

Margaret Mason Writes of Gotham Fads and Fashions

By Margaret Mason.

The maid of sports is out of sorts. With her erstwhile silk sweater; she now just dotes on Jersey coats.

New York, Feb. 18.—If little Miss Up-to-the-Minute had to appear on the golf course today in anything so passe as a sweater her putting would undoubtedly turn to pointing.

It couldn't possibly serve her in a tennis game and in a sweater in a motor she'd never be in style. To be smart when she goes in a boat she must go in a coat. It's a case of off with the old love of a sweater and on with the new love of a silk Jersey coat.

This is the answer why the lovely sweaters of last year are now offered to the not too finicky dressers for $4.98 at the February sales.

These new Jersey sport coats come in solid colors or stripes in all the popular shades and may be either silk or wool Jersey to suit your taste or your pocket books.

They all are loose fitting and hip length. One stunning model has a yoke in front and back and an odd belt like two belts, one above the other and cuffs made of two deep bands to shape the belt. The rolling collar is a white detachable one.

Another plain toned coat has regular sleeves with deep cuffs, deep square collar and the belt, to which the coat is shirred in the back, turns into sash ends in front.

A striped model has a deep collar and reveals a wide belt, patch pockets and set-in sleeves. It is trimmed in novelty buttons of white centered in the same color as the stripe in the coat. A smart wool Jersey coat is shirred on two cords at the belt line in the back and has sash in front. It has that new note of the season, the cape collar and patch pockets shirred across the top.

As regards pockets, a mention of them in a description of any feminine garment will soon be superfluous as they are featured on frocks, coats, suits, skirts, and blouses in reckless profusion and construction. Entire sport suits of the Jersey cloth are even more chic than the separate coats.

One striking one of white has a deep double cape collar of red Jersey with a red band around the bottom of the coat and red cuffs.

These cape collars by the way are to be worn on our shoulders outside the field of sports and along with poplins and pockets add the 1916 touches to all our new suits and frocks. As for the material in which they are developed it is no other than Jersey cloth.

So you see whether you be a true sportswoman or not you are bound to be a sporty and sport the fabrics and features first made for the sport maid.

Mrs. Propp was attended by the groom's sister, Miss Leona Propp. Fred Propp, a brother of the groom, acted as best man. A dainty color scheme of white and green, made an attractive foil for the bridal party which entered the room at the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by Miss Bertina Propp. The Rev. H. W. Gross officiated.

Following the ceremony a wedding supper was served.

The wedding was a small affair and only the immediate family was invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Propp will make their home near Parshall, North Dakota.

THE LATE NATHAN STEELE

Astoria To Have Terminal Rates Same as Seattle

findings, "Astoria cannot develop into a great port while this rate relationship continues and the general relationship of Seattle, Tacoma and Astoria makes it clear that Astoria is subjected to an unfair rate burden.

The commission deems that Portland will later ask for lower rates to the Inland Empire than Astoria's, because it is 100 miles nearer, but says that reduction of the Portland rate does not necessarily follow as an inevitable consequence of the reduction now ordered.

The decision was delivered by Commissioner Harlan.

Astoria in Gala Attire

Astoria, Ore., Feb. 19.—The city of Astoria donned holiday garb today on receipt of United Press dispatches, saying that the interstate commerce commission rendered a favorable decision in the famous rate case.

The removal of the discriminatory rates eliminates the last obstacle in the way of Astoria becoming one of the leading Pacific coast ports.

Two things heretofore have stood in the way of Astoria's growth as a port. The first was the Columbia river bar. That has disappeared. The second was discriminatory rates. Ships didn't stop at Astoria because it cost more to bring cargoes to the wharves than it did at Seattle, Tacoma and Portland. The city protested in 1909. The commission decided against Astoria, then in 1913 another complaint was filed. The taking of evidence began June 29, 1914. The commission took the case under advisement in October, 1914.

OREGON EDUCATOR UPHELD

University of Oregon, Eugene, Ore., Feb. 19.—Development of Oregon's institutions of higher education was not rapid until the last few years; yet the state has contributed considerably to the faculties of colleges and universities.

Of the University of Oregon alone 47 graduates hold instructional or other positions on the staffs of degree-granting institutions.

Some of the institutions are University of Washington, University of Georgia, University of Denver, Washington State college, Vassar college, Kalamazoo college, Albany college, University of Wisconsin, Cornell university, Pennsylvania State college, and University of Idaho.

The positions held range from presidencies to fellowships; the departments from engineering to fine arts.

WAGES ARE RAISED

Marshfield, Ore., Feb. 19.—The C. A. Smith Lumber & Manufacturing company today made announcement that March 1, wages will be restored to what they were prior to May, 1915, when a cut of 10 per cent was made. After this cut was made it was also necessary, on account of the poor lumber market, to cut down operations to four days a week. Recently the mill went on a five day basis and will run six days a week just as soon as arrangements for furnishing logs can be made at the camps.

With the restoration of the old wage scale the several hundred employees will be making as much as they did when the lumber business was as its height.

Both the company steamers, the Adeline and Nana Smith, are being operated and both mills of the company will run full capacity.
