SAYS BODY IS A POISON FACTORY

Urges Everyone to Drink Glass of Hot Water Before Breakfast

Just as coal, when it burns leaves behind a certain amount of combustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken day after day leaves in the alimentary canal a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not completely eliminated from the system each day, becomes food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels. From this mass of left-over waste, toxins and ptomain-like poisons are formed and sucked into the blood.

Men and women who can't get feeling right must begin to take inside baths. Before eating breakfast each morning drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash out of the thirty feet of bowels the previous day's accumulation of poisons and toxins and to keep the entire alimentary canal clean, pure and fresh.

Those who are subject to sick headache, colds, biliousness, constipation, others who wake up with bad taste, foul breath, backache, rheumatic stiffness, or have a sour, gassy stomach after meals, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store, and begin practicing internal sanitation. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on the subject.

Remember inside bathing is more important than outside bathing, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing poor health, while the bowel powers do. Just as soap and hot water cleanses, sweetens and freshens the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.

Bandon World: Manager E. W. Schetter, of the New Bandon Warehouse company, returned on the Speedwell from a short business trip to San Francisco. Mr. Schetter says the lumber situation in the city is looking much brighter. Not long ago when anyone spoke of lumber to the San Francisco dealers, they didn't pay much attention; now they are eagerly inquiring as to the kind and amount a prospective manufacturer may have to offer.

Zemo for Dandruff

You do not want a slow treatment when hair is falling and the dandruff germ is killing the hair roots. Delay means no hair.

Get, at any drug store, a bottle of zemo for 25c or $1.00 for extra large size. Use as directed, for it does the work quickly. It kills the dandruff germ, nourishes the hair roots and immediately stops itching scalp. It is sure and safe, is not greasy, is easy to use and will not stain. Soaps and shampoos are harmful, as they contain alkali. The best thing to use is zemo, for it is pure and also inexpensive.

Judge Galloway Honors Memory of John Minto

The following address was delivered by Hon. William Galloway this week at the celebration of the anniversary of the birth of the Scotch poet, Robert Burns. Judge Galloway pays a splendid tribute to this lifelong friend, the late John Minto.

On this the 157th anniversary of the birth of the great Scotch poet, Robert Burns, I am asked to say something of another poet, writer and Oregon pioneer, Hon. John Minto, who never left the natal day of "Bobby" Burns pass without celebrating the occasion with song and feast.

I knew Mr. Minto intimately from my childhood and can never think of him without associating him with two other noted pioneers of Oregon born under Britain's flag, Dr. John McLaughlin, born in Scotland, and Hon. F. X. Matthews, a native of Canada. These three pioneers were bosom friends and collaborators in laying broad and secure the foundation of our young commonwealth. Their remains lie on the banks of the beautiful Willamette they loved so dearly, and no man more loyal to the American flag or American institutions ever breathed the pure air of heaven.

Mr. Minto was a native of England, born in 1822, crossed the plains to Oregon in 1844 and settled near Salem where in 1841 he married Martha Ann Morrison, a pioneer of 1844. Of course this worthy pioneer woman it can be truly said she was of the highest stamp of American womanhood and was no man's inferior. Of this happy union there were eight children born, three only surviving, being valued residents of Salem, their native city. Minto was born of the common people, lived the life of the people he so loved and died with a last prayer for the supremacy of the plain people. He often said "We have too many pompers and too many idle rich, but not enough of the great mass of the common people who move the world civilly, morally and financially."

Our constitution written by our pioneer fathers is the most enlightened and progressive of any state constitution in the union. Our civil and criminal code enacted by our early legislatures of which Mr. Minto was often a member and always a valued adviser, has done more to break down sex distinctions under the law than that of any other American state. Those pioneer legislators who had toiled for six or seven months crossing the plains with their wives and children in their ox teams, had learned the value and superiority of true womanhood, hence under the laws of Oregon there is no sex distinction in the possession of property. A woman in Oregon can hold land in her own name, can sue and be sued, can administer upon the estate of her deceased husband, and is the legal guardian of her own children, she pays taxes and has a voice in saying how those taxes shall be expended. In Oregon no sex inequality or sex inferiority is recognized by law, and it can be truthfully said that no man living or dead has done more to incorporate these sacred and inalienable rights of the people into our statutes than our departed and beloved John Minto.

Mr. Minto was a most retiring man who accepted office and position of public trust as a duty imposed upon citizenship. He was eminently qualified and might have filled any office in the gift of the people of his adopted state. He preferred his muse and worked solely in developing the latent resources of his state. He was a path finder in searching for highways and means of communication with other sections of this great northwest and the eastern states. I believe Mr. Minto would have preferred the honor of discovering an improved mountain passageway for express and ingress to the Willamette valley or the improvement of some species of our domestic animals than the honors of a membership in congress.

In politics Mr. Minto was a democrat until the Civil war when he associated himself with the republican party, though he was never a strict partisan in any sense. He was a member of the Odd Fellows and Elk orders and when he passed away was the oldest member of those orders in the state.

Mr. Minto was a student to the very last moment of his long and useful life, he read and wrote continuously and has left his impress upon every page of Oregon history. He loved the birds of the air and the beasts of the forest, yes, everything in nature from the flowers of the valley to the snow capped peak of Mount Hood. With such a soul and heart it is but natural that the writings of the great Scotch poet Burns should have held first place in his literary affections.

Mr. Minto died at the age of 92 years, beloved by all who knew him, and had ever felt the inspiration of his pen and muse.

WEST STAYTON

Mrs. Weisenberg spent Monday in Salem.

Mrs. Wells, Mrs. H. D. Condit's mother, is visiting at the Condit home.

T. Y. McCallan went to Salem Monday.

The R. B.'s met at the Coons home last Wednesday and will meet at Grandma Gigg's next Wednesday.

A new departure of the Parent-Teacher meetings is alternate programs each two weeks by the pupils of the school and by the married people of the district.

The exceptionally cold weather we have been having has been the cause of many cases of grip. Mrs. Henry Condit was a victim last week and now Henry is laid up with it.

There was a dance at the Davis home last Saturday evening which was well attended. There was a good attendance of the younger married folks as well as nearly all the younger set. The cement floor of the implement and vehicle room of the large dairy barn was treated with corn meal and powdered wax, making a splendid dancing floor. About midnight a beautiful supper was served, which with the dancing was very much enjoyed by all there.—Stayton Standard.

$11,000 BREACH OF PROMISE SUIT FILED

Georgia E. Williams Claims That F. Mickenham Trifled With Her Affections

With a claim of $11,000 for damaged affections, Georgia E. Williams, of this city today filed a breach of promise suit in the circuit court of this county against F. Mickenham. The complaint states that Georgia E. Williams is over 28 years of age and the defendant is upwards of 60 and that he proposed marriage November 10, 1915 and the date of the nuptials was set at January 10 of this year. The plaintiff claims that Mickenham also promised to deal her a house and lot in this city as soon as the marriage was performed and that she relied upon his promises and went ahead and made all preparations for becoming a bride.

As the day of the wedding approached the complaint states that the couple went to Seattle to have the ceremony performed and while in that city a pre-matrimonial disagreement resulted and the groom refused to keep his promise and deserted the young woman without funds and that she had to depend upon friends for funds to bring her back to this city.

As a compensatory balm to her wounded affections she asks $6,000 damages and $5,000 punitive damages. McNary & McNary, J. P. Ball and W. T. Ball are attorneys for the plaintiff.

San Francisco Has First Snow Fall In Many Years

San Francisco, Jan. 28.—For the first time in many years snow fell in San Francisco early today.

During the early morning hours snow fell in considerable quantities in some parts of the city, remaining for half an hour on the roofs of some houses. In the downtown section the snow melted as rapidly as it touched the ground. For a short time hail accompanied the snow.

Across the bay both to the north and east, however, the snow remained. Mount Tamalpais and the Berkeley hills were white during the early hours from their bases to the summits.

The storm which brought the snow on its wings was subsiding rapidly today and the barometer is again rising. Advice from Point Reyes, Marin county, stated that the wind is still howling there but not at the tremendous velocity of 95 miles an hour, reached last night. The wires to the lookout station there are down.

'KLEINER MUCK' ONCE MORE AT THE LIBRARY

On next Saturday morning the stop-hour children will have their last chance to hear about Kleiner Muck. Advice Shinn has been telling the story about him at the two hour story hours, and she will finish this week. At the beginning of each session she reviews what has been told so that all who hear may enjoy the new part. Those who have heard any of the story will not want to miss the end, and those who have not will be glad to know something about the little man whose head was so big that it looked as though it would break off, and whose funny big shoes could do strange things.

Very promptly at 9:30 the stories begin at the public library. All children under twelve are invited.

Pen Officials Find No Trace of Escaped Convict

Officials of the Oregon state pen today reported no trace of Clark the convict who escaped this week by drilling his way out of his cell. A clue was reported by John Slaughter, who resides near Astoria last night and man hunters were hurried to the scene but today they have not reported and it is assumed that they did not find their man. Mr. Slaughter said that a stranger had been seen in the neighborhood and when he was hailed, he jumped into the brush and disappeared.

WOOD IS PESSIMISTIC.

Washington, Jan. 27.—The American navy would be at the bottom of the sea in less than 90 days, perhaps sooner, if this country were attacked by a first class navy, General Leonard Wood, commander of the eastern department told the house military committee today.

MRS. MOHR FIRM IN GIVING TESTIMONY

"He Was My Husband, Father of My Children and I Still Love Him"

Providence, R. I., Jan. 28.—Fluttering almost on the verge of a collapse, Mrs. C. Franklin Mohr, charged jointly with two negroes with murdering her doctor husband, answered the relentless cross-examination of States Attorney Rice today with the unswerving declaration that, despite her husband's brutality, she loved him.

"Though he beat me and threatened to shoot me," she said, quailing under the cross fire of questions, "he was my husband and the father of my children and I loved him with all my soul. And I still love him, though he is dead."

"Through it all I think he loved me and that he went out with other women only for amusement."

Questions concerning the doctor's alleged assault upon Mary McConville, a servant in the Mohr home caused the widow to say vehemently, "I never told Mary to shoot him, and I never told the servants that I had seen him for the last time, as Mary was going to shoot him."

"And I never instructed Mary to use two bullets if one didn't do the work."

Thought at the outset of the third day's examination, Mrs. Mohr appeared refreshed, her face soon took on a strained expression, and her voice trailed off occasionally into sobs as she gave her answers. Now and then there was a flash of anger to her replies; but for the most part, she gave them in a low voice, with a thrill of emotion now and then.

Her 11-year-old son Charley will probably follow her on the stand.

Bank Robbers Caught Part of Money Recovered

Chicago, Jan. 28.—Swooping down upon a West Side rooming house today, the police captured five men and three women members of a gang recently arrived from New York, and recovered $7800, a part of the $15,501 obtained in a daring holdup of "Jake Staal's bank" yesterday.

The raid was made on a woman's tip. As the officers jumped into the quarters of the alleged bandits, they hurled a box with the currency out of the window. A newsboy below sought to make way with it, but was prevented by a cordon of officers, with drawn guns, surrounding the building.

The patrolmen had a second thrill when two bandits, handcuffed together, made a violent attempt to escape as they reached the front of the criminal court building. One made a dive for the officer's feet while the second butted him in the stomach. Both started to run, but were overpowered and taken safely to jail.

Stahl afterwards identified the prisoners as the men engaged in the hold-up yesterday.

Girl Locates Father Goes to Join Him

Portland, Or., Jan. 28.—Ellen Lisle, aged 15, is en route to Denver today to join a father and sister whom she has never seen. She is accompanied by a Boys and Girls Aid Society official.

Ellen's mother died a few days after her birth. She was adopted by a family who later moved to Oregon. Like a chattel she was passed from one family to another, through a long series of adoptions. On her own initiative she determined last month to locate the father whom she had never seen.

She wrote to the Denver police, and after some search her father was located just before Christmas. The father is Henry Lisle, 1306 Myers street, Denver, and the sister is Mrs. Irene Vorches.

APPROPRIATION REPORTED
Washington, Jan. 28.—Containing the emergency appropriation for the Alaskan railway, the urgent deficiency bill was favorably reported today by the senate appropriations committee.

900 DERRICKS BLOWN DOWN IN OILFIELDS

Thousands of Trees Down—Damage in Oil Fields Placed At a Million

Fresno, Cal., Jan. 28.—Thousands of orchard and ornamental trees are said to be down, while the Bakersfield and Lost Hills fields are reported to have lost 500 derricks. The total loss in all fields is placed at more than $1,000,000.

The chief damage was in the oil fields. At Coalinga, 400 derricks are said to be down, while the Bakersfield and Lost Hills fields are reported to have lost 500 derricks. The total loss in all fields is placed at more than $1,000,000.

Part of Fresno was still without power this afternoon, though most of the circuits were repaired last night.

A San Joaquin and Eastern train is snowbound at Casaca, 5,000 feet above sea level, and it will be several days before it is freed from the grip of a blizzard now tearing through the mountains.

Only one power line, that between Bakersfield and Los Angeles, was in operation over Tehachapi pass last night.

The Kings river is falling, but the San Joaquin river is rising slightly, though there are no floods.
