TOP NOTCH BOXERS MATCHED FOR SMOKER HERE NEXT FRIDAY
W U AND SALEM HIGH EACH PLAY TONIGHT
Idaho University and Ashland High School Invade Salem for Contests

Some of Cleverest Boys on the Coast Will Appear In This City
Bobby Evans and Al Summers arrived in Salem today to make preparations to pull off a smoker in this city Friday evening, February 18. Evans is the manager of Summers, a light heavy weight boxer and of Billy Mascott, a lightweight, who has won decisions over some of the cleverest boxers on the coast.

Summers will meet Parslow, of Portland, a heavy handed boxer who starts the show with the tax of the gang, and the two boxers of the same type are expected to put up a rattling exhibition of the many art. Billy Mascott, who is matched with Ping Bodie, is rated one of the top notchers of his division on the coast and is slated to box Jimmy Fox in Portland as the main event of the Rose City smoker next Tuesday.

Mascott, Summers and Evans will make Salem their headquarters and will take up their residence here if their smokers draw the proper support. The success of the two smokers that were pulled off here recently showed that the sports of Salem would patronize a good, clean boxing show, and although the houses were small, it attracted the attention of Salem residents who like athletics of any kind and who believe that Salem is entitled to a better class of boxers than appeared here in the other two smokers.

Accordingly some of the best Portland talent was advised to include this city in their circuit as it is believed that the Salem fans will turn out in goodly numbers for a healthy boxing show under the management of honest promoters who will seek to put the game on a sound basis rather than to fatten their purses with a shady exhibition. The bouts will be of short duration, six to eight rounds, and police officers will be at the ring side to stop any bout that becomes one-sided. No knockouts will be allowed and heavy boxing gloves will be used in all of the events.

The bouts will be staged in Ryan Hall where a boxing arena will be fitted up. The boys are training for their coming exhibition in the vacant building next door to Klett's billiard parlors which was fitted up for the dressing quarters for the baseball team last summer and is being remodelled for a small downtown gymnasium where the boys will hold their workouts which will be open to the public.

Silent Kexter, the mite boxer who won the admiration of the boxing fans at the last smoker by his work against Muff Bronson will be matched with a Portland boxer who has the same style of boxing and the pair should put up an animated set-to.

WELLS, C. W. BECKETT, County Commissioners.

Garrison Quits Job As Secretary of War

Militia Against Him.
In the first place, Garrison favored putting militia officers under a national board to test their efficiency. A convention of militiamen at San Francisco, however, rejected this plan; and later it was learned that Hay supported their course, and also desired to establish a militia pay system through his bill. Garrison, however, regarded such an idea as an unwise spoils system of politics.

The secretary's second objection was that the militia is governed from 46 different state centers with as many different standards of efficiency. Garrison wanted the whole military system directed from Washington. He did not plan to eliminate the militia nor to substitute the continental army plan for it. But he did believe that his plan for 400,000 volunteers, controlled from Washington, would attract young men who would not join the militia. He planned to enlist 133,000 yearly for three years and to train them under regular army officers in summer camps near their homes. They were to receive the pay of regulars.

He estimated the cost at $45,000,000 annually, while the militia would have been maintained as at present, but as a separate institution. The militia, however, thought that the plan encroached on the reserves, and they found in Chairman Hay a thorough opponent of the continental plan.

Plan Was a Sham.
Washington, Feb. 11.—"Secretary Garrison's resignation will have no effect on congress." This was the comment today of Chairman James Hay of the house military committee, whose plans for national defense Garrison characterized as a mockery.

While Hay would not discuss questions and disputes between himself and Garrison, he declared that the house military committee will continue with its own plan of army re-organization. "Congress is the legislative branch of the government," said Hay. "I give due consideration to suggestions and proposals of the executive branch but reserves the right to decide finally on the military program."

Hay intimated that the continental army plan Garrison had fostered is definitely and finally shelved. Referring to the secretary's statement that federalization of the military is a sham and a mockery, Hay observed: "General Wood said the continental plan is a sham and a stop gap." Hay did not know that the dispute over the continental plan had reached such a serious stage as to cause the secretary's resignation, but he expressed the view that the move would not injure the general preparedness program.

"The committee," he said, "will bring out a bill satisfactory to the administration and congress, and with real progress for preparedness. We conclude hearings on the army and militia organization bill, and I hope to have it out within a fortnight."

Has Quit Politics.
New York, Feb. 11.—Declaring he had retired from politics, former Secretary of War Garrison, resigned, said today he could not conceive of taking the stump against President Wilson.

Garrison received newspaper men at the home of his host, George Lenay, on Fifth avenue, this afternoon. "Get it out of your heads that my action in resigning was political," he said. "I am going to find some place where I can pursue my vocation or vacation, support myself and my wife and lay by a little for the future."

"I am out of politics. I am not a candidate for the governorship of New Jersey and would not accept it if I were handed an election certificate. "I have no plans except to resume my profession (the law), and I refuse to think of any subject pertaining to the administration. I have retired from politics absolutely."

He said he had talked with Breckinridge before resigning, but with no one else; and he had no knowledge that any one else is contemplating resigning.

Why Breckinridge Quit.
Washington, Feb. 11.—In a statement prepared for the United Press today, Assistant Secretary of War Breckinridge, resigned, said his objection to building the nation's military policy upon the militia system is "fundamental and not to be compromised."

WOMEN SHOULD GET THIS HABIT AS WELL AS MEN

Don't Eat Bite of Breakfast Until You Drink Glass of Hot Water
Happy, bright, alert—vigorous and vivacious—a good clear skin; a natural, rosy complexion and freedom from illness are assured only by clean, healthy blood. If only every woman and likewise every man could realize the wonders of the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place.

Instead of the thousands of sickly, anemic-looking men, women and girls with puffy or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "rundowns," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking, each morning before breakfast, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds; and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside. Because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.

A HEBREW IN THE PULPIT
Next Sunday afternoon at the First Presbyterian church Joseph Cohen, a Christian Jew will speak.

Just now the Jew is occupying much thought over the entire world, and particularly in the United States. There are over 1,300,000 Jews in New York City alone. More Jews than Jerusalem had in its palmiest days. Mr. Cohen is the son of the famous ex-Rabbi Cohen who gave up a synagogue in Europe and came to New York City to work among his people. He has founded a remarkable mission and is doing a great work.

Mr. Cohen will tell the thrilling experience of his father's conversion, of his struggles, and of his present work. He will also tell something of the present conditions of the Jew. His hopes, his customs and his possibilities.

Mr. Cohen is a most attractive and interesting speaker, and is regarded as one of the foremost of his race on the American platform today.

To hear a Christian Jew discuss Christianity from a Jewish standpoint will be interesting indeed.

He will address a mass meeting, to which all the churches have been invited, Sunday afternoon, at 2:30, at the First Presbyterian church. Everybody is invited and no one should miss this opportunity to hear him.

Two Big Games This Week.
Two of the biggest basketball games ever staged in Dallas will be played in the Armory this week between the local team and teams from the University of Idaho and Whitman College on Thursday and Friday evenings. The local squad have been hard at work for the past ten days and with the guarantee that several of the old basketball players will be on hand in their fighting tops to help the boys out should they get in a pinch they feel confident of winning both games.

To Manufacture Irons.
An effort is being made by Dr. Butler of Independence, president of the Adjustable Electric Socket company to have a few delinquent shareholders of the concern pay up their delinquent assessments so that the company will be in a condition to begin the manufacture of electric flintless at an early date. Dr. Butler estimates that there are enough parts on hand at the factory in this city for the manufacture of at least 30,000 irons and that a ready market can be found for the finished product is the belief of the officers of the company. The electric socket, for the manufacture of which the company was originally organized, has been dropped and all efforts will be made to boost the electric iron.

LaCroce Club to Incorporate.
At a meeting of the LaCroce club held in the club rooms Sunday a vote was taken which resulted in the incorporation of the club. The question of incorporation was discussed at
