

SCENE FROM WHAT WILL PEOPLE SAY

'What Will People Say?' the next five part feature picture which will be shown here at Ye Liberty Theatre on Sunday and Monday, promises to be the best of the season. It is a Metro production, containing all the elements that have made the Metro the acknowledged leader in the motion picture world, with Mme. Petrova, the gifted emotional actress, in the stellar role, and a strong supporting cast. It was produced for the Metro Pictures Corporation, by the Popular Play and Players, and is a picture of the famous novel of the same name by Rupert Hughes, one of the foremost American dramatists and novelists. This combination goes to make 'What Will People Say?' an offering of unusual interest to all the photoplay-going public. Mme. Petrova will be remembered for her notable work in the previous Metro masterpiece, 'My Madonna,' 'The Vampire,' and 'The Heart of a Painted Woman.'

SUBLIMITY NOTES

A jolly time was had by all who attended the card party given by the Lady Forsters Sunday night, February 13, at C. O. F. hall. Frank Bauscher and Rose Hottinger won the gent's and ladies' grand prize, while Frank Pfeiffer and Theresa Ditter had the honor of each carrying home the booty. Lunch, consisting of cake and sandwiches was served at midnight, which was well appreciated by everyone. The party broke up at a late hour and everyone reports having one of the best times ever had at a card party given there.

Alois Hassler is quite seriously ill with pneumonia this week. Mr. Hassler is employing a nurse from Salem during his illness.

Josephine Duchateau, of Stayton, was a Sublimity visitor Monday.

Nick Heuberger, Jr., is having dentistry work done in Stayton this week. A number from here attended the party given at the Gildow home near Aumsville Friday night and everyone reports a good time.

John Kintz and wife and Ed Meier and family were visiting relatives at Stayton Sunday.

Glen Smith returned home from Roseburg Sunday evening, having been there on business for a few days.

Margaret Benedict left Saturday for an extended visit in Portland.

Joe Becker and wife were down from the Ridge Tuesday.

The meeting of the Commercial club night was well attended and considerable interest was shown in the main question before the meeting—railroad.

A number from Stayton were present—Stayton Standard.

It is said Henry Ford is an impractical pacifist, but his reported decision to start a big peace advertising campaign indicates that he knows how to get results.

STORY OF WOMAN "FATHER" OF FAMILY

"Mr." Gaffney Tells How "He" Came to Woo, Win and Marry "Margaret"

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 19.—"Robert" A. Gaffney, a woman, who four years has been the husband and father of a large family here, today gave "his" reasons why "he" married Mrs. Margaret Gaffney.

"I wanted to befriend her," said "Robert." "She was poor and friendless when we met. She had three children and was unable to earn enough to support them."

She is in a strange predicament today as "Mr." Gaffney. After 18 years of masquerading as a man, "his" sex has been found out and "he" occupies alone, the juvenile ward at the county jail, convicted under the state "lazy husband" law.

The woman "he" married in Spokane four years ago is at liberty.

Deputy Prosecuting Attorney Palmer has her case under advisement. It is a penal offense, he says, in this state for a woman to "marry" another woman. But he admits the case of "Mr." Gaffney has many extenuating circumstances.

"Robert" Gaffney explained in detail to a reported just how it all happened.

"I had been wearing men's clothes for years before I met Margaret," "he" said. "I wore trousers because they were more convenient. Then, too, men's garb helped me to get work that I could not get otherwise. By trade I am a carpenter and finisher. People do not want women carpenters. So I wore men's clothing."

"When I met Margaret, she was in need. We liked each other and I told her I would help her until she could get her children adopted and find some means of support for herself."

If we were to live together, as we decided we must, to cut down expenses, you can readily see why we married. People would have talked about us had we not.

"As time went on, Margaret did not find places for her children. Our company was broken by her. I was working in the Colman building as foreman of janitors."

"I quit my position and left her. When my support was cut off, she had no money to support her children, and the truth became known."

"Robert" Gaffney easily deceived those with whom "he" met as to "his" sex. To the most critical eye "he" looks like a man. "His" conversation shows "he" reasons like a man. "But "his" voice betrays a man." "It is high pitched."

"I want to tell you I know men," "he" declared. "That is why I married Margaret. A man might have befriended her the way I did. But he wouldn't have stuck to her. He would have remained only during the brief time his passion lasted—and no longer."

"It makes little difference about me now, that the truth is known. People with whom I have associated all my life will consider me out of their class. I have no class now. I'm merely floatman."

"But 10 years ago," "he" declared proudly, "I was a pretty good looking woman, if I do say it myself."

Mrs. Gaffney, who runs a rooming house tells a somewhat different story. She says she did not know she was marrying a woman for some months after the wedding. In fact, she says, she never was certain of it until "Robert" herself, told her.

"He was away nights," said Mrs. Gaffney, "working. He slept in day-time, and I was forbidden to enter his room. I was suspicious of his sex and once accused him of being a woman but he grew so angry about it that I never mentioned it again."

"Robert" Gaffney was convicted as "lazy husband" and sentenced to the county stockade.

"I would have gone," "he" said, "but the work, I know would be too hard for me."

Mitchell Bested Miller. Seattle, Wash., Feb. 19.—Sid Mitchell, Australian middleweight, had all the better of his four round bout with Ivan Miller here last night. On the same card, Joe Benjamin of Spokane, lost to Leo Houck, local featherweight, in four rounds. A draw decision would have been more popular.

More Candidates File Notices of Candidacy

Geo. E. Richards, of Joseph, filed today as a candidate for nomination by the republican party for the office of District Attorney for Wallowa county. C. W. Hodson, of Portland, is a candidate for nomination by the republican party for the office of State Senator, Thirtieth Senatorial district, with this slogan—"Oregon first, the world afterward."

Benjamin F. Swope, of Independence, candidate for nomination by the republican party for the office of District Attorney for Polk county. His slogan is "Fearless—impartial enforcement of the law, and protection of the home."

MT. PLEASANT ITEMS

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Habberman were Marion visitors Friday.

Henry Hobson, of Salem, has been in the vicinity the past week purchasing beef cattle.

Mrs. P. H. Lambert was a Sunday visitor at the D. Townes home.

Nick Lalay called at J. H. Kloers Saturday.

Elmer Ray was seen going in the direction of Lee Downing's Saturday eve with a smiling face.

H. R. Shank and wife called at the Mrs. H. Shank home Tuesday.

High School Notes

The high school basketball squad left on an early Friday morning train for Astoria for a game Friday evening with the Astoria high school players. Saturday evening they will play at Vancouver. This trip will determine the state championship.

What becomes of athletic supplies, was discussed at a student body meeting this week. In years past, it appears to have been the custom of members of the athletic team to appropriate for their own use sweaters and other apparel. As only a limited number of sweaters are allowed to each team, there was no sweaters for others wishing to practice, and each year new ones for each team had to be purchased.

Coach Clancy was of the opinion that if all the football suits had been turned in last year, at least 20 good men could be out practicing.

One student remarked that he went out for football two years ago and then the first year he did not take a jersey, and was called a greenhorn by the other boys. Consequently, last year, although he did not think it right, he took one. The same student agreed to return the sweater and hoped the other boys would see that this was the right thing to do.

One of the high school boys, James H. Walker, joined the navy. He was president of the junior class and Websterian debating society last year and a member of the debating team which represented the class of 1916.

Several changes have been made in the student council lately. Robey Hatcliffe is holding down Robert Emmell's place in the senior class. George Wells is representing the juniors in place of James Walker. Daryl Proctor has been promoted to the president's chair since Benjamin Minton resigned. Lyle Bartholomew was elected vice-president at a meeting of the student council over Ed Rauch, by a vote of four to five.

Within a few days the tower of the wireless club will be completed. They will have one of the best in the city, as well as in the state.

Says Germany Has Said Her Last Word

By Carl W. Ackerman, (United Press Staff Correspondent.) Berlin, Feb. 19.—Germany has said her last word in the Lusitania case and will not propose another note about it, according to strong indications among officials today.

Though they are not commenting for publication on the reports that Secretary of State Lansing will not recognize Germany's right to torpedo armed merchantmen without warning, the official attitude is known to be:

Germany does not believe that America should interrogate her too closely about how the new policy shall be enforced, as the method is a naval secret, which Germany regards as purely a military question, concerning only herself and her allies.

Ambassador Von Bernstorff has been fully instructed about the Lusitania case, and he was permitted to make the change in the proposed settlement which was suggested in his recent conference with Lansing.

And again, officials declare that the Lusitania incident was really closed at that conference, and that the new warfare plans have nothing to do with that case.

Tacoma Planning For Million Dollar Dry Dock

Tacoma, Wash., Feb. 19.—A great dry dock, large enough to accommodate even the largest dreadnaught in the navy, and costing more than a million dollars, is planned for the near future through an agreement announced today between the Tacoma Smelting company and the Metropolitan Park board. A company is to be formed, after the necessary permission has been obtained from the government for the use of a portion of the water front of Point Defiance Park and after the drydock has been completed it will be leased by the company from the park board. The smelting company has agreed to build a breakwater 1,000 feet long, using slag from its furnaces.

The park board's proposition has been laid before Major J. B. Cavanaugh, United States engineer for this district, at Seattle, and he has promised to take the matter up with the war department for its approval of the project.

La Grande Has One Victim of Tong War

La Grande, Or., Feb. 19.—The only La Grande member of the Bow Leong tong is in a critical condition at the hospital today as a result of the tong war between the Hop Sing and allied tongs led by the Bow Leongs.

Determined to get revenge for the shooting of one of their members on the streets of Portland Thursday night, two Hop Sing pounced upon old Eng Chou, a gardener, who for years has tried to conceal his affiliation with the Bow Leongs. Eng was shot in the leg. When he fell the Hop Sing beat him over the head with their revolvers and kicked him.

Len Quong, a young Chinese cook, is under arrest as one of Eng's assailants.

Golf Tournament Begins

Del Monte, Cal., Feb. 19.—Forty golfing experts, representing the best talent on the links that the Pacific coast boasts took off here today in the qualifying round of the annual mid-winter tournament.

Because of the recent heavy rains the course was not quite as fast as usual, but the winners were not sufficient to affect the game of the better players very materially. Jack Neville, Bob Hayne, Donald Grant and several other veterans were expected to play close to par.

WEST SALEM

Miss Zela McLean went to Rickreall Friday to be the week-end guest of relatives.

Mrs. Applewhite and son are living in the Wilson home while Mr. Applewhite is teaching in the high school at Sprague, Wash. He will return here at close of school. They will then live on their little ranch on the hill north of town and engage in the chicken business.

Warren Mureh, of Rickreall, was a Monday over-night visitor at the J. McLean home in Kingwood Park.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Alne have moved into the Page house in Kingwood Park. Mr. Alne is bookkeeper at the Cherry City Flouring mill.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Hall, parents of Mrs. Alne, will occupy the Williams residence in Kingwood Park. Mr. Hall is at present in the east but is expected in Oregon soon.

There will be a Parent-Teachers' association meeting Wednesday evening, the 23d. Superintendent O. M. Elliott of Salem, will give the address.

The annual rally of the patrons, teachers and pupils of school district No. 32, occurred Friday. A write-up of which will appear later.

FERN RIDGE NOTES

The friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Richards gave them a pleasant surprise Sunday evening. Those present were: Jake Etzel and family, George Lambrecht and family, Jake Lambrecht and family, John Zolkoche, Giles Wagner, Gordon Zoelner, Leo Wagner, Jake Hafner, Andrew and John Lambrecht, Frank Etzel, Theo. Frees, Algie Moss, John Apple, Lawrence Siegmund, Frank and Ben Basel, John Neitling, Chris Neitling, Len Elliott, Misses Rose Zolkoche, Helen Frees, Grace Hottinger, Winnie Wagner, Selma Wagner, Lena and Rose Basel, Anna Neitling, Mrs. Neitling, Mrs. Frances Hughes. The evening was spent in singing, dancing and playing cards. A lunch was served at midnight. Everyone thanked Mr. and Mrs. Richards for the good time and went home with the invitation to come again in the future.

All the farmers of the Ridge are busy breaking the ground and getting ready for their spring seeding.

H. A. Siegmund's children are sick with lead colic.

Frances Hughes visited at the N. Neitling home Saturday.

George and Tony Neitling, Carl and Kate Schulteheim, with Miss Minnie Schaller, spent Sunday evening at the Joe Etzel home.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Richards visited at the Jake Etzel home Sunday afternoon.

Lou Thomas was buying hogs on the Ridge Monday.—Stayton Standard.

GRANGE WANTS AGRICULTURIST

At a meeting of the Woodburn grange, held on Saturday, the members unanimously recommended that the county court employ a county agriculturist for the coming year, and also recommended that the court re-appoint the same man who filled that office last year.

It is doubtful whether our stubborn county court will pay any attention to a recommendation by the grange or any other organization in this matter unless ordered to do so by the powers that are. At the budget meeting some time ago, after it had been left to a vote of the farmers present and they voted 30 to 2 in favor of having an agriculturist, the county court arbitrarily turned them down. When Marion county gets a county court that will consider the wishes of the people instead of its own whims and prejudices, then the people may expect some relief and not until then.—Woodburn Independent.

HOLLAND ISLAND FLOODED

Amsterdam, Feb. 19.—Markus Island in the Zuider Zee has been inundated as a result of a heavy storm on the North sea, and great billows are rolling over the island. Those who failed to escape in advance of the flood have taken refuge in the island lighthouse, but fears are felt for them even there.

Fresh breaks in dikes holding back the Zuider Zee are frequent, and while there have been no casualties yet, several towns are submerged and there may be loss of life before long.

The city of Hamburg is reported badly damaged and partially flooded.

Now why should a short armed man wear the same shirt the long-armed man wears, even if both wear the same collar size?

Same reason as on quarter sizes in collars—simply because the dealer don't want to carry so many sizes in stock.

Consequently this quarter-size-collars-store is logically the inch-sleeve-shirt-store.

So, the next shirt you need, try us and get the correct arm length.

New Spring Shirts are here—$1, $1.50, $2 and up.

SALEM'S ASTRONOMER

We often read in the different papers of the day articles on astronomy. All of the publications are always interesting. But we should not forget that we have right in our midst one of the most learned astronomers of our state. We refer to Mr. J. T. McAdams, of 216 D street.

Mr. McAdams has spent years in this study and a glance at some of his charts of the heavens will convince the most skeptical. In talking with Mr. McAdams he says, "I just simply love it. We often see him with his fine telescope on our streets and we assure you that he is worthy of our patronage."
