"Mutt and Jeff in College"

"Mutt and Jeff in College" is the title of the fourth edition of Bud Fisher's cartoon comedy, produced in musical comedy form by Gus Hill, who has signified his intention of offering an entire new play each successive season. It is unlikely that any theatrical production in the history of the American stage has enjoyed success both artistic and financially equal to that which has been continuous since the premier presentation of this play more than 3 years ago. Tired humanity seeks diversion, with little thought or worry as to its artistic origin. If a play or its actors are able to extract incessant laughter from an audience naturally disposed to be incredulous, that play or actor becomes an unqualified success. Mutt and Jeff started a tidal wave of merit that has been continuous and multiplying day by day since its inception. Like Bud Fisher's daily cartoons, as long as Mr. Hill is able to offer new comedy features each season, so long will Mutt and Jeff play its yearly engagement to capacity audiences. One does not have to stretch their imagination to any great extent to conceive just how funny the play will be. Mr. Hill has had an entire new scenic production built at great expense, together with the hundreds of gorgeous costumes necessary to fit the environment. Theatre-goers who have laughed at Mutt and Jeff before, perhaps several times, will find this offering so entirely new as to have the effect of being an innovation. Mutt and Jeff will arrive for an engagement of two shows commencing with a matinee next Saturday at the Grand. Manager Bligh is entirely justified in urging his patrons to secure seats early, in fact as soon as the sale is announced. Past experience has proved to him the advisability of this. This is the big show not the one night stand company.

Violette Wanted To Develop Her Soul

Berkeley, Cal., Mar. 14.—J. Stitt Wilson, former socialist mayor of Berkeley, explained today why his daughter, Violette, aged 19 years, left the University of California, and went to Los Angeles. "My wife and I objected," said Wilson, "because her mind was made up and we had to yield. Violette said present day educational methods were all wrong and that she wished to cut her own pathway through life and develop her own soul as she believed as it could not be developed in college."

In quitting the university, Miss Wilson explained by saying she was "captain of her soul" and had a right to guide it where she willed. She wrote an article called "Education vs. the Soul," in which she explained why she dropped her studies. The inspiration to quit them came to her, she said, one morning when she was walking to her French class.

All outdoors was very inviting and solemly beautiful, wrote the girl. She mentioned the dew on leaves and mist melting on green hills the majestic university campus still half surrounded in fog and the solemn stillness. Compared to the musty French class and its rules of Grammar, Miss Wilson said she found the real world immeasurably superior. So she did not go to the French class. Next day the fog and dew again inspired her, she wrote, so again the French class was "ditched," as the students say.

She concluded with a paragraph saying: "Under existing circumstances, so it may wonder that high school students lack imagination and that we do not university graduates who are entirely without originality or enthusiasm? Let us have less red marks, few schedules, no diplomas, no gowns, no ceremonies, no graduations. If Darwin had pursued his college work like a sane person he might not have left us a great legacy of information."

ODDS AND ENDS ABOUT CHASING AFTER VILLA

Spanish War Veterans in All Sections Would Respond to Call

Vera Cruz, Mex., Mar. 14.—Mexican newspapers today declared no rupture between the United States and Provisional President Carranza had occurred. There was no official news of the negotiations.

No excitement has been manifested here yet. Governor Jara is openly discouraging "jingoism." He has taken precautions against possible outbreaks, and assured United States Consul Guada that all Americans would be protected. Minister of the Interior Brocena is understood to have brought Jara a message from Carranza containing instructions.

Will Protect Americans.
San Diego, Cal., Mar. 14.—Orders were received today by Colonel J. H. Pendleton, commanding the San Diego marine barracks, that additional men had been ordered here from Puget Sound points to recruit the local companies. Recent expirations of enlistments have depleted some of the companies, and it is declared the war department means to keep the organization up to full strength. The four troops of the First cavalry, which left here late yesterday, were transferred to the Southern Pacific at Colton today and were well on their way to Douglas, Ariz.

Agua Prieta Abandoned.
Douglas, Ariz., Mar. 14.—Agua Prieta, across the border from here, is practically deserted by Carranza soldiers today. The garrison left for Nacozari on orders of General Calles. Calles is concentrating his men at Nacozari, 75 miles south. His object is not known. But it is believed, his intention is to avoid friction with the American troops as his soldiers are restive.

The border is being closely watched by the United States troops.

May Use Coast Artillery.
San Francisco, Mar. 14.—That even artillerymen may be used in the campaign against Francisco Villa was indicated today when it was learned all gunners had been given light uniforms suitable for the hot Mexican climate. Army men agree, however, that artillerymen will not be sent unless the need for men becomes acute. Every soldier of the western department of the army is ready for active service. Those who have not already been ordered south eagerly await the command.

Guarding the Big Dams.
San Diego, Cal., Mar. 14.—Guards today have been posted at the Morena and Upper Otay dams to prevent possible damage by Mexicans. The Chollas Heights reservoir will be guarded at night.

No U. S. Troops in Mexico.
San Antonio, Texas, Mar. 14.—No American troops are in Mexico today, according to General Fred Funston. He called all rumors to the contrary "absolute falsehoods." Funston stated the United States expedition could not get under way today.
