(Capital Journal Special Service.)
Bethel, Ore., Feb. 3.—The mock trial last Friday evening was a winner. The court officers were: Judge, W. R. Baker; clerk of court, E. E. Matthea; sheriff, L. Bauteburg; attorneys for plaintiff, C. D. Page and G. Osborne Swales; attorneys for defendant, John Zak and Paul Baker. The following jurors were drawn and after a thorough examination they were accepted: W. L. Creech, L. Schulz, M. Battalio, Geo. Bahusen, Mrs. E. E. Matthea and Homer Holms. Numerous witnesses for the plaintiff testified to many peculiar acts of the defendant indicating an unbalanced mental condition of the latter. They told of four distinct attempts upon the life of the plaintiff. An important witness for the plaintiff was Dr. E. Schulz, the noted alienist of Bethel. He was said to be a graduate of an osteopathic college in Missouri. The witnesses for the defense told of the good moral character of the defendant and gave testimony to indicate that some of the witnesses for the plaintiff were not in condition to remember what happened on certain occasions about which they testified. Witnesses on both sides were more or less mixed up on cross-examination. After being out only a few minutes the jury reached an unanimous decision on the first ballot and returned a verdict for the plaintiff. The court then appointed Miss Rose Battalio guardian of the person and estate of the defendant with instructions to give the rest cure a trial. After court adjourned the following program was given:
Reading, "The Ups and Downs of Married Life." By C. F. Johnston.
Song, "John Clark and George Matten Reading." "The Coot in the Car."
..... By Harlan Hoffman.
The editor and assistant editor each read a part of the paper, "The Bethel Sun."
There will be no meeting next Friday evening but the Bethel Literary society will give a basket social in the school house Saturday evening, February 5. The committee in charge of the social announce a program and a play. The play is a three act comedy called "A Kentucky Belle." The leading parts are taken by Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Swales, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schulz and Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Baker. Isabelle Douglas, the heroine, falls in love with a common hickman who turns out to be a wealthy author in disguise. They stake their happiness on a horse race and Isabelle's horse "Kentucky Belle" wins the race for them. Colonel McMillan, the stupid old aristocratic suitor for Isabelle's hand also wins a prize by the unique Aunt Miah. Henry and Gladys appear on the scene several times. They furnish much of the comedy. Miss Marie takes a hand and helps the colonel to find a happy ending to his love affair. The hickman falls in love with the hero. At his request they sign the pledge and promise to be good boys forever and ever. The foregoing is only a brief outline of a few of the most important parts. The play must be seen to be appreciated. Every one is cordially invited to attend the social and the ladies are requested to please bring baskets.
There was a debate in the school last Friday afternoon on the question, "Resolved, That the horse is more useful than the automobile." Walter Vanderbeck, Albert Vanderbeck and Hubert Livingston were the speakers on the affirmative. Walter Hain, Elmer Roth and Herman Doney spoke for the negative. The decision was for the negative.
Mr. A. L. Sundborg has lost a fresh cow. Last Thursday she got loose in the barn and found her way out chop and on Sunday she died.

Pupils Receive Credits For Taking Regular Baths

(B. United Press.)
Willows, Cal., Feb. 3.—No longer do the boys of Glenn county schools protest violently at taking their regular Saturday night bath. No longer do the girls moan and complain because tired mother calls on them to wash the dishes. The family hindling is being split with regularity and dispatch and the coal box is always full.
This near-millennium for the housewife is the result of the system established by S. M. Chaney, superintendent of the county schools, of giving credits to pupils for activities outside of the classroom, especially their home activities. The system has been in operation for six months and still is in the experimental stage, but it has accomplished more than its inventor ever dreamed it would. Prof. Chaney outlined these results in a statement for the United Press today, which follows:
"In the installation of the method of allowing credits for outside activities, I had in mind several purposes. Perhaps the greatest benefit we expected to derive from the plan was to bring into closer relationship the home and the school.
"By this method we hoped to get the teacher more interested in what the pupils were doing at home, and likewise to get the parents to understand a little better what was being done at school. Another idea was to impress upon pupils the importance and dignity of labor.
"I find more good coming from this method than I had hoped. When the boys and girls find that the teacher is really interested in what they do at home and talks to them about many seemingly little things connected with their home life, they begin to regard their teacher as a friend. Thus the possibilities of that teacher are increased many fold.
"Then the boy or girl who finds it almost impossible to learn things that are in books, and who are sometimes

SURE WAY TO GET RID OF DANDRUFF

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.
By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.
You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.
You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

OFFICERS TO BE TRIED

Washington, Feb. 3.—Lieutenant Herbert Jones, commander of the reserve torpedo flotilla and Ensign Robert Kirkpatrick, navigation officers, were ordered court-martialed today because of the loss or theft of a navy department secret code book from the destroyer Hull.
Jones was in command, and Kirkpatrick next in command of the Hull at Mare Island navy yard when the book disappeared.
Navy officials admitted today that if the code book had fallen into foreign hands, it might prove more than merely embarrassing, even in peace times.
