HON. SAM GARLAND MAY BE CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESSMAN Sage of Lebanon Since Milt Miller Left, Is Being Urged to Enter Race

Honorable Samuel M. Garland, or "Sam" as he is called by the furnace men, will in all probability be a candidate for congressman of the first district against W. C. Hawley, the well known present incumbent who has held this position since Bryan first ran for president, or along in that epoch sometime.

A petition, started this morning in Salem urging Mr. Garland to allow his name to be put on the ballot, was signed by about 50 unaffiliated Democrats in an hour or two and petitions are also being circulated in Corvallis and Eugene.

Mr. Garland is not seeking the nomination forward but he is said to be in a "receptive mood" and should be urged by enough of his friends and fellow Democrats he will allow his name to be presented at the primaries.

John D. Guiss, the brother-in-law of E. Cooke Patton, was the first to file at the land office, Portland, last Saturday for land on the Siletz reservation. With the aid of his wife and daughter, he had held first place in the line since March 23 and filed on a claim which he settled several years ago, but on which he had been unable to prove an account of the land having been withdrawn from entry. He had already spent $1600 on the claim.

A subject of local import will be discussed by Prof. Robert E. Stauffer of Willamette University at a lecture to be given next Friday evening at the public library. Although he has been in the state a short time, he soon became interested in the writers of Oregon and learned that Oregon has more than any western state had produced many writers of national reputation and many who are now contributing to the literature of the country, especially in technical and educational lines. Hence he has chosen for his address, "Oregon Literature."

American Aviators Arrive at Dublin

By H. D. Jacobs. (United Press staff correspondent.) U. S. Army Headquarters, Dublin, Mexico. (By wireless to Columbus April 3.)—Two American army aviators who had been missing since Friday arrived here today. They were caught in a rain and snow storm in Chocolate pass, 1 miles south of headquarters, while flying in from Naminqua. Facing a blinding rain, the flying men narrowly escaped death. Finally they became lost and landed near the home of a Mexican. He proved friendly, giving them food, lodging and musical entertainment. On Saturday he started with them toward United States army headquarters. When they arrived here a horse and wagon was sent back for their aeroplanes, which were not damaged.

Sunday on the Salem-Hopewell-Portland road, just before Yamhill county is reached, traveling north. On this hill, which seemed to have no bottom, ten cars were pulled out yesterday and Clyde Apperson, a banker of McMinnville left his Apperson six in the road over night. With the exception of this 100 feet of deep mud, the roads were excellent.

An auto drive of 171 miles was made by E. T. Barnes in his car yesterday, which included a drive to Multnomah Falls on the Columbia Highway, by way of Portland. The trip was made leaving Salem at 5:30 in the morning, returning at 8:30 o'clock, p. m. The roads were fine with the exception of a few bad spots, but Mr. Barnes is of the opinion that if one really wants to enjoy the scenery, the trip should not be taken on Sundays or holidays. Yesterday, so many cars were on the highway, that the whole highway trip was just like driving in a procession.

The postoffice at Salem broke several records during the month of March. The month showed the largest receipts for the same period ever experienced by the office, and the first quarter of the year was the largest in the history of the office for a corresponding time. Total receipts for March were $6457.34, compared to $5788.57 for March of one year ago. Of the $6457.14 taken in at the office last month, $5731.98 was for stamps and stamped envelopes; $481.04 from newspapers and periodicals; $259.27 from third and fourth class matter and $15.75 for box rent. For the first quarter of 1916, the receipts were $23,599.05, compared to $19,829, one year ago.

On account of the great deficiency in officers that would arise in case a national emergency, the Western Department of the U. S. Army will establish military training camps in the west, whereby professional and business men may have the opportunity of four weeks' training in practical military affairs and instruction from military officers. Military circles feel the lack of officers and non-commissioned officers especially should a national emergency arise, and the government is establishing these training camps especially for those men who could soon qualify as officers. Camps of instruction will be established at American Lake, Wash., Fort Douglas, Utah, and Monterey, California.

Now that March, 1916, belongs to the past, here is the record made by the official recorder at the office of the Oregon City Transportation docks: The hottest day was the 17th, when the mercury in the thermometer reached 61; the lowest temperature for the month was 32 above, on the fourth. The average maximum temperature was 52.6 degrees and the average minimum, 43.2 degrees, with the average for the month, 46.4 degrees. The rainfall was 10.96 inches, the heaviest experienced during March for the past fifteen years. The average stage of the river was 10.2 feet above low water, with the highest at 17.2 feet on the 27th and the lowest, five feet above on the first and second day of the month.

Willamette university fared remarkably well in the all far western indoor meet at Corvallis last Saturday. The best athletes from all the leading colleges from California, Oregon, Washington and Idaho were present and every event was strenuously contested. In the 80 yard dash, with 20 entries, many from the California colleges where students are in training during the winter, Bert Ford of Willamette university, won second place. He was the lead until the last 15 feet. Ford is a sophomore and lives in Salem. The third place in this race was also won by a student from the university, Brazier Small, a law student. These records made by the home boys may be considered as quite remarkable from the fact that the 18 who did compete in this race were from colleges who to the boys are given special chances for training. Paul Brown of the university, whose home is at Astoria, was given fourth place in the quarter throw.

Frank Neilson escaped from the asylum yesterday afternoon and came down town to look around. He stopped in front of the High theatre and proceeded to do a Charlie Chaplin with the aid of a willow switch for a cane and attracted a large crowd when the performance was interrupted by Officer Varney. Neilson gave his address as the last house on Asylum avenue on the south side of the street and he was locked up in the county jail until the officers from the institution arrived. Neilson said he thought Charlie Chaplin must be crazy as it was so easy to imitate him.
