MANY TROUBLES DUE TO WEAK KIDNEYS. "It is no use advertising a medicine unless the medicine itself is good enough to back up the claims you make for it. On the other hand it is a pleasure for druggists to sell a medicine when customers come in after-ward and tell how much good it has done them. And that is why druggists like to sell and recommend Solvax the great kidney remedy. Ever since we first introduced Solvax drug clerks have been so busy selling it that it is some times hard to keep a sufficient stock on hand. Moreover Solvax is always sold on a positive guarantee of relief to the kidney sufferer or money back. This may seem rash but users have said so many good words in favor of Solvax that it is not expected that many packages will be returned. This shows great faith in Solvax. It really is a most unusual medicine because it overcomes the worst cases of kidney complaints by removing the cause. It goes straight to the seat of the trouble. It soaks right in and cleans out the kidneys and makes them pass off all the uric acid and poisonous waste matter that lodges in the joints and muscles, causing rheumatic pains; soothes and heals the bladder and quickly ends all such troubles. Nothing is more uncomfortable or hurts a person's perfect enjoyment of life more than troublesome kidneys and their attending evils. The Solvax need begin to get your full measure of benefit out of life. Sold by Daniel J. Fey and other leading druggists in this vicinity.

Gives Outline of England's Policy After War Ends

What I really ought to have said was that it was a question of her raising her helmet," the spokesman replied. "We in England have not grown so foolish as to believe one nation entitles itself on another's poverty, or that Bismarck's policy of bleeding our enemy white, as he did France in 1871, is good neither for individual nations nor for Europe as a whole."

The coming conference in Paris will approach all these questions with these points. We are all determined to resist Germany wherever we find her trying to establish political predominance in foreign countries by commercial means. Great Britain has a clean record on this subject. We've never used trade relations for warlike purposes or for preparation for war. Our free trade is traditional. We have at all times discouraged government assistance or direction of commerce. We have allowed our manufacturers and traders to develop their business relations wherever they could on their own merits. We have competed against ourselves as much as against foreigners.

Will Be Friendly Contest. "You ask what effect this will have on our commercial relations with America. I reply that we will continue to be good commercial neighbors to the United States. Of course we will compete against your traders and manufacturers wherever we can with renewed vigor, in neutral markets, when the war is over. But the competition will be that of honest merchants seeking no end but the exchange of commodities for mutual benefit. We will always be ready to make friendly engagements with neutrals, especially the United States in the interest of peaceful development.

In preparation for the return of peace we are making plans for renewed internal organization and external activity. This can and will be done along lines every neutral will regard as fairly. The efficiency of the British workman has been raised during the war. The possibilities of increased output have been experienced. With an immense fund of labor set free at demobilization, we can, in renewed activity in every important trade. The possibilities of women labor are now being tested."

Do you expect much labor trouble after the war? he was asked. "Those who speak for organized labor are not fools," Bunciman replied. "They know perfectly well that only a complete cooperation of all classes will enable us to recuperate from the industrial and financial exhaustion of the war."

Bethel News

(Capital Journal Special Service.)
Bethel, Ore., Mar. 22.—There was a good debate at the meeting of the Bethel Literary society last Friday night. The question was "Resolved, That wood is more useful than iron." Speakers were: Affirmative, John Clark, Roy Marchand and George Matten. Negative, G. O. Swales, Elmer Both and Bert Bressler. The decision of the judges was four for the negative and one for the affirmative.

The following program was given: Song—"Auld Lang Syne" by the Home in the Dark. By Mr. and Mrs. Roth. Song—"By Hazel Fueston, Marguerite Bahnsen and Christine Bahnsen. Reading—"Hash."—By G. O. Swales. Song—By Mrs. Matten, Mrs. Fuestman and Hazel Fuestman. Mandoline solo—By W. R. Baker. Song—"In the Valley of the Moon."—By Mr. and Mrs. Bert Bressler. "Hash" was an original composition in verse and made a great hit with the audience.

The paper (formerly the Bethel Sun, now the Bethel Observer) was read by the editor, Mrs. Swales. This was the first issue under the new management and it certainly was a splendid number. Several persons from Bethel attended the box social given at Maelzey Saturday night. The capacity of the large hall was taxed to the limit, many being obliged to stand. The plays, "Jane's Legacy" and "A Bunch of Roses" were the chief attractions. They held the attention of the audience much better than the other numbers of the program. Forty baskets were sold at prices from 10 cents to over $2. Candy and ice cream cones were sold; more than 800 being collected. The purpose of the social was to raise funds for the minister, Rev. Winter.

Work has been started on the 80 acre tract just south of the Taylor farm. This tract will be so to English walnut. They had begun digging the holes for the trees when the recent storm put a stop to the work for the time being. There will be several Betheletus on the job as soon as work starts again. Mrs. Johnston, of Fresno, Cal., is visiting at the home of her son, Mr. G. L. Johnston. Clifford Johnston is moving this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Evans, who reside in Montana, are the proud parents of a son recently arrived. Mrs. D. M. Evans sends the news. Mrs. Clark is home again. She has been staying at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Carothers, of Salem, for the past month.
