punciation is about like this: "E-meely-day-Gogor-thay." This is for the benefit of those who hope to hear the great singer, but cannot talk about it very much on account of the uncertainty of the correct pronunciation of the name.

Walter H. Smith, of the Portland Railway, Light & Power company, recalls the silver thaw of 1907, when he was in Portland and head of the trouble department of the company. Wires were then in such bad condition that with his working crews, he was obliged to put in 72 hours steady work, without taking time hardly to eat."

Chief of Police Welsh has received information from the sheriff of Kitap county, at Port Orchard, Wash., that Charles Adams, of this city, who is badly wanted here to answer a charge of stealing bicycles, is in the Kitsap county jail serving a 90 day sentence under the name of Charles James. The police arrested three other members of the gang, and one is now in jail awaiting trial, one has been dismissed and one sent to the reform school.

With the enrollment of new men, and the rifle practice now going on, the soldier boys at the armory are keeping pretty busy. At the meeting last night committees were appointed for the Washington birthday banquet and the annual inspection dance, to be given March 8. Those on the banquet committee are Sergeant Max L. Alford, Corporal H. P. McInturff and Corporal Arnold Gralapp. The dance committee is Lieutenant J. Roy Neer, Lieutenant Dana H. Allen, Sergeant Walter L. Spaulding, Corporal H. P. McInturff and Private A. Evans Houston.

Prof. H. P. Barrs, botanist and plant pathologist of the Oregon Agricultural college, was in the city yesterday, conferring with C. O. Constable, county fruit inspector, for the summer campaign against brown rot. Prof. Barrs has made experiments in spraying peach curl leaf while the tree was dormant, and from results obtained, now strongly recommends that spraying be done during the month of February. Heretofore, most of the spraying has been done in the fall and early spring, but now he recommends spraying while the tree is dormant.

A hearing will be conducted by the board of control tomorrow of the charges preferred against Dr. E. L. Steiner by Klara Curry, an aged woman who resides in Jackson county. Mrs. Curry's husband, William Curry, was a patient of the asylum and was sent to this city by the authorities of Jackson county. She had little or no money and depended upon charity while here. She charges that her husband was treated at the asylum but considering her advanced age the asylum authorities consider her complaints the vision of a senile mind.

January was the record month for fires in Salem according to the number of runs by the fire department which responded to 30 alarms during the snow weather. For January, 1915, the department made 18 runs which was the record up to that time. The reason for the large number of calls was given by Chief Hutton as the tendency to heat up stoves more than usual which caused chimney fires. Most of the runs were made to chimney fires and no residences or buildings burned during the month. The department made a run to a chimney fire at 6:45 last night to the house occupied by W. A. Kury at 868 Marion street. No damage was done.

Judge Charles L. McNary is evidently as well known to the people of Salem by the back of his head as he is by the front. In yesterday's Capital Journal, the Sp's advertisement showed the back view of a man's head, offering a box of candy to the first person coming to the store and giving the correct name. The Journal was securely issued, when people began coming in to the Sp's, as well as telephoning, and almost every one named the picture as being that of Judge McNary. Mrs. J. G. Trager was the winner of the box of candy. A lady, who has been an invalid, telephoned Mr. Myers that she had known Judge McNary when a boy, and although she had not seen him for many years, she was sure the picture was the rear view of the judge's head. In the Thursday issue of the Journal, the back view of the head of a prominent state house official will be shown, the one guessing right to also receive a box of candy.

Salem and vicinity certainly has a fine climate compared to Portland. During the month of January, 30 inches of snow fell in Portland, while Salem experienced only 14 inches. And now while we are having pleasant warm rains, the Hood River country is buried under a snowfall of 30 inches.

The Sugarloaf company has dissolved according to the filings at the office of the corporation commissioner. This concern was a lumber company with their head office at Myrtle Point, The Paramount Investment company, limited, of Portland, was incorporated with a capital stock of $5,000.

Sheriff Each warns all taxpayers that no amounts of taxes will be given over the telephone this year under any circumstances as it often results in misunderstanding of the amount and confusion follows. Taxpayers must either call in person or send in a card asking for a statement which will be cheerfully given.

The Spaulding Logging company mill was closed 14 days during the month of January, due entirely to unfavorable weather conditions. The planing mill is running today and the entire mill will be in operation in a day or two, as the present weather conditions are favorable to bringing logs from the mouth of the Luckiamute.

Notwithstanding the unusual weather, the evangelistic meetings in charge of the Rev. Harry E. Marshall at Baker, are meeting with success. Writing to W. F. Foster regarding his meetings, he says: "We are having a great meeting and although it is below zero weather, we are having crowded houses."

The river is rising, this morning registering 7 1/2 feet above low water. This is a rise of 2 1/2 feet since yesterday morning. Those familiar with river conditions do not anticipate a very sudden rise. For the 24 hours ending this morning at 8 o'clock, the gauge at the O. C. T. dock registered a fall of just one-half an inch of rain.

The next meeting of the Six O'clock club of the First Methodist church will be held next Tuesday evening, instead of a week later. At this meeting the day delegates to the national conference of the Methodist church to be held in May at Saratoga, will be called on to state what matters they will bring before this conference. The delegates are Dr. B. L. Steeves, of this city; Mr. Hammer, of Albany and Mr. Hughes, of Portland. Edgar B. Piper, managing editor of the Oregonian, will address the meeting of February 29, and for March 15, L. J. Chapin, formerly county agent, will deliver an address on "The City Man's Garden."

Twenty-two births were recorded in the city of Salem for the month of January, 1916, according to the records of Dr. O. B. Miles, city physician. Of this number only six were males. Five contagious diseases were reported in the city for the month, three of these being scarlet fever. Twenty deaths were reported in the city for the month. This does not include those from the state institutions. Among the older citizens of the city dying in January were Mrs. Leah Hall, aged 81; George W. Smith, aged 73; Thomas Roesebach, aged 77; John P. Case, aged 82; W. G. King, aged 71; James M. Fluke, aged 72; and Mrs. Mary B. Booth, aged 77.

San Francisco May Get Great Shipbuilding Yards

The project, which has been rumored for months, was indicated in a letter from E. T. Chamberlain, deputy United States commissioner of immigration, in his letter Chamberlain asked that an investigation of port ship building facilities be made and forwarded to him not later than February 29.

These questions are taken to indicate that the government's ship building plan, which has been a part of its national program, is to be put into effect.

HOT LEMONADE AND SLEEP STAVE OFF GRIP

Health Commissioner of New York City Sanctions Common Sense Preventive Treatment for Influenza.

How to keep from having the grip when everyone about you is suffering from this aggravating disease and you are beginning to have the symptoms yourself—this is the question that has been uppermost in the minds of hundreds of thousands during the present epidemic.

In an attempt to answer it a representative of the New York Tribune interviewed a large number of prominent physicians and submitted to Health Commissioner Haven Emerson a summary of their advice. The latter put his official O. K. on the following treatment:

Take a cathartic. Then take a brief hot bath to warm up the body and start the blood running freely.

"Drink a large bowl of hot lemonade thoroughly and warmly, even to an extra pillow to protect the head and ears, and get nine hours' sleep.

"If the trouble seems to be chiefly in the throat, wrap the neck in a wet woolen cloth covered by a dry woolen cloth."

The official qualified his recommendation as far as the hot bath part of the treatment is concerned, saying that none should do this unless they were very sure that they would be able to keep themselves perfectly warm during the night and the morning afterward.

But the hot lemonade, the cathartic and the warm sleep stand as the official preventive for the dread disease which is adding from 10 per cent to 40 per cent of the weekly death records in many parts of the country."
