ACID STOMACHS ARE DANGEROUS

NINE-TENTHS OF ALL STOMACH TROUBLE DUE TO ACIDITY
Says New York Physician

A New York physician who has made a special study of stomach and intestinal diseases, says that nearly all intestinal troubles, as well as many diseases of the vital organs are directly traceable to a deranged condition of the stomach. This in turn is due about nine times out of ten to excessive acidity, commonly termed sour stomach or heartburn, which not only irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach but also causes gastritis and dangerous stomach ulcers. It is interesting to note that he condemns the use of patent medicines, and practically all medical treatment that is designed to act upon the stomach, stating that the best results are obtained by the use of a simple antacid which acts upon the contents of the stomach and neutralizes the acidity of the food thus removing the source of the trouble. As an antacid he prescribes ordinary bicarbonate of soda, which he contends that it is as foolish to treat the stomach itself as it would be for a man who stepped on a tack to rub himself on the foot without first removing the tack. Remove the tack and the foot will heal itself; neutralize the acid and the stomach troubles will disappear. Irritating medicines and medical treatments are useless, so long as the contents of the stomach remains acid; remove the acidity and there will be no need for medicine—the inflamed lining of the stomach will then heal itself. Sufferers from acidity, sour stomach and heartburn should get a small bottle of bicarbonate of soda and take a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water after each meal, repeating in fifteen minutes, if necessary, this being the dose which the doctor has found most efficacious in all cases.

Former Feud Simmers But Is Cooling Down

The Turner feud which broke out with such intensity Saturday evening has quieted down to a buzz of gossip today with each side maintaining that it is in the right though there is considerable variance in their separate versions of the facts. Yesterday Robert Cole, was arrested on a warrant from the Turner justice court, on a charge of carrying concealed weapons and Lee Jones was arrested on a charge of assault, upon the complaint of M. A. Nicely. Nicely was one of the men who was stabbed on the night of the melee. The blade of Jones knife was inserted in Nicely's back but the point hit the shoulder blade and stopped. Jones was released on bonds on the charge of assaulting Robert Hunsicker and it is thought that bonds will be secured for him on the second charge preferred by Nicely. Jones asks that the preliminary hearing be transferred to Salem from the Turner district but nothing has been settled as yet. Jones will be given a preliminary hearing and will in all probability be bound over to the grand jury but no grand jury will be called for the present term of the circuit court and he cannot be tried before the July term.

Willamette Notes

The chapel services were led by Dr. Doney this morning. He gave a short talk on the life of Francis Asbury, the founder of American Methodism, recounting many of the hardships which he had to undergo in his great work over one hundred years ago. Last Sunday was the 100th anniversary of the death of this great man and throughout the whole United States all of the Methodist churches held services to commemorate the event. Dr. Doney spoke twice on Sunday in Portland churches on the life of this man.

The chapel services yesterday morning were enlivened with special music furnished by the pupils of the College of Music. Miss Lela Belle McAdams sang "O Loving Father," and Mr. Archie Smith sang "The Reckoning," by Kipling. Dr. Chase has been the means of securing a new piano for use during the chapel services and from now on it is expected that special music will be a frequent occurrence.

Coch Mathews will take his baseball team to Eugene Thursday, where they will meet the fast U. of O. ball tossers in a series of two games, one Thursday afternoon and the second on Friday. Thus far Oregon has been playing good ball, having defeated the Cinnabum team twice and both games were won with big scores. Just what will happen when Bealok's men line up against Mathews' team is not known, but from the class of ball they have been playing in practice games Oregon may find that she will have to get down and use every means known to them. Those who will make up the team for the games will probably be: Shuler, D. Adams, W. Adams, P. Miller, Brown, Tasto, Gates, Bain, Esteb, Rexford and Proctor. Artie Walker, who is managing the team this year, will also accompany the team. They will return on Saturday.

First Railway Train To Coos Bay Tomorrow

Portland, Or., April 4.—Without ceremony or celebration, the first train to Marshfield over the new Willamette Pacific railway will start from Eugene tomorrow morning with a number of Southern Pacific officials aboard. The train leaving Eugene will not actually arrive at Marshfield, however, because the bridge across the Umpqua river is not completed. Passengers will be ferried across and will transfer to the train on the other side. Formal celebration of the opening of the railroad has been postponed until the Umpqua bridge is completed.

FAMOUS "MUSHER" AND CHAMPION DOGS ON SCREEN

FRED J. BUTLER IN "THE DEATHLOCK" FIVE-PART MUTUAL EXHIBITION of the world, with his team of Siberian dogs, is one of the many interesting characters of the snow country presented in "The Deathlock," a Mutual Masterpiece in five parts, to be released December 30. With but one of two exceptions, Johnson a giant of a man, standing little over six feet in height, weighing close to 300 pounds and built on the lines of a dreadnought, has never visited the "white man's world" as represented outside the confines of Alaska. This burly con of Alaska and his famous bunch of "huskies" are the idols of all Alaskans. For three years in succession, Johnson and his "huskies" have won the Alaskan sweepstakes, the greatest of that section of the country, outside of the arrival of the first steamer at Dawson, with the breaking up of the ice pack. Like the future of the old sub-burband handspan, as run on the eastern race tracks, the annual Alaskan sweepstakes is the greatest event of its kind in Alaska sport and thousands of dollars are wagered on the results. In the last run, Johnson and his "huskies" beat a field of eight teams over the famous Dawson trail, setting a record that will probably never be beaten. Johnson, when approached and asked to participate in the filming of "The Deathlock," the scenes of which were taken along the Yukon and in the neighborhood of Dawson City, at first declined, but a little persuasion and some of Uncle Sam's crisp bank notes finally won him over. One of the most thrilling incidents of "The Deathlock" is the finish of a race between a team driven by the champion "musher" and another celebrated dog driver named "Snow" Martin.

Representative Bailey Gets After Oil Trust

Washington, April 4.—Representative Bailey introduced a resolution in the house yesterday directing Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the interior, to sink wells on government lands and place the oil products for sale on the open market. "It may not be necessary for us to enter the oil business," said Bailey. "Just our obvious willingness to do so may turn the trick." Simultaneously with the introduction of this resolution, it was reported that other congressmen planned to have the government bid for the Osage Indian reservation oil land leases which expire soon, opposing the efforts of Owens and Oliver to have them renewed to alleged subsidiaries of the Standard Oil company.

SUPREME COURT CUTS DOWN INTEREST ON $24,200.00 JUDGMENT

Interest Dates From Time Judgment Was Given Not From May 2, 1908

The supreme court this morning denied the petition for a rehearing in the case of S. G. Sargent, as superintendent of Banks of Oregon, against the American Bank & Trust company, of Portland, and L. O. Ralston. Both sides of the litigation asked for a rehearing but in his opinion denying the rehearing Justice Harris declines to make any changes except to modify the ruling relative to the time the interest on the judgment against Ralston begins. The trial court granted a judgment against the defendant in the sum of $24,200 with interest from May 2, 1908 and Justice Harris rules that the interest should begin on the date of the judgment, July 10, 1915, and not on May 2, 1908.

The other opinions handed down this morning were: George H. Brewster, plaintiff and respondent against G. Springer and others of the county court of Crook county, defendants and appellants, a proceeding in mandamus. Opinion by Justice Eakin reverses Circuit Judge T. E. J. Duffy.

Wadhams & Co., plaintiff, against San Francisco & Portland Steamship Company, original proceedings in mandamus, Justice Burnett sustains demurrer.

Marcella Clark, plaintiff and appellant, against A. A. Morrison, defendant and respondent, an action for slander, appealed from Multnomah county (Circuit Judge Castaneda, Justice Benson renders judgment for defendant).

Lewis L. Smith vs. W. G. Dwight, appellant, appealed from Tillamook county, suit to quiet title, opinion by Justice Bean, judgment of former Circuit Judge Holmes modified.

Henry C. Lemler vs. Rex. E. Bord, appellant, appealed from Klamath county, action to recover money, opinion by Justice Moore, judgment of former Judge Nolan modified.

R. R. Cole, appellant, vs. City of Seaside, involving the validity of a road improvement, opinion by Justice Burnett, Circuit Judge Eakin's judgment for defendant reversed.

Rehearing was denied in Mattson vs. Dresser.

Lost, Strayed, Stolen-- 320 Miles of Road In Lincoln County

According to the reports sent in by the Lincoln county court there were 320 miles more of roads in that county in 1915 than there were in 1914 and the government asked the state highway department the old familiar question "Where does this road go?" Before replying according to the Arkansas traveler that "it don't go nowhere, but stays right where it is" the highway department asked County Judge R. H. Miller of Lincoln county what he did with that 320 miles of roadway.

Mr. Miller says it depends entirely upon the time of the day and the moon as to how much road there is in Lincoln county. The road along one side of the county runs along the ocean beach and when the tide is out they have miles of fine hard roads, then when the tide comes in a few hours later the fine hard highway is at the bottom of the ocean.

So Judge Miller lays the "mystery of the lost highway" to a difference of opinion and times of day in the sending in of the reports to the government.

On county in eastern Oregon shows a gain of 2,000 miles in roads in a year without a shovelful of dirt being turned or a dollar spent. This is accounted for by the fact that a road may be built by a buck board being driven across country through the sagebrush and then when some one else follows the tracks this becomes a road and it is possible to make miles of this road in a year at little expense except for axle grease.

To the man in the government office who has never been in the boundless west such discrepancies as a loss of 320 miles in a year or a gain of 2,000 miles at no expense presents a problem that calls for official worry.
