BASEBALL LEADERS THINK OUTLOOK GOOD

Annual Meeting of National League Is Now On In New York

New York, Feb. 8.—The best baseball year in recent history of the national game is at hand, according to the opinion of magnates who gathered here today for the continuation of the annual meeting of the National League.

Where the club owners a year ago were forced to discuss only "war measures" against the Federal league all was serenity and optimism today because of the recent ending of the baseball war. The spirit of trading was in the air everywhere in the lobby of the Waldorf hotel before the magnates went into formal session there. The demise of the Federal league has released a whole flock of players of the first order of talent and newly every club was "loaded up" with material for effecting advantageous trades.

Principal topics of discussion aside from the trade, were the drafting rules and the rule limiting the number of players on each outfit to 25. It is expected that the present session will also raise the player limit to 25, in order to give each team an opportunity to take care of some of the Federal league players.

At the annual banquet at the Waldorf tonight, the magnates will celebrate the fortieth anniversary of the organization of the National league but these festivities have been subordinated to the more serious business of the day.

The new club owners took their place with the National league magnates for the first time today. They are Percy D. Haughton, new president of the Boston club, and Charles Weeghman, owner of the reorganized Chicago Cubs.

BOU FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

Portland, Ore., Feb. 8.—Eddie O'Connell, wrestling instructor at the Multnomah club and Walter Miller, of St. Paul, will settle the question of mid-weight supremacy in Portland February 29. Miller is hailed as middle-weight champion in the east. He came to Portland especially to get a match with O'Connell.

The weight for the match is 158 pounds, but both men will probably weigh five or six pounds less than this.

Settle Question Tonight.

Portland, Ore., Feb. 8.—Whether Portland's ice hockey team will take part in the world's championship series will be determined tonight in a game with Vancouver on the local ice.

By winning tonight's game Portland will practically clinch the championship. On the other hand, if Vancouver wins only one game will separate the two teams for the leadership.

Competition for the individual scoring record is practically keen with "Cyclone" Taylor of Vancouver, and Charley Tobin of Portland, close together.

Outfielder Cost $6,000.

New York, Feb. 8.—It cost the New York Giants $6,000 to get the services of Eddie Rousch, Federal league outfielder, it was announced today by President Harry Hempstead, who was one of the brightest stars of the Federal league, played with the Newark Federals last year.

Replies Are Received To Letters Sent Out

Business houses as well as many individuals are receiving replies to their letters written during the letter writing week.

W. M. Hamilton, president of the commercial club received this reply from a friend in St. Louis:

"While Oregon is not new to me, I appreciate very much your invitation to consider Oregon as a recreation ground for my next vacation period. I have passed some very pleasant days in Oregon, sufficient each time to create a desire to spend more time in your state."

Hauser Bros. received this reply from a friend in St. Paul who had been invited to come out and see:

"If you have literature in regard to Oregon, I shall be glad to have you mail it to me. I am always looking for a better place than I had last year." Let L. Pearce has a friend in Chicago who appreciates a real boosting letter from Oregon. He writes as follows:

"The way merchants in Oregon are calling attention to the beauties of their state and the cordial invitations they are extending, is the best piece of advertising the writer has seen for some time and should bring results."

The letter sent by the Imperial Fur Co. struck a responsive chord at Bay City, Michigan. The reply reads:

"I have been out in your country and know something of its attractiveness, and I want to tell you, if I were foot loose, and free to do so, I would be out there helping you to build up the state."

F. S. Barton found a friend at Schenectady, N. Y., who does not need much urging. He writes:

"Your letter sounds very summer like to us in New York. I am familiar with your part of the country and was favorably impressed on both my visits."

Zerolene that gets into the explosion chamber doesn't "split up" into gummy, carbon-forming deposits, but after completing its efficient work, is consumed and passes out on exhaust.

COURT HOUSE NEWS

Ina Larson, the 18 year-old girl of Quincy, who recently attracted some attention by efforts to secure her release from the Girls' Industrial school, has filed a suit in the circuit court against County Judge W. M. Bushy and Mrs. F. M. Hopkins, matron of the school, asking $5,000 damages for being deprived of her liberty. She alleges in her complaint that she was sent to the girls' school October 8, 1915, where she was detained for 60 days. She says she was held in restraint by iron bars and locked doors and that she was not permitted to talk about her relatives to her parents when they came to visit her. Then she says that for punishment about October 25 she was compelled to maintain silence and not allowed to talk to the other girls and she considers herself damaged in the sum of $5,000. She alleges further that the order for her confinement was not issued until November 13 and that it was stated in the order that it was made in November and that through an error the order was not entered on the court journal on October 8.

The Larson girl was committed to the school upon a complaint of her father, according to Judge Bushy and attorneys had been there some time she was said to have aided some girls to escape from the institution and was being punished for this when her parents appeared to the board of control for her release. Mrs. Hopkins opposed the release of the girl at this time but a short time later she was sent home to her parents. Pogue & Page are attorneys for the plaintiff.

Owing to the snow which has covered the ground for the past month little road work has been done and the road and highway warrants for January total but $1,211.42, which is the record for the smallest amount since the business of the county has grown to its present proportions. The general warrants total $7,975.71 for January.

J. P. Smith has brought suit against Robert Hornbeck alleging that the defendant wrongfully withheld possession of 40 acres of land in this county and he demands restitution of the land and $2,000 damages. McNary & McNary are attorneys for the plaintiff.

An inventory and appraisal filed in the probate court today in the estate of Joseph Pery shows that the estate consists of real property to the value of $1,400 and personal property to the value of $355. L. H. Grassman, N. P. Strain and John L. Wood were the appraisers.

There was no court today in department No. 1 of the circuit court as Judge Kelly has cleaned up the docket of cases to be tried before a jury with the exception of the Stool damage case which will be argued before the jury during the latter part of this week. Three of the juryman have been ill but it is expected that they will soon be able to attend to their court duties. Judge Kelly will hear two cases without a jury. All other cases have been continued until the April term and the jury discharged.

Today was naturalization day in Judge Galloway's department of the circuit court and Rev. James Elvin delivered a patriotic address to the applicants. The following were examined by Naturalization Examiner Hazard: Fred Lorenz, Shaw; Alfred George Mercer, Mackay and Salem; Frederick W. Bartels, Silverton; Albert Hanbman, Gervais; Matthew Honken, Woodburn; Robert M. Strand, Silverton; Louis Cromer, Salem; Anton Ruder, Mt. Angel; Finlay Edison Peterson, Salem; Gustav Muml, Salem; Rasmus Anderson, Jefferson; Stephen Bauman, Woodburn; Charles John Cook, Salem; Claude Percy Shade, Silverton; Stephen R. Seifer, Mt. Angel; James Shipp, Salem; August George Carl, Salem; Henry George Carl, Salem.
