President Reviews History of German Undersea Warfare

late pursuit and destruction of merchantmen of all kinds and nationalities within the waters, constantly extending in area where these operations have been carried on, and the roll of Americans who have lost their lives on ships thus attacked and destroyed has grown month by month, until the ominous toll has mounted into the hundreds. One of the latest and most shocking instances of this method of warfare was that of the destruction of the French ocean channel steamer Sussex. It stood forth as the sinking of the steamer Lusitania did as so singularly tragic and unjustifiable as to constitute a truly terrible example of the inhumanity of submarine warfare as the commanders of German vessels have for the past 12 months been conducting it. If this instance stood alone, some explanation, some disavowal by the German government, some evidence of criminal mistake or wilful disobedience on the part of the commander of the vessel that fired the torpedo might be sought or entertained; but unhappily it does not stand alone. Recent events make the conclusion inevitable that it is only one instance, even though it be one of the most extreme and distressing instances, of the spirit and method of warfare which the Imperial German government has mistakenly adopted, and which from the first exposed that government to the reproach of thrusting all neutral rights aside in pursuit of its immediate objects.

United States Patient.
"The government of the United States has been very patient. At every stage of this distressing experience of tragedy after tragedy in which its own citizens were involved it has sought to be restrained from any extreme course of action or of protest by a thoughtful consideration of the extraordinary circumstances of this unprecedented war and actuated in all that it said or did by the sentiments of genuine friendship which the people of the United States have always entertained and continue to entertain towards the German nation.

"It has of course, accepted the successive explanations and assurances of the Imperial German government as given in entire sincerity and good faith and has hoped, even against hope that it would be possible for the German government to so order and control the acts of its naval commanders as to square its policy with the principles of humanity as embodied in the laws of nations. It has been willing to wait until the significance of the acts became absolutely unmistakable and susceptible of but one interpretation.

"That point has now unhappily been reached. The facts are susceptible of but one interpretation. The Imperial German government has been unable to put any limits or restraints upon its warfare against either freight or passenger ships. It has therefore become painfully evident that the position which this government took at the very outset is inevitable, namely, that the use of the submarines for the destruction of an enemy's commerce is of necessity because of the very character of the vessels employed and the very methods of attack which their employment of course involves, incompatible with the principles of humanity, the long established and incontestable rights of neutrals and the sacred immunities of non-combatants.

Note is Ultimatum.
"I have deemed it my duty, therefore, to say to the Imperial German government that if it is still its purpose to prosecute relentless and indiscriminate warfare against vessels of commerce by the use of submarines, notwithstanding the now demonstrated impossibility of conducting that warfare in accordance with what the government of the United States must consider the sacred and indisputable rules of international law and the universally recognized dictates of humanity, the government of the United States is at last forced to the conclusion that there is but one course it can pursue; and that unless the Imperial government should now immediately declare and effect an abandonment of its present methods of warfare, against passenger and freight vessels this government can have no choice but sever diplomatic relations with the government of the German empire altogether.

Decision is Regretted.
"This decision I have arrived at with the keenest regret; the possibility of the action contemplated I am sure all thoughtful Americans will look forward to with unaffected reluctance. But we cannot forget that we are some sort and by the force of circumstances the responsible spokesman of the rights of humanity and that we cannot remain silent while those rights seem in process of being swept away in the uncertainty of this terrible war. We owe it to a due regard for our own rights as a nation, to our sense of duty as a representative of the rights of neutrals throughout the world over, and to a just conception of the rights of mankind to take this stand now with the utmost solemnity and firmness.

"I have taken it and taken it in the confidence that it will meet your approval and support. All sober minded men must unite in hoping that the Imperial German government which has in other circumstances stood as the champion of all we are now contending for in the interest of humanity may recognize the justice of our demands and meet them in the spirit in which they are made."

Cleveland got away ahead of Detroit, but Vitt and Veach came to the fore with three baggers and the Tigers won.

FEATURE OF HOLY WEEK IS "THE CRUCIFIXION"
Sir John Stainer's Oratorio to Be Sung by Choir of St. Paul's Church
Prominent among the features of the keeping of Holy week in Salem churches, is the rendition of Sir John Stainer's oratorio "The Crucifixion," to be sung by the choir of St. Paul's church at that church on the evening of Good Friday, April 21, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

Stainer's passion music ranks with that of Bach in excellence and popularity, and is perhaps the best of all the passion oratorios. It consists of recitatives, splendid choruses, solos, and quartets, among which hymns are interspersed, the whole having caught the spirit of the devotions of the day in an unique manner, so that the production is far from being a mere "sacred concert."
For the singing of the oratorio the choir has been somewhat augmented by the addition of other voices, and will consist of ten sopranos, four contraltos, four tenors, and four basses. The tenor solo portions are to be sung by Thomas Larkin Williams the baritone by George Curtis Lee Snyder, and the bass by F. G. Deckebach. These three with William McGilchrist, compose the four for the male quartet parts.

Those participating are Mesdames E. H. Choate, Rose Babcock, Misses Margery Marvin, Elizabeth Jones, Florence Jones, Doris Churchill, Jessie Miller, Emily Griffin, Eugenia McInturff, Dorothy Cannon, Myrtle Knowland, Margaret Jones, Alice Budding and Beulah Fox; and Messrs. Thomas L. Williams, Wm. McGilchrist, George Donat, N. B. Farbrick, F. G. Deckebach, G. C. L. Snyder, Bert M. Coates and Robert S. Gill. Miss Lillian Slater presides at the organ, and Master Roy Coates acts as crucifer.
The oratorio consists of 20 numbers as follows:
1. Recitative, Mr. Williams.
2. "The Agony," Mr. Deckebach and chorus; recitative, Mr. Williams, Mr. Snyder and Mr. Deckebach.

3. Processional to Calvary, Organ solo, Miss Slater; chorus, "Flung Wide the Gates", with tenor solo, Mr. Williams.
4. Recitative, Mr. Snyder.
5. Hymn, "The Mystery of the Divine Humiliation."
6. Recitative, Mr. Snyder.
7. Tenor solo, "King Ever Glorious," Mr. Williams.
8. Recitative, Mr. Deckebach.
9. Chorus, "God So Loved the World."
10. Hymn, Litany of the Passion.
11. Recitative, Mr. Williams and quartet.
12. Duet, Mr. Snyder and Mr. Williams.
13. Hymn, "The Mystery of Intercession."

14. Recitative, Mr. Deckebach, Mr. Snyder and quartet.
15. Hymn, "The Adoration of the Crucified."
16. Recitative, Mr. Williams, Mr. Snyder and quartet.
17. Recitative, Mr. Deckebach.
18. Chorus, "The Appeal of the Crucified."
19. Recitative, Mr. Williams and quartet.
20. Hymn, "For the Love of Jesus." Good Friday will also be observed at St. Paul's by the customary three hour service of watching by the cross, beginning at 12:00 m.
