THE MARKETS

The following prices for fruits and vegetables are those asked by the wholesaler of the retailer, and not what is paid to the producer. All other prices are those paid the producer. Corrections are made daily.

General dullness seems to be the condition of the market today. Egg prices are holding steady here and in Portland and the only change in the live stock market is the weakness in pork on foot with a decline of a quarter of a cent from yesterday.

Green peas are now cheaper and within a few days strawberries will be quoted.

Although the Portland papers are telling of a higher sugar market, there is no change locally.

Mr. Parson's Name Not On Regular Ballot

(Capital Journal Special Service.) The suit of H. H. Parsons against County Clerk Asa H. Robinson to compel Mr. Robinson to have the plaintiff's name printed on the official nominating ballot of the republican party for the office of school superintendent, was decided in favor of the defendant Friday morning when Circuit Judge H. H. Belt sustained the demurrer to the alternative writ of mandamus filed by the county clerk. With this decision the name of Mr. Parsons will not appear on the ballot at the primary election unless he appeals the case to the supreme court and the decision of Judge Belt is overruled. Mr. Parsons may not appeal the case but after the primary election an appeal to the supreme court is an independent candidate.

Salem Man Arrested.

Eugene Eckler, of Salem, was the first person to be arrested for illegal fishing in Polk county streams for the year 1916. Mr. Eckler was arrested Saturday morning by Game Warden Roy Breagler, of Salem, who caught him fishing in the La Creole without a license. After being brought to this city and fined $25 and costs for law violation, Mr. Eckler obtained a license and returned to the banks of the stream where he proceeded to fish the balance of the day.

WILLAMETTE NOTES

The election of May Queen yesterday resulted in Miss Frances Gittins being elected. The election, which was very close, was one that excited considerable interest among the students, as all three of the young ladies who were candidates were very popular students, and each of the two political factions exerted every effort to secure the necessary votes to elect their nominee. Miss Gittins, the newly elected queen will be known by the title of Francis I. and it goes without saying that the May Day Festival this year will be a success. Mrs. Florence Dugas and Miss Laura Ross will be the attending princesses, and they too are equally well fitted for the positions which they will occupy. Mr. Rogers Lyon, who is the manager of the May Day program has appointed his committees to assist in the doing of the work, and the only thing that can prevent the coronation from being the highlight of the year will be the appearance of June Plinius, who has in times past been an enemy of regal proceedings.

OLD RESIDENT BURIED

St. Paul, Or., Apr. 6.—Andrew Hughes, 69, who died here April 3 and was buried yesterday, had been a resident of Marion county for 42 years. He was a native of Ireland, and emigrated to Minnesota, later coming here. He is survived by eight children, all of whom were at the bedside when he died. He also leaves a sister, Mrs. John McGivray, of Woodburn. Mr. Hughes was a charter member of St. Paul lodge, Ancient Order, United Workmen. The funeral was held from St. Paul's church.

The results of the team last night show that Miss Ada Ross, a senior and Miss Edna Billings, a junior, were selected to represent Willamette university in the coming debate to be held at the college of Puget Sound at Tacoma, Washington. Considerable interest was shown in the tryout, for there were 10 contestants that signified their willingness to enter forensic work, but as there will be but one debate and that at Tacoma there were only two selected. The question to be debated is: "Resolved, That all railroads in the United States operating in interstate commerce should be owned and operated by the government." This is the same question which the men's team will debate with the P. U. team here on the evening of the twenty-first of this month. It is of interest in that it shows that women are able to discuss matters of national interest as well as men. The exact date has not been set for the debate, but it will probably be some time in the latter part of this month. Mrs. Helen Miller, who has charge of the department of public speaking, will accompany the young ladies on their trip to the Washington city.

The program was as follows: Strimmez, the wonderful genius in the electrical world, by Wesley Hammond. Universal Preparedness and Democracy, Arlie Walker. Bird of Mystery, a thrilling romance of the present war, by Raymond Atterbury. Bryan's Place in the Coming Election, Fred O'Ho.

Plano solo, Lloyd Lee. What is a Good Job? Paul Miller. Parliamentary Practice, by Laban Steeves. Following the program and business meeting election of officers was held for the last quarter. The election resulted in the following receiving officers: President, Howard P. Jewett; vice-president, Laban Steeves; recording secretary, Harvey Wilson; corresponding secretary, Raymond Atterbury; treasurer, Ronald Matthews; marshal, Fred McMillan; critic, John L. Gary.

The new officers will be installed in to office next Wednesday evening and at that time will provide a "feed" as its customary of new officers. Earl B. Cotton will be initiated into the society at the next meeting.

The Willamette, the annual year book put out at Willamette is almost ready for distribution. The scheduled time for its appearance is May 1st. Manager Karl Chaplar has been putting in a great deal of work on it and consequently the book will be ready before hand, although no distribution will be made until May Day. This year's book will have many new features which have not been included in former Willamettes. Several pages will be taken up with snap shots of bits of scenery about Salem and there is also to be room for "funnies" or pictures of prominent students in ridiculous poses, which they do not know have been taken.

Editor Gillette has compiled considerable interesting reading matter and the book when completed will without a doubt be the best seller of the season on the campus and also about town, should others than students desire a copy.

Within the next week or so, the exact date has as yet not been fixed, the English club will give a program to commemorate the 300th anniversary of the death of William Shakespeare. Prof. Stauffer, head of the English department, was instrumental in the establishment of the club and several previous meetings have demonstrated its value. The coming program will have for its main feature a paper entitled "Shakespeare: Tradition and Criticism," written by Miss Gladys Carson. Shakespearean songs will be sung by Miss Evelyn Cathy and Mr. Rogers Lyons. Several selections will also be given by a Virolta. A St. George's Mummer play will also be given by several members of the club.

The program, when given, will be staged in Eaton Hall.

Prof. J. T. Matthews is giving a course to a number of his advanced students in methods in teaching mathematics, incidentally giving some fine instructions to those who will soon assume pedagogical duties. It is perhaps the most thoroughly enjoyed class of any in school at the present time. It is a lecture course.

Prof. Robert Stauffer will deliver a lecture on "Oregon Literature" Friday evening at the public library. He has been making a careful and systematic study of Oregon writers and their productions, and the lecture will be interesting to those who are desirous of knowing what progress Oregon has made as a contributor to literature. Some of Oregon's writers have achieved national recognition, and in his lecture the Professor will recount many of the writings of writers not so well known.

On receipt of a letter from the U. of Oregon this morning the Willamette university baseball team will postpone the date of their meeting the U. of O. to Friday. They will leave Friday morning accompanied by Coach Mathews and Manager Walker, for Eugene, and the two games will be played, one on Friday afternoon, the other Saturday instead of the sixth and seventh of April as had been scheduled.

Oregon will play a return game on the Sweetland field at Medford, April 10. This should be a well attended game for Oregon has a fast team and Willamette team will perhaps show them how baseball is played.

The line-up for the series of games will be as follows: Brown or D. Adams, catcher; W. Adams or Rexford, pitcher; P. Miller, first base; Practor or Brown, second base; Gates, third base; Tasto, shortstop; Bain, right
