ELECTING DIRECTORS OF CLUB DEPARTMENTS

Tourist and Publicity Department Will Elect Director Next Monday

The tourist, publicity and convention department of the commercial club will hold a meeting next Monday evening at the club rooms for the election of a director of that department for the coming year.

The Cherry fair will probably be held the last week in June and whoever is elected Monday evening will have full charge of this annual event and the success or failure of the fair will be due to a great extent to the efforts of the new director.

According to the constitution at least three names must be proposed for the office, the person receiving the greatest number of votes being declared elected.

The tourist and publicity department is now receiving 10 1/2 per cent of the club's funds.

In the election of the director of a department only those who have affiliated with that department are entitled to vote. However, this does not prevent other members of the club from attending and showing their interest in the club work.

F. G. Deckebach is the present director and has already done considerable work in regard to the Cherry fair and the trip of the Cherrians to Mansfield.

Although the annual election of officers will not be held until in May, the directors of the different departments will be elected from time to time, in order that everything will be in readiness to make plans for the coming year as soon as the new officers are elected. President W. M. Hamilton states that he positively will not become a candidate, and with him out of the race, various candidates are being favorably mentioned.

FORCED TO LEAVE MISSION

San Francisco, Mar. 28.—Because they were of German nationality four Roman Catholic sisters who worked for a year among 700 Nohu savages in the Marshall Islands were ordered to leave their post and return to America. They are here today, having arrived on the liner Sierra.

The four sisters were the only white people the savages had seen for years. They were treated with great courtesy, residing in comfortable quarters, the wild men built for them. When their presence was discovered by the British, however, a cruiser was sent from Sydney, N. S. W., to remove them.

TWO MINERS KILLED

Bluefield, W. Va., Mar. 28.—Two miners are known to be dead in the explosion today which entombed a number of men in lower reaches of the tide-water mine at Vivian. Sixteen terribly burned laborers were removed. It is not known how many are buried alive.

HOUSE VISITS PRESIDENT

Washington, Mar. 28.—Colonel E. M. House, close personal friend of President Wilson, arrived here this afternoon. It is understood the president requested his presence. Presumably the visit is connected with the new German crisis. He went directly to the White House.

CITY ASSESSOR SUICIDES

Douglas, Ariz., Mar. 28.—A. P. Parsons, city assessor of Douglas, committed suicide today, sending a bullet crashing through his brain. Financial worries and the recent death of his wife and son are believed to have prompted the act. Parsons was a pioneer democratic politician of Arizona.

COLLIDED WITH COW AND BROKE HIS NECK

Tacoma, Wash., Mar. 29.—Byron Cissne, of Tacoma, died in a Sumner hospital early today of a broken neck and fractured skull, which he sustained in a collision between his motorcycle and a cow last night while speeding on the Pacific highway near North Puyallup. Despite his injuries, Cissne lived five hours after the accident. Alfred Church, who was riding on the machine with Cissne escaped without injury.

WHERE ART MEETS TRICKERY

Mrs. Sarah Bernhardt camera-acted in scenes of scenes for Bluebird features while she was still suffering from the results of the surgical operation that left her with only one lower limb. She was, at the time, practicing locomotion upon her artificial leg. While suffering intense agony of mind and body, her indomitable courage sustained her—and she was resolved that there should be this record of "Jeanne Dore" (the last play in which she appeared) should be given to posterity.

In the forceful and impelling drama, which will be the premier attraction of the season at the Bligh theatre on Sunday and Monday, there remains no sign of Bernhardt's infirmities—for the ingenuity of the producer has eliminated everything save those portions of film that are necessary to a fluent and comprehensive story. Bernhardt is the marvelous actress we have always known in the years she has toured America, her natural, complete and healthy self.

Every sign of her lameness has been deleted. By the trickery of production while Mrs. Bernhardt is never seen in the act of walking, she is flashed from scene to scene in perfect sequence. When she last toured America as a vau-deville star it was observed that she depended upon some support—a chair or some article of furniture sustained her. And it is so in the film—the actress is photographed while she is either seated or reclining, leaning upon a chair or table but always acting with the vigor and virility that has made her the most wonderful artist of her time.
