COURT HOUSE NEWS

The divorce suit of Chester Tyler Hendrick against Florence Hendrick was on in Judge Galloway's court today and a number of witnesses were examined for both sides. In his complaint Mr. Hendrick alleges that his wife was too familiar with other men and that she drank intoxicating liquors and stayed out till the wee small hours of the morning. In her answer and cross complaint Mrs. Hendrick sets forth that she was but 15 years of age when she married Mr. Hendrick who was then 27 and that all of the bad habits she now has she learned from him. Both of the parties to the suit ask for the care and custody of their two and one-half year old daughter, Ruth Hendrick. The couple were married in Salem in 1912 and there are no property rights involved in the action. Carson & Brown represent the plaintiff and Carey F. Martin appears for the defendant.

The Oregon & California railroad company and the Southern Pacific railroad company have brought suit against the city of Mt. Angel and the city officials of that town for $10,000 alleged to have been sustained by the city digging a sewer ditch through the depot yards. The railroad company recites that the city officials failed to secure a right of way through the depot grounds for the proposed sewer and that by reason of the extensive excavations under the tracks of the company the $10,000 damage has resulted. William D. Fenton and George G. Bingham represent the railroad company in the action filed today.

Marriage licenses have been issued by the county clerk to Jacob P. Herbot, a Salem janitor, and Mrs. Jessie Bent, a hotel keeper of this city; Edward A. Stapf, a farmer of McMinnville, and Minnie Gier, of Mt. Angel.

Judge Galloway today signed the decree in the divorce suit of George H. Tucker against Margaret Tucker, giving the plaintiff the divorce by default and the custody of the three minor children of the couple. They were married in 1904. Cruel and inhuman treatment was alleged for cause. Robin D. Day represented the plaintiff.

A suit was filed in the circuit court today by Amanda Henshaw against Charles F. Frank, as trustee, Susie M. Locke, as administratrix of the estate of A. S. Locke, deceased, and others, to collect on a note for $3000 which is alleged due. The note is secured by a mortgage on lot 1 Hausbaw's fruit farm. In addition to the $3000 and interest the plaintiff seeks judgment in the sum of $51.33 taxes, $250 attorney fees for bringing the case in the circuit court and $400 if it is carried to the supreme court and a decree of foreclosure of the mortgage. McNary & McNary are attorneys for the plaintiff.

George R. McCarty today filed a suit in the circuit court against J. B. Graetinger to collect $50 alleged due on a note for $750 given in 1907. The plaintiff asks for the interest and the costs of the action. Smith & Shields are attorneys for the plaintiff.

Myrtle Walker was today appointed by Judge Bushey as administratrix of the estate of Newton Walker who died in this county January 27 leaving an estate consisting of real and personal property to the value of $5380. The heirs are Myrtle Walker, the widow, and Glenn Walker, a son aged five

Glasses for Appearance and Service

Gloomy, irritable dispositions, wrinkled foreheads, tired, inflamed eyes, crows' feet—all are often the result of the defective eyesight. Some would rather suffer these discomforts through an unfounded fear that glasses will mar their appearance. The Glasses of today will restore normal sight and add to the personal appearance. Let us prove it.

Dr. E. E. Lee Steiner has presented to the public library Madam Caroline Testout rose slips which will be planted in front of the library to form a hedge. Also, cuts of La France, Fred Karl Druehl and Tapitz roses which will be planted in the rear of the library, to keep the rooms supplied with cut flowers.

E. L. Stiff & Son will buy your used furniture.

Here is another tong war in Salem, but this time it is between the Greek shoe shiners. At least there has been considerable feeling among the Marathon rapid shiners, as shifting parlors have been opened within the last few days by Greeks from Portland and those already on the shifting job here do not take kindly to crowding the profession.

The monthly meeting of the Salem Floral Society will be held this evening in the auditorium of the Commercial club. Besides several addresses, refreshments will be served and the affair will include something in the form of a social gathering besides the business and practical side of the meeting. Mrs. Edyth Tozier Wethered will deliver an address.

Valentine musicale by the pupils of Miss Beatrice Shelton tonight at the First Congregational church, 8 o'clock. Free and you are invited.

Charles Hebel, director of Hebel's Cherry had hand, wishes the public to know that although the hand was photographed Saturday, they were not in uniform. The fact is, the boys have no uniforms and are right now considering some plan by which they may come into the possession of the desired suits, either by means of a benefit entertainment or the generosity of the citizens interested in boys' welfare.

In fancy dress, the pupils of Miss Beatrice Shelton will give a free musicale at the First Congregational church tonight at 8 o'clock. You are invited.

George Stevens and George Hives who were arrested in this city Saturday as they were attempting to dispose of a kit of tools and auto robe have confessed that the goods were stolen in Roseburg according to the local police. The Roseburg officials were notified of the find and will probably take the men in custody as soon as they have served their sentences in this city for vagrancy.

Something new. A musicale valentine party tonight at the First Congregational church, by pupils of Miss Beatrice Shelton. Admission free.

Pruning apple trees will be the subject of a lecture to be delivered at the Commercial Club auditorium Wednesday, March 8, by Professor Brew of the Oregon Agricultural college. Later in the day, a practical demonstration will be given in an orchard at the corner of Rural Street and Cottage avenue. The exact hours of the address and demonstration have not been decided on, but announcement will be made in time for all those interested in apple pruning to attend.

A petition for the paving and improvement of Church street from State to Mission is in circulation today for the signatures of property owners. The proposed improvements will include seven blocks. In order to defeat the paving of the street, the owners of more than two-thirds of the superficial area liable to be assessed for the improvement must renege. In case this is not done, the improvement is assured.

Central Howell Hall of Silverton will give a home talent entertainment Friday evening, March 3. The play is a four act drama entitled, "Home Ties." Those who have been assigned parts in the play are Earl De Sart, Hoddie Bingham, Hazel Harris, Laurel Jantz, Lena DeSart, Carl Ramsden, Fred Durbin, James Lauderback and Katherine Dougherty. The play has a strong plot with just enough humor in it to make things interesting.

Tomorrow evening the third contest will be staged between the Commercial club chess and checker players and the Salem Chess and Checker club. The Chess and Checker experts seem to have considerably the best of it so far, but the Commercial players are preparing to spring several surprises in the way of an entirely new line-up. One of the surprises is the fact that L. Greenbaum, who might be termed a neutral in the checker war, will play this time with the Commercial club.

The services of the First Methodist church were closed last evening with the singing by the congregation and choir of, "My Country 'Tis of Thee." Taking into consideration the need of a revival of a national patriotic feeling, it has been suggested that all churches could do their share in creating a love of country and arouse the dormant patriotism by closing their services with congregational singing of the national hymn.

Some men are born great, some achieve greatness while others have greatness thrust upon them, and again a very limited number are born on the 29th of February. To the very few who have the distinction of claiming the 29th of February as their natal day belong Allen Alfred Bynon and George McGilchrist of this city. These young men will celebrate their fourth birthday tomorrow, as they were born February 29, 1896. The year 1900 was not a leap year, and while these young men may claim 29 years of residence in Oregon according to Hostetter's or Ayres' almanac, yet the fact remains, their fourth birthday will be celebrated tomorrow.

Cotton goods may be advancing in price, but the old timers can remember when Coats thread sold for 25 cents a spool, during the last days of the Civil war. The Meyers' department store received this morning copy of a bulletin issued by the great New York wholesale dry goods house, H. B. Clifton, dated August 27, 1864. The bulletin states that goods are advancing and the following prices were guaranteed for that day only: These prices are wholesale, and not retail: American calico prints, 45 cents a yard; Amoskeag prints, 41 cents a yard; apron checks, 45 cents a yard; four quarter brown sheeting, 72 cents a yard; Hope yard wide bleached domestic, 61 cents a yard; Coat's thread, $2.00 dozen; Canton flannel, yard wide, 44 to 50 cents a yard; ten quarter popperell, bleached, $1.60 a yard; bed ticking, 35 to 75 cents a yard; dress ginghams, 45 cents a yard. The bulletin closes with the warning, "You will note that prices continue to advance."
