Local Talent Scores

Success at Waconda

By Ella M. Pinney.

Editor Capital Journal: The entertainment given on February 19 by Waconda talent at their new school house was said to be their best. About 250 people attended and a metropolitan and dience could hardly surpass in appears by expressing gratitude to those who have ance, under the soft lights, silvery locks, intermingled as charmingly as the gold on brown, the same was true on the stage, where the student of today and dads, especially J. C. Saenge and George than the student of today and dads, especially J. C. Saenge and George H. Finney, deserve great praise for their own children, a duty few parents realize. There is no greater accomplishment than elecution. It is not the words, but the expression, it takes years to but the expression that the management and on the part of our audience, I will a days under the elecutionary training of W. C. Egan, and his sister, Eileen, latof Willamette university, and Oakiand, Cal., college, stages the Wa-conda players. Those taking part, are mostly country Salem high school pu als, our little burg is up to date and deserves an extensive patronage, amore the performers were opera singers, and piano selections and duets, quartettes, and an orehestra, called talent from and an orehestra, culled talent from Brooks and Concomly assisted. The plays had a good morat, I hope no one will consider that they were less able if I speak specialty of Lawrence Brooks, who represented the farmer. He had but little to say, but he at that little well. His ease was perfect, of the music, if I speak of Elleen Sayage and her two little brothers, Walter and Glenn. It is not so much of the music, but the vivacity and dash while singing and playing it was no study but for the andience the brothers whistling sweet as a birds, they went whistling sweet as a birds, they went so swiftly as the movies, called back

Peace Pact Signed Yesterday Agreeing On Terms, But No Coin Passes

Portland, Ore., March 2.—The Hop-sings and the Bing Kongs are at peace permanently today. In the midst of their 30 day armistice which followed two weeks of bloodshed, the rival tongs yesterday afternoon signed a peace

Members of the Heng Wo Woi, of Chinese Peace society, were directly re sponsible for the arrangement of peace Peaceites from San Francisco and Se attle attended the meeting, which end ed at 5 p. m. yesterday. No money changed hands, as is the usual custom in framing peace between warring Chinese factions. With four dead, two on each side, in the Pacific northwest as a result of the last flare of the tong war bloodshed was about equal. In the pres-ence of the Heng Wo Woi, neither sid-land the nudacity to ask for a eash in jumps! Why, therefore, did collar makers formerly manufacture collars only in 12-inch sizes? Why is it that even today, many stores do not carry 1-4-inch sizes in collars?

Merely because it doubles up a dealer's stock.

We take pride in our collar department and carry a splendid assortment and in all sizes. Perhaps that's why we are selling so many. 15c, 2 for 25c.
