FLORAL SOCIETY HAS SPLENDID MEETING

Is Growing Rapidly In Members and Enthusiasm— Would Beautify City

If the suggestion of A. H. Lee, secretary of the state fair board is followed, the camping grounds near the fair grounds will not hereafter be used as a cow pasture. The new secretary stated this in an address last evening before the Salem Floral society, held in the auditorium of the Commercial club. That certain ground along the railroad part of the state fair grounds, should be given to the Floral society for them to beautify, not only from an artistic standpoint, but for the advertising effect upon tourists passing through, was another suggestion of Mr. Lee. Working with the Floral society, he said that the fair grounds would in many ways be beautified. One of these was the changing of a low muddy spot on the grounds into a pond, parked with flowers and another was the filling of several old wells, to be planted over with flowers, working with the society.

Judge William Galloway in a short talk, referred to the time when he was president of the state fair board and the proposition of selling the land for $40 an acre was being favorably considered. The judge said that it was his deciding vote that saved the fair grounds for the state. He was in favor of the extension of a good road to the grounds from Capital street and thought that if the property owners would co-operate, the state and city would do their share.

Mrs. Elyth Tozier Wethered, who presided at the meeting, supported Secretary A. H. Lee in his ideas of improving conditions in the camping grounds and the giving of the Floral society the privilege of beautifying the grounds near the Southern Pacific road.

Besides the addresses the evening's program included a vocal solo by Miss Marguerite Flower, a violin solo by Miss Pearl George, a reading by Miss Pauline Remington and violin solo by Miss Edna Denison.

The next meeting of the society will be held at the Commercial club rooms Monday evening, March 13, and a program of interest will be arranged. As the annual dues are only 25 cents, public spirited citizens are coming to the support of the society as a matter of civic pride. Members added last evening were:

Ivan G. Martin, Willa Haeckstein, Oscar L. Dunlap, Phil Assinwall, G. W. Johnson, Fay H. Collins, Zaidie Palmer, Dan F. Langenberg, Mrs. J. A. Todd, William Galloway, Mrs. William Galloway, La Moine R. Clark, S. E. Rhoads, Daisy M. Carter, Ottmar H. Luck, Mrs. A. L. Johnson, R. T. McIntyre, Ivan G. McDonald, H. F. Kueck, Perry Pickett, Mrs. C. D. Follich, Mrs. S. McEhee, Mrs. W. V. Johnson.

Robbers Make Quick Change In Store of G. W. Johnson & Co.

The store of G. W. Johnson & Co., at 141 North Commercial street was entered last night by robbers who outfitted themselves from the head to foot, put about $20 in cash in the pockets of their new suits, and departed, leaving their "cast off" garments on the floor. Entrance was gained by prying open a rear window. The heavy steel clasps of the fire windows were sprung out enough to admit the body of a man and then the window was jimmied. The night prowlers ransacked the desk for valuable papers and left the contents of the drawers scattered about the floor. From the cash register they secured about $20 in change.

They emptied one entire case in which were hung the higher priced "38's" and selected at least two suits of clothes and those that did not appear to take their fancy they scattered about the floor. This morning when the store was opened twenty-five or thirty suits were found on the floor behind the shoe cases out of sight from the street.

Newsboys were also selected by the fastidious robbers and the old footgear was discarded and left behind with the old suits. Whether or not the thieves took new hats, shirts, or "something in neckties" is not known as the stocks of these goods were not disturbed.

S. P. ENJOINED FROM LAYING SPUR TRACK ON TRADE STREET

Supreme Court Reverses Judge Galloway's Ruling In Kurtz Case

The supreme court today handed down a decision in the case of G. Frederick Kurtz against the Southern Pacific in which Chief Justice Moore reversed the rulings of Judge Galloway in the equity department of the circuit court of Marion county. This suit was instituted by Mr. Kurtz to enjoin the S. P. from putting a spur track or switch track in front of his property on Church and Trade street. The proposed switch track was to extend to the flour mills on this street. It was stated that about fifty cars were loaded and shipped either to or from the mill each year and that because the switch track did not extend to the mill that it necessitated extra charges for drayage.

The railway company attempted to secure right of way in front of Mr. Kurtz' property and he refused and then the company secured the passage of an ordinance through the city council authorizing them to use the city's street for their spur track. The track progressed to the edge of Mr. Kurtz' property when he secured a temporary injunction restraining them from putting the track on the street grade and make the top of the rails level with the street grade. Accordingly it was necessary to make excavations for placing the ties which later figured as one of the alleged damages of the plaintiff.

The suit was tried out in the circuit court before Judge Galloway and resulted in a decree for the railroad entitling Mr. Kurtz to proceed with their track and Mr. Kurtz appealed to the supreme court from this decision. Mr. Kurtz further claimed damages because the presence of the cars on the track and the tooting switch engines made his apartment house on this corner unsuited to tenants and had been largely vacant or let at reduced rentals. Another residence on the same property he said at the trial that he had been unable to rent at any price because the prospective tenants objected to the presence of a switch track so near to their front yards.

In his opinion Justice Moore says: "It is believed the cause of justice will be promoted by making an injunction against any further alteration of the street in front of the plaintiff's premises temporary, and requiring the excavation to be filled until his right has been secured by compromise, or if this cannot be obtained then by condemnation when the amount of damages which he has suffered can be determined by a jury."

Justice Bean, Harris and Benson concurred in the opinion. Attorney Charles L. McNary, represented the plaintiff and Ralph E. Moody and George G. Higham appeared for the defendants and respondents.

The supreme court also held this morning that the city council cannot pass ordinances requiring all merchants to close their stores at 6 o'clock in the evening except on Saturdays in the case of Chan Sing, Lum Sue and others against the city of Astoria. These stores have a large number of customers who are fishermen who do not get down town until after supper in the evening and when the city passed the six o'clock ordinance the storekeepers brought suit in the circuit court which held in favor of the city. An opinion by Justice Burnett reversed the rulings of the lower court.

The other opinions follow: A. L. Dundas vs. Grand View Land company, appellant, suit for an accounting, appealed from Multnomah county, opinion by Justice Burnett, judgment of Circuit Judge Kavanaugh for plaintiff affirmed.

Lola B. Hamford, appellant, vs. Van Ennis Elevator company, et al, action for damages for personal injuries, appealed from Multnomah county, opinion by Justice Burnett, Circuit Judge McGinn's judgment for defendant affirmed.

Louisa Johnson, appellant, vs. Portland Railway, Light and Power company, action for damages for personal injuries, opinion by Justice Bean. Circuit Judge Kavanaugh's judgment for defendant affirmed.

Logan & Brown, appellants, vs. A. M.

MAY CHARTER SHIP TO CARRY OREGON FRUIT TO EUROPE

Northwest Governors Lead Support to Plan For Co-operative Market

A plan to charter a steamer to carry Oregon fruit and fruit products to the European market was presented by Governor Withycombe yesterday by E. L. Goodsell, of New York. Governor Withycombe approved of the plan along with the governors of Washington and Idaho. Mr. Goodsell will go at once to California where his plan will be presented to the fruit men of that country and it is hoped that a huge co-operative marketing system may be perfected to the vast benefit of the fruit growers of the Pacific coast and northwestern states. Mr. Goodsell will present his plan before the Portland Chamber of Commerce Wednesday advocating a definite plan of organization which it is proposed to carry out in the interests of the fruit industry.

"While the governor informed me that the state could not legally guarantee the charter of a steamer without legislative action," said Mr. Goodsell, "he said he believed other interests in the state could be found that would lend their support. He proposed a plan which I will present to the Portland Chamber Wednesday. The governor is in accord with any action which market fruit products of the northwest successfully. He realizes the need of along co-operative organizations among growers."

No Unwarned Attacks To Be Made On Liners

The memorandum was signed by Ambassador Von Bernstorff, and appended to it was a list of British liners, said to have attacked Austro-German submarines. The German embassy today received from Berlin several alleged quotations from the British press, tending to show that offensive arming of merchantmen is admitted.

Lansing Rebukes Bernstorff. Washington, Feb. 29.—Secretary of State Lansing today again directly rebuked Ambassador Von Bernstorff for improper publicity work in the German-American diplomatic situation. In a formal statement, he declared that morning paper reports of the contents of Germany's latest memorandum had not been made public by himself or by the state department, and that they had not expressed his view on the memorandum. Morning papers had printed what purported to be a paragraph of the memorandum.

H. Parsons et al, suit on a note, opinion by Justice Harris, judgment of Circuit Judge Gaten for defendant, modified.

Motions to disburse were denied in Lulu B. White vs. East Side Mill & Lumber company, appellant, and Bernard Flynn, appellant, vs. Watson P. Davidson et al.

Laura Gustin vs. Ely Gustin, appellant, suit for divorce, appealed from Clatsop county, opinion by Chief Justice Moore, judgment of Circuit Judge Cleaton for plaintiff modified.

Prifins for rehearing were denied in Lombard vs. Kies, Leslie vs. Niel, State vs. Ware.
