THE FORTUNE HUNTER TOMORROW NIGHT

Miss Hazel Erixon as Josie Lockwood Does Real Leap Year Stunt

A short time ago a prominent New York woman gained considerable newspaper notoriety by declaring that if a woman wanted to marry a man she should come right out and propose to him.

There are a few simple, definite rules, by which any woman can marry any man she wants to marry. This may sound queer, but it is an absolute, cold-blooded fact.

Miss Hazel Erixon, one of Salem's best known and most beautiful young women, will give a public demonstration of this sure-fire method of securing your choice of husbands tomorrow and Friday evenings at this week, when the Social Service Center of the Salem Commercial club presents at the Grand theatre Winchell Smith's world-famous comedy, "The Fortune Hunter."

In the role of Josie Lockwood, Miss Erixon has the congenial job of proposing to a man who is trying his best to keep her from it. Josie makes up her mind to marry Nat Dunson, the young fortune hunter, (James Mott), and she figures out a "bomb-proof" system of courting that no male human in the world could stand up against for an hour.

If you are looking for real, honest-to-goodness comedy (the kind that you can laugh right out loud at) don't fail to see Miss Erixon play Josie Lockwood in "The Fortune Hunter."

The Social Service Center's presentation of "The Fortune Hunter" is going to be a much bigger thing than anybody imagines. The play itself is the most popular comedy on the American stage.

Seats for both performances of "The Fortune Hunter" are on sale at the box office of the Grand theatre now. The prices are 25, 50 and 75 cents (no dollar seats) and the price of your ticket will be a direct donation to the organized charity work of the Social Service Center.

Following are some references to books and magazine articles dealing with this problem. These are all to be found at the public library.

CATARH GERMS EASILY KILLED

Only Way To Cure This Disease Is To Destroy Its Cause.

If you have catarrh and want to get rid of it you must kill the germs which cause catarrh. Stomach doings, ailments, sprays, creams, douches, etc., fail because they overlook this fact.

The best known way of destroying the dangerous germs of Catarrh and consequently ending the disease itself, is to breathe into the air passages of your nose and throat the pleasant, penetrating air of Hyomei (pronounced High-o-mei).

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil.
