

CAN I DO IT?

FACE TO FACE WITH FACTS

Yes, that's the way I put it. The Chicago Store is in urgent need of more ready cash, and the question is, Can I get the needed cash? I believe I can. At any rate, I am going to make a desperate struggle to get the money. The Chicago Store is face to face with an urgent call for money, and they expect me to get it for them, and take any steps I deem necessary to turn the trick.

The Need Is Urgent

It's no use for me to go into any further details. The only way I can explain it to you is that the need for ready cash at the Chicago Store is a very urgent one, and there is only one thing left for me to do, and that is to keep up the slaughter of The Chicago Store stock until I get the money that they need so badly. So, for Monday, I have prices for you and the quality is the best money can buy. Be here Monday.

WILLAMETTE NOTES

The student body election held yesterday resulted in the following persons being elected:

President—Earl Fiegel.
Vice-President—Miss Violet Maclean.
Secretary—Miss Fannie McKennon.
Treasurer—Paul Miller.
Editor of Collegian—Samuel R. King.
Manager of Collegian—Earl R. Cotton.

Fiegel, the newly elected president, is perhaps the most popular man in school, and likewise the best all-around athlete, having won his letter in football, basketball, baseball and tennis. He is captain-elect of next year's football team, having held the same position this year. He is a prominent member of the Websterian literary society, also the leading man in the junior play, "Sherwood," which will be given at the Grand May 5, namely, the part of Robin Hood. He has been on the executive committee for the past three years and consequently understands the routine of business which will resolve upon him as chief executive of the destinies of the student body. His election to the highest office which a student is honored to maintain Willamette standards have been appreciated by the student body. He will not assume active duties until next fall when a school re-opens for the next year. Howard Jewett, the present executive, will still retain active control of student affairs. Miss Violet Maclean, the newly elected vice-president, is a popular young lady in the junior class, and is taking the leading lady's roll in the junior play as Lady Marian. She was the secretary of the student body last year. She is a member of the Philodorian society. Miss McKennon, who will assume the duties of secretary, is a member of the Philodorian society, also the junior class.

Paul Miller, who will handle the money for the student body, is a prominent man in athletics, having won his letter in football and baseball. He is also a member of the Websterian society, where he is noted for his spontaneous humor when appearing on the programs. He is a member of the sophomores class.

Samuel R. King, who will wield the editorial pen for the Collegian next year, is a man of keen business ability and a thorough student; he has worked on the Collegian as reporter and associate editor for the past two years, and is consequently well fitted for the position. King is a junior this year and is managing the famous Kloseh Club, also the junior play. In him the student body have selected the best man in school for the position, and he will maintain the standard set by this year's Collegian.

Earl Cotton, who will handle the business end of the Collegian, has had considerable experience in that capacity this year as assistant manager, and his success secured for him the position of manager. He is a newly elected member of the Websterian society.

The College of Puget Sound co-ed debate team telegraphed the Willamette co-ed team not to come up to Tacoma yesterday, as they could not debate them. This indefinite postponement as good as cancelling the debate as it showed that they were afraid of losing to the Willamette women. Miss Ada Ross and Miss Edna Billings, who were to represent Willamette in this debate, had spent a great deal of time in preparing for the occasion, but were deprived of the privilege of convincing the Tacoma people of the advantages of government ownership of railroads.

Albert Schwab, a well-known and respected farmer died at his home near Gervais, Monday morning at 6:30 o'clock. Mr. Schwab had been in poor health for 30 years but had been able to be about most of the time until a few weeks ago he had improved and was able to sit up and visit some of his children who visited him Sunday. About midnight Sunday night he was taken suddenly worse and did not rally. He was born in Switzerland November 17, 1853, and came to America in 1859, and first settled in Iowa, and also lived in Kansas, coming to Oregon in 1888.

He is survived by his wife and six children, all of whom are married. They are: Mrs. Clyde Battersby, of Portland; Arthur and Otto Schwab, of Aurora; Gertrude and Zeke Schwab, of Aurora. The funeral took place Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the family residence and interment in the Masonic cemetery.—Gervais Star.

WILL ADDRESS GRANGE

C. C. Lamb, extension specialist in poultry husbandry, at the Oregon Agricultural college, will give an address on the raising, feeding and care of poultry before the Amaville Grange on the afternoon of May 5.

Mr. Lamb tells his audiences that the general farmer is best equipped for feeding laying hens profitably. This is true because he has a wealth of natural resources at hand with which he may supplement the bought feed for his flock. He also explains the necessity of keeping vigorous breed-to-buy hens and explains how this can be carried out.

DEATH OF THELMA CRANE

TheLma Rebecca Crane, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Crane, was born December 10, 1905, at Carrolton, Ill., and died April 25, 1916, at Amaville, Ore., at the age of 10 years, four months and nine days. She was preceded by two, and is survived by seven brothers and sisters, two brothers, Clemon and Marie, and five sisters, Olive, Emma, Carmine, Opal and Bonnie.

For several years she had been physically, her last spell having lasted about a month when at about 12:30 p. m. Tuesday, April 25, she quietly breathed her last.

TheLma Crane was a local favorite, especially among the juniors, six of whom acted as pall bearers at her funeral. She will live in the memories of her relatives as a kind and generous daughter and sister and the future men and women of Amaville by many kindly notes of a childhood friend and school mate.—Amaville Record.
