern can be bought, or it may be cut over a stocking foot, allowing plenty of room for seams and for looseness, as they do not stretch to fit the foot as do stockings.

THE TABLE

Oysters as Fried in Restaurants. — Dip oysters in batter made of one egg and one-fourth pint of sweet milk or cream; then roll in cracker crumbs or corn meal; fry in hot frying pan with plenty of butter.

Meat Loaf. — One and one-half pounds beefsteak put through meat grinder with one small onion. Roll ten soda crackers fine. Mix meat, onion, one egg and crackers with enough sweet milk to make moist; salt and pepper to taste. Put in baking dish, pour over a little more milk, put in oven to bake three-fourths hour. Fine hot or cold.

Baked Rice. — A delicious, inexpensive dish. Put plain cooked rice in baking dish, add cream cheese as you would do spaghetti, then strain enough tomatoes over this to moisten it well; season with salt and red pepper to taste. Bake one-half to three-fourths hour in moderate oven.

Hamburg With Dumplings. — A cheap dish; will serve family of four. Get one pound hamburger steak, fry with onions until nice and brown (do not make into cakes). Put into a kettle about 1 1/2 pints boiling water, add meat and four medium-sized potatoes cut into cubes. Salt and pepper to taste.

Dumplings. — One large cup flour, one teaspoon baking powder, a little salt. Make a stiff dough adding a little water. Drop in small spoonfuls on top of meat and potatoes. Simmer twenty minutes. Keep lid tight on kettle. If gravy is too thin when done, add a little thickening. Easy to make; your supper is done in one-half hour.

Fig and Cheese Relish. — Make small incisions in as many figs as one desires; fill with cream cheese moistened with a little sweet cream salad or with crackers and coffee at end of a dinner.

Muffins. — Put one egg and one teaspoonful each of salt and sugar into mixing bowl. Beat slightly. Add one cup milk or water, then add flour with two teaspoons of baking powder. Use enough flour to make consistency of cake dough. Bake in quick oven. If more liquid is added, this makes delicious pancakes.

Steamed Pudding. — Put one tablespoon of preserves or jam in the bottom of each cup pan. Make a batter of one-half cup sugar, one cup sifted flour, butter size of egg, yolk of one egg beaten, one-half cup milk, one teaspoon baking powder, white of egg beaten stiff and folded in last; pinch of salt. Steam or bake.

Mushroom Cream Sandwiches. — Peel and chop a few fresh mushrooms and stew with a little butter and seasoning till tender enough to pulp. Chop up a little cooked chicken or veal; mix with mushrooms. Pound together and run through food chopper or sieve. Add small quantity of thick cream or beaten butter. Season well to taste with salt and paprika. Place between slices of brown bread.

State Health Officer Praises Eastern Oregon Hospital for Insane

"I was surprised to find such a model institution with such capable and effective management and producing such commendable results and I wish to go on record as commending the people of Pendleton and the State of Oregon in general in having such an institution as the Eastern Oregon State Hospital located here."

This is what Dr. David N. Roberg, state health officer and state registrar of vital statistics said after visiting the hospital of which Dr. W. D. McNary is the head.

Dr. Roberg went further to say that he had traveled practically all over the United States and had spent last year in Europe for the state of Oregon and was familiar with the methods, treatment and general conditions prevailing throughout like institutions in all parts of the world but he finds here methods and treatment which have not yet reached the eastern states.

In fact he had only the highest praise for the Pendleton institution, commending it in every detail of the work, and further said that when the general run of state institutions reached the proficiency now to be found at Pendleton's hospital, the private sanitariums would be out of business for the state institutions when properly managed and conducted can give the patients better treatment and care than can the private concerns. This is the reason that there is always the element of personal gain to be taken into consideration in the private hospitals while in state institutions this is entirely absent and with brains, conscient men in charge the state institutions are far superior in every way to the private.

Another advantage these days: One doesn't have to bother with an umbrella.

EVERY THREE MINUTES ONE DIES IN THE U. S.

The Anti-Tuberculosis Society illustrates the frightful toll of consumption by extinguishing a light every three minutes, and shows that it is the man or woman, girl or boy, who neglects colds, whose blood is impure, who feels weak and languid, who is the very one to contract tuberculosis—and none are immune.

During changing seasons, or after sickness, blood-quality is most important, and if you and your family will take Scott's Emulsion after meals it will charge your blood with health-sustaining richness, quicken circulation, and strengthen both lungs and throat.

IF HAIR IS TURNING GRAY, USE SAGE TEA

Don't Look Old! Try Grandmother's Recipe to Darken and Beautify Faded, Lifeless Hair

That beautiful, even shade of dark glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray, streaked and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the tonic; you can get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," ready to use. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color, thickness and lustre of your hair and remove dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur because it works so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy, lustrous and abundant.

Bridge Viewers Are Proceeding With Care On Proposed Structure

In behalf of the board of viewers which is selecting the plans for the proposed bridge across the Willamette river at this place, E. P. McCormack stated today that the viewers were proceeding with great care in the matter of the selection of the plans. Mr. McCormack stated that it was an expenditure of about $200,000 and that so undue haste was necessary or profitable.
