STATE NEWS

Oregon City Enterprise: A cave 32 feet long, four feet wide and eight feet deep, dug in the soft earth and timbered with such a tunnel is timbered for a mine, has been found on the Fry place about a mile north of the mouth of Pudding river in this county by owners of the property. In this cave were found blacksmith dies, a red railroad lantern, many cooking utensils, four full bottles of whiskey and a quantity of tobacco. The dies had been used for parting. Those who have seen the cave are convinced that it was the meeting place of hoboes or petty thieves. The remains of many fires were found, and sleep of the cave had been used for parting. Although dies were found, there was no indication that the cave had been used for counterfeiting.

Roseburg News: C. S. Heinline, of the local Indian service, left today for Burns, where he will spend three or four weeks on business matters. He will sign up contracts for the establishment of an Indian day school and will also gather together the Indians suffering from trachoma, the dreaded disease of the eye and will provide medical treatment for them. He will also purchase Indian lands on which several families will build homes.

Albany Democrat: Chief of Police John Catlin reports a diabolical scheme to get booze in big jiney loads from California to different parts of the state, shipped in the boot. This week three loads of liquor were captured just after crossing the line, on the way from Harbrosk, and the stuff was confiscated. It is said that arrangements had been made to secure a shipment of several hundred bottles for Albany.

Margaret Mason Writes of Gotham Fads and Fashions

By Margaret Mason.

To have all things harmonious. As much as she was able, in home and dress and everything, Essayed aesthetic Mabel.

And so they'd be in rhythm with her witty garden smocks. The sole blooms in her garden were Stocks, hollyhocks and phlox.

New York, April 22.—When you stand in the midst of your garden, whether it be a sunken Italian one or a raised window box, do you want to look the fairest flower of the lot? If you do, it's very simple, Maud. All you need is a smock of becoming hue, a wide floppy straw hat and one of those fascinating garden baskets raised on a long wicker stick.

All your zinnias, gladiolas, begonias and cannas will simply drop their heads in the face of such a ravishing combination.

Surely Maud Muller must have been thus attired when her Judge Hangered a bit ere he rode by. Most any good judge nowadays would do the same.

Beginning at the top the crowning glory of the garden outfit is the hat; and its only essentials are that it be big, floppy and becoming.

Those of the cane chair seat weave are smart, bound in a color to match your smock, with a twist of the same around the crown. Peanut straws, leg-horns, panamas and loose grass woven hats are all lovely; and wide brimmed ones covered in flowered cretonne or awning stripes to match your skirt also are good.

If you want to go in for Oriental gardening the artistic Coolie hats are perfect, but if you top yourself off thus you will have to taboo the smock and awning stripe skirt, for garments modeled after a Chinese woman's coat and skirt. Otherwise your outfit would not be in perfect accord according to aesthetically Mabel. These Chinese effects really are the very newest Spring crop of gardening gear and most original.

The awning stripe skirts this season are not only the broad stripes of a bright color alternating with white, like we had last year, but revel in a riotous array of colored stripes in four or five hectic hues, like a Zolaist ballet. They all are very short and full and button down the front with either yawning slashed pockets set in either side, or puffy pouched ones set on.

The artistic willow baskets set on their long sticks come in either natural coloring or may be stained to suit. They contain of course the most fascinating collection of gardening tools; a trowel whose handle is gay with paint, a pair of shears and your garden gloves.

Adorable watering pots blooming with hand painted rosebuds, and rakes with well decorated handles are a few other indispensable accessories of the fashionable garden.

Oh yes, and there are quaint and practical garden aprons too, the best model of which here the newest, is of striped material bound in a plain color with a bib and straps over the shoulders.

It is long so that you may stoop in the wet grass without dampening your skirt or your arbor and yet at will it buttons up to a desirable shortness and by this act turns itself into a capacious pocket.

So open up your garden gate. Besmoke yourself all up to date. And seeds of love will quickly grow in hearts of all who see you so and so.

Baker White Pine Lumber company must add a night shift for the first time to keep up with orders. The O.-W. R. & N. railroad reports an increase of more than 20 per cent in Baker freight business over this time last year. Mines of all kinds, gold, copper, antimony and even tungsten, are busier than ever. DARE SHE SIT?

Seven white net frills edged with val lace make this hoopy skirt. The bodice has a septum which extends down the front in a draped panel, this material being a blue and white figured silk. A net bodice gives the last old-fashioned touch. This is a design that may be easily copied.
