WHAT'S IN A NAME?

Dopetown, Ind., Feb. 19.—Mike Flannery, who drives a delivery wagon for the Cut Rate store, was arrested today charged with extreme cruelty to animals. Jake Schultz, proprietor of the Cut Rate, bought an old white rack of bones for Flannery to drive. Flannery shocked everybody on Main street this morning by nearly beating the poor brute to death, accompanying the beating with a line of Celtic calumny that is said to have been both scientific and gorgeous. It developed at the hearing in court this afternoon that Mike was not altogether to blame. It seems that Schultz, with an eye to quick delivery service with an old horse, gave Mike a new whip and told him the horse's name was William of Orange, called Bill for short. Justice O'Flynn heard the case against Flannery and fined Schultz $50.

Marquis Wheat For the Northwest

By Prof. Thos. Shaw. This wheat has done so very well in the American Northwest since its introduction that the farmers in those areas should give much heed to the claims made for it. It first came prominently into public notice at the Dry Farming Congress held at Lethbridge, Alta, Canada, in 1912. It excelled all other varieties shown, both in yield and quality, and was awarded highest honors at the exhibit held in connection with the congress. Since that time it has been grown in various areas in the Northwestern states, and the results obtained have generally been of a gratifying character.

It has been grown under the direction of the writer in various places since that time, and some of the results obtained should prove interesting. The work was conducted more especially under the direct supervision of my assistant, Mr. E. A. Wilson. It was grown at Elgin, N. L., in 1913, 1914 and 1915, and also some other places. In 1913 the yield on the Elgin Demonstration Farm was 19 bushels while the average from other wheat in the vicinity was 9 bushels. In 1914 the yield at Elgin was 33 bushels against 17 of Blue Stem grown under similar conditions. All the Marquis grown on the experiment farm at Elgin in 1914 was sold for seed to farmers in that part of Dakota. In 1915 at Elgin the yield was 36 bushels against 23 of Blue Stem. At Halliday and Golden Valley the yields were 44 and 38 bushels, respectively, for the Marquis. The nineteen farmers near Elgin obtained an average of 19 bushels in 1915, against an average of 13 and 15 of Blue Stem and Red Fife, respectively. The great value of this wheat viewed from the standpoint of yield is not to be questioned.

Good reports are also received regarding its behavior in Montana and places farther west, but those areas are not so distinctively in the spring wheat belt, hence the growth of Marquis is not so important relatively, as in Western Dakota. Where we tried it in Central Oregon, the results were encouraging.

This wheat is characterized by several excellent properties among which are the following: (1) It matures from 5 to 10 days earlier than other wheat. This tends to protect it from the adverse influences of injury from hot winds and drought. (2) It does not shatter nearly so readily as Blue Stem or Red Fife during the harvesting process. This is true of it even when over-ripe. (3) The straw is shorter and stiffer than that of Blue Stem, hence in a dry year it suffers less from drought and in a wet year it suffers less from lodging. In one of our experiments near Prineville in Central Oregon in 1913, the yield was 10 bushels per acre against 4 bushels of the variety usually grown there, though produced under the same conditions. The summer that year was abnormally dry at Prineville. (4) It does not rust nearly so readily as Blue Stem. This was shown very clearly in 1915 in southwestern Dakota, in crops grown under similar conditions. (5) It is fully equal to if not superior to the Blue Stem and Red Fife in its milling properties.

In dry areas the rate of seeding should be about 4 pecks per acre, and it is very important that the seed should be sown early and preferably on corn land. If sown on stubble from fall plowed land, if spring plowed, the work should be done quite early and the land should then be plowed as soon as plowed. On loose soils the aim should be to sow the seed with a press drill, burying it to the depth of 2 to 3 inches. Those who intend to sow this variety of wheat should secure the seed in ample time.

A RUBBER SPECULATION.

New York, Feb. 18.—Mrs. Elise Behroeder of Berlin and Heinrich Bazman, a Swiss, were indicted today by the federal grand jury charged with trying to ship rubber to Germany under the guise of personal luggage. It is alleged they hoped to make a big profit, as rubber costing 85 cents a pound here brings $10 in Germany.

WAR NEWS OF ONE YEAR AGO TODAY

Italy's Chamber of Deputies sidestepped a discussion of its foreign policy regarding Austria. Several Dardanelles forts were silenced by British and French naval bombardments. The Germans retreated at Osozetz, East Prussia, suffering heavy losses. A mutiny of Hindu troops at Singapore was quelled after 11 English men and women were killed.

John Mitchell Gilliam of Seattle, Washington, was in Dallas, Thursday to attend the reunion of the famous old base ball team which was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Fenton that evening. Resides Judge Gilliam the other members of the team who were present at the reunion were: D. L. Key, H. R. Cooper, C. G. Coad, J. L. Farley, C. E. Shaw, John Richardson and H. L. Fenton. The above team won fame in the Willamette Valley in 1852 when a base ball tournament was held in this city and was won by the "Alerts." The dining room of the Fenton home was decorated with pennants used in that year and other base ball paraphernalia used by the team.

TALE OF THE DOLLAR BILL

A farmer went to town to spend Some of his hard earned dough, And in a merry jest, and just To show his printing skill, He printed his initial on A brand new dollar bill. He went at the village store, He thought 'twas gone forever then And he'd see it no more; But long before the year rolled by One day he went to fill A neighbor's order, and received That same one dollar bill. Once more he spent that dollar bill In his own neighborhood, Where it would do himself and friend The most amount of good. Four times in two years it came back As some had pennies will, And each time he'd go out and spend His marked one dollar bill. Had he been wise that dollar might Be in his town today, But just two years ago He sent it far away. The people who received it then I know have got it still. For 'twas to a mail order house He sent his dollar bill. No more will that marked dollar Come into the farmer's hands, And nevermore will help to pay The taxes on his lands. He put it where it never can, Its work of life fulfilled, He brought about a living death Of that one dollar bill.—Floater.

WANTS NEW YORK ENGINEERING CORPS FOR DEFENSE

(By United Press.) Albany, N. Y., Feb. 19.—State engineers are interested today in High way Commissioner Duffy's efforts to organize a New York engineering corps. The professional knowledge of the members would be available for national defense. Both Governor Whitman and his military secretary, Captain Spencer, are backing the movement. "There is a great need for men of experience in work of this character, who are will-
