

URIC ACID IN MEAT BRINGS RHEUMATISM

Says a Little Salts In Water May Save You From Dread Attack

Rheumatism is easier to avoid than to cure, states a well-known authority. We are advised to dress warmly; keep the feet dry; avoid exposure; eat less meat, but drink plenty of good water.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week.

Old Timers Recall Real Flood in Salem

The flood yesterday with its 20 feet above low water mark is not much of a flood, according to the old timers in Salem who remember the floods of 1890 and 1891.

In 1890, the Dan J. Fry warehouse on Front street, between Trade and Perry, was just on the edge of the river bank and during the flood of that year, steamboats tied up to a maple tree standing in front of the warehouse.

This was also the year that the bridge was washed out. During that flood, the bank water came up on Mill creek as far as Twelfth street and the city around Oak and Winter streets was a lake.

The high water caused some of the neighbors on the bottom to get a big move on to get their stock on higher and "comparatively" drier ground.

School matters are again a little exciting in the district and are causing an exchange of views.

DON'T SUFFER—LAUGH AT STOMACH MISERY

Daniel J. Fry Will Return the Money If Mi-o-na Does Not Relieve Dyspepsia.

Among all the remedies in Daniel J. Fry's popular drug store, there are few that he is willing to sell on a guarantee to refund the money if they do not cure.

Mi-o-na, the famous dyspepsia remedy has helped so many of his customers that Daniel J. Fry says, "If this remedy does not relieve you, come back to my store and I will cheerfully return your money."

Anyone who has dyspepsia, indigestion, headaches, dizzy feelings or liver troubles, should take advantage of this chance to be made well without any risk of spending their money to no purpose.

Mi-o-na will relieve you, will regulate the digestion, will enable you to eat what you want. If it does not do all this it will not cost you a cent.

Daniel J. Fry has sold hundreds of boxes of Mi-o-na in the last few weeks and has not received the first complaint from any customer. Such a record is simply marvellous and speaks volumes for the merit of the remedy.

It is easy enough to fill a column with the symptoms afflicting those who have dyspepsia, but there is no need of describing their condition. What they want is relief and they can get it in Mi-o-na. Do not suffer a day longer with disordered digestion. If Mi-o-na relieves you it costs you 50 cents a box, if it does not, you have Daniel J. Fry's personal guarantee to return your money.

Lowest Paved Street at High and Ferry

The lowest paved street in the city is at the intersection of High and Ferry, where according to the city engineer's records, the street is 25.55 feet above low water mark.

The river gauge of low water and the city gauge differ, the river gauge being 2.65 feet lower. Hence according to the city engineer's figures, a river gauge of 38 feet would have to be reached before water would cross High and Ferry streets, just in the rear of the Electric dept.

According to the city engineer's records, Commercial street is 41 feet above the city's low water mark. Trade street at Front, is 40 feet above, Perry and Front is 45 feet, State and Perry 45 feet, Court and Front 44 feet, and Chemsick and Front 43 feet above low water mark.

According to the river gauge, the water would have to be exactly 2.65 feet above these records before reaching the streets.

The flood of 1909 brought the water 31.2 feet above zero, bringing it up into the Spaulding Lumber Co.'s yard. As the yard has been filled in about a foot, the water would have to reach a gauge of 32 feet before covering any part of the yard.

Duett, "She Sang Aloha to Me" . . . Mrs. D. Fidler and Mrs. J. Lanford

Mr. Mygatt gave his views on current topics including "Preparedness" and was given a good hearing. The paper was read by Earl Sharp. The debate "Resolved, That Edison has done more for humanity than Burbank" was discussed by the younger members of the society and was won by the negative side led by Fred Davenport. George Brown leading the affirmative side.

The debate for Friday will be "Resolved, That a spendthrift is a bigger detriment to the country than a miser." A number of young people met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Ekin on Saturday evening. Dancing was the event of the evening and was kept up till a late hour, all having a good time.

Those present were: Joe Kaufman, Henry Kaufman, Walter Bowman, Louis Salehberg, Bert Long, Claud Edwards, Calvin Bressler, Noble Hemmingson, Albin Hemmingson, William Doyle, Lee Taylor, Matthew Ringwald, Joe Ringwald, Arthur Zielke, Leonard Zielke, Earl Sharp, Roy Sharp, George Brown, Hazel Ekin, Pearl Ekin, Jessie Ekin, Mabel Ekin, Dollie Dutton, Mary Bargett, Mary Doyle, Mr. and Mrs. C. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. J. Lanford, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Higgins, Mr. and Mrs. C. Ekin.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bressler are rejoicing over the arrival of a seven-pound baby girl in their home. The ferry belonging to Mr. John Mather was carried down the river some time during Sunday night.

The horse belonging to Mrs. G. W. Coalgate died on Sunday night. Rev. W. Nichol began revival meetings at the church on Monday evening and will continue two weeks.

G. F. Higgins is busy installing an electric lighting system in his home. The high water caused some of the neighbors on the bottom to get a big move on to get their stock on higher and "comparatively" drier ground.

WILLAMETTE NOTES

Prof. C. S. Sherman, head of the department of education, gave an interesting lecture on "The Mission of Education" in the chapel of Waller hall last night. A large crowd was present, despite the number of other attractions at last evening.

The crying need of Willamette university and other colleges is the assumption of the individual student of intellectual responsibility. The professor's address showed the work of years in the working out of details, and was a masterful production.

Some of the ideas presented in the paper were: Education is a preparation for complete living, it should strive to produce a sound body, a sane mind and the ability to make an honest living.

Education should aim to conserve, develop and exalt the three things—morally, mentally and spiritually, that man may attain his highest ideals. Any experience which will have future actions, mentally, morally or spiritually, educates.

Education must interpret the environment, the educator must control it, and the individual adjust himself to it; therefore put into the environment what you desire in the individual.

Theologians and men of letters may say that education has been overestimated from a scientific standpoint, but I must reply in the negative. Science is a constant struggle against ignorance. Progress consists of making mistakes, then recognizing and correcting them.

Professor Sherman then considered the mission of education from four other standpoints, namely: Physical, intellectual, moral and religious development.

Physical education is of great importance in maintaining health, on which depends the welfare of mind and body. Play is the most important form of physical education, being a rehearsal of certain tendencies. Children mimic and entertain everything in nature.

Intellectual education has for its aim the development of truth, goodness and duty. It has two factors: Permanency, the nucleus of dogmatism; and criticism, the nucleus of change.

These facts cause intellectual education to pass through three steps: Dogmatism, skepticism and criticism. Moral education is the first in the point of importance. Moral ideas lead to moral actions, and morals are conduct.

Disposition is the climate of the soul. Whatever is desired in the child must be found in the parent. In sex education there are three steps: Intellectual attainment of facts. Emotional states of mind; spiritualizing of sex knowledge.

Religious education should be largely taught in the Sunday school rather than the public school. It aims to cultivate a sense of responsibility, and an altruistic nature. Religion is an emotion guided by thought and words, and in action. It is a matter of contagion which appeals to the feelings and emotions.

Vocational education is becoming an important subject, and should be so for it is the duty of the state to do it. It can be for its individual members to teach them a trade; consequently the manual training departments in high schools are in the right direction of progress.

Action and effort are two important necessities in education and are fundamental to the attainment of knowledge. Mr. Bover, a former minister of Salem, but more recently returned from a two years' sojourn in Nome, Alaska, where he was a missionary to the Eskimoes, spoke in channel this morning to the student body and faculty.

His talk was largely historical and was listened to attentively by all, as he presented his subject in such an interesting manner. He stated that in Alaska one can see more scenic beauty in three months than could be seen in a period of three years in Europe.

He gave several short descriptions of native life in Alaska, and also showed a number of relics which he had collected, some of which are of great value.

The basketball game to be played between W. U. and the U. of Idaho, will be played on Friday evening at the Willamette gym, instead of Saturday as scheduled. Idaho is touring through Oregon.

The freshman class challenged the three upper classes yesterday to enter a glee contest to be held March 10. Each class must write the words and music for the song and every member must aid in its rendition.

The annual freshman glee is a well established event and has been the cause of a number of good Willamette songs to be written such as few schools have. Each class will put forth every effort to win the contest as a large pecuniary is given the winner.

As yet, it has not been decided where to hold the contest, the chapel is too small to accommodate the crowd that attends, and the armory is perhaps the best location as yet considered.

The Websterian program for this evening has for its main consideration, a debate on "Resolved, That President Wilson's preparatory policy should be adopted." The negative will be upheld by Messrs. Hall and Piegel, while the affirmative will be defended by Gary and King. Afterwards the newly elected officers will furnish "entertainment" to the assembled crowd.

Tomorrow will be set aside as a day of prayer for colleges and no classes will be held. Instead the classes will assemble in designated rooms at 9:00 o'clock and hold prayer services until the regular chapel time when Dr. Chas. Bowen, of Seattle, Washington, will address the students. He will also deliver an address this evening at 7:00 in Waller chapel.

Prof. Joan O. Hall gave a very interesting talk this morning in chapel on the temple of the human body. Free will is the greatest power of the individual and it should be controlled; for thought produces action, action forms habits, habits make character, and character forms destiny.

UNION SETS WANTED IN CARLOAD LOTS

Markets For Product Only Obtained by Large Pool of Growers

Here is a chance for a local co-operative market association, or some kind of an association that could collect the small amounts of produce from the farmers and ship in carload lots.

Several farmers living in the vicinity of Salem, have recently been in conference with manager O. H. Luck, of the commercial club, with reference to the sale of onion sets. The farmers wanted to know if there was a market and what price would be offered.

Mr. Luck at once entered into correspondence with several of the largest seed houses in Chicago, and received by return mail answers from all firms written, stating they were in the market for onion sets, but in order to secure favorable freight rates, could use them only in car lots, about 30,000 pounds.

The W. W. Barnard Seed Co., of Chicago, wrote they were in the market for large lots and suggested that samples of onion sets be mailed them, with prices. Favorable replies were received from Peter Hollenbeck Seed company, Chicago, and the Leonard Seed company, Chicago.

From the correspondence received by Mr. Luck, he was of the opinion there would be no difficulty in selling onion sets, provided shipments could be made of large enough size to interest the larger buyers. The big buyers want car load shipments.

All of which, according to the opinions of several who are interested, indicate that the problem is not so much markets, as the proposition of getting the products of the valley together and shipping them in lots that will be interesting to the big buyers in the east.

"Nutrition Expert" For State Institutions

Sacramento, Cal., Feb. 10.—After a 6 months try-out of the plan to have a nutrition expert prescribe the diet for the 10,000 inmates of state institutions—prisons, insane hospitals, etc.—the state board of control is today of the opinion that the idea is a splendid one.

Dr. M. E. Jaffa, professor in chemistry in the University of California, was selected as nutrition expert. Of Dr. Jaffa's work, John F. Neylan, chairman of the board of control says: "The plan has already resulted in not only introducing a variety of the diet, but has increased the palatability and has conclusively demonstrated that this sort of supervision results in economy in the food being made attractive and being consumed by the inmates with a much less loss due to waste."

Body Floating in Bay

Oakland, Cal., Feb. 10.—The body of the man found floating in the estuary at the foot of Fallon street early yesterday has been identified as Thomas Kenny, a Folsom street saloonkeeper, living in San Francisco. Kenny, who identified the body this morning, disappeared from his home on January 9. She could give no reason for his disappearance or suicide. Kenny was 35 years of age. His body, which was found by James Brewster, an employe of the Santa Fe, has been in the water ten days.
