

President Pays Tribute To His Nominee, Brandeis

Washington, May 8.—Just as the senate judiciary committee, whom President Wilson urged by letter to act immediately on his nomination of Louis D. Brandeis as associate supreme court justice, was preparing to ballot today two senators objected and as a result the action was postponed.

Who the objecting senators were, members of the committee would not say. It was understood that Senator Shields, who attended the judiciary meeting for the first time in months, was the chief object.

President Wilson's letter, it was learned, was received with resentment. When the meeting broke up, friends of Brandeis had failed even in getting an agreement to vote on his nomination at a definite date.

The president's letter was in reply to Senator Culberson's note asking for the "reasons" which actuated the president in making the nomination. The letter was addressed to Culberson and said:

The Letter in Full.

"My dear senator: I am much obliged to you for giving me the opportunity to make clear to the senate judiciary committee my reasons for nominating Louis D. Brandeis as associate justice of the United States supreme court. I am profoundly interested in his confirmation by the senate.

"There is probably no more important duty imposed upon the president in connection with the general administration of the government than that of naming members of the supreme court and I need hardly tell you that I named Louis D. Brandeis as a member of that tribunal only because I know that he is singularly qualified by his learning, gifts and character for that position.

"Many charges have been made against Mr. Brandeis but the report of your sub-committee has already made plain to you and to the country at large how unfounded these charges were. They threw a great deal more light upon the character and motive of those who originated the charges than upon the qualifications of Brandeis. I myself looked into them three years ago when I desired to make Brandeis a cabinet member and found that they proceeded mostly from those who hated Brandeis because he refused to be servicable to them for the promotion of their selfish interests, and from those who had been prejudiced and misled. The propaganda in this matter has been most extraordinary and most distressing to those who love fairness and value the dignity of a great profession.

A Lover of Right.

"I perceived from the first that the charges were intrinsically incredible to anyone who had really known Brandeis. I have known and tested him by seeking advice upon some of the most difficult and perplexing questions about which it has been necessary for me to form judgment. I have dealt with him in matters where nice questions of honor and fair play as well as large questions of justice and the public benefit were involved.

"In every matter in which I have made this test of his judgment and viewpoint I have received from him counsel singularly enlightening, singularly sighted and judicial and above all, full of moral stimulation.

"He is a friend of all just men, a lover of right, he knows more than how to talk about right, he knows how to talk forward in the face of his enemies. I knew from direct, personal knowledge of the man what I was doing when I named him for the highest and most responsible tribunal in the nation.

"Of his extraordinary ability as a lawyer no man who is competent to judge can speak with anything but the highest admiration. You will remember that in the opinion of the late Chief Justice Fuller, he was the ablest man that ever appeared before the United States supreme court.

Absolutely Fearless.

"He is also, Fuller added, 'absolutely fearless in the discharge of his duties.'

"Those who have resorted to him for assistance in settling great industrial disputes can testify to his fairness and love of justice. In troublesome controversies between the garment workers and manufacturers of New York City, for example, he gave truly remarkable proof of his judicial temperament and had what must have been great satisfaction in rendering decisions which both sides were willing to accept as disinterested and even handed.

"Brandeis has rendered many notable services to the city and state with which his professional life is identified. He successfully directed the campaign which resulted in cheaper gas for Boston. Chiefly by his guidance and through his efforts legislation was secured for Massachusetts authorizing savings banks to issue insurance policies in small sums at greatly reduced rates.

"And gentlemen who tried their hardest to obtain control of the Boston Elevated and subway for 99 years can testify to his ability as a people's advocate when the public interest calls for an effective champion. He rendered those services without compensation and earned the gratitude of every citizen of the state and city which he served.

"It will hearten the friends of the community and public rights throughout the country to see such a quality steadily recognized by his elevation to the supreme court. The whole country is aware of his quality and is interested in his appointment.

Rely on Own Judgment.

"I did not not, in making the choice, ask or depend upon any 'endorsement.' I acted upon my public knowledge and personal acquaintance with the man. His name as a lawyer, his ability and his character were so widely recognized that he needed no endorsement. I did, however, personally consult many whose judgment I have the utmost confidence in, I am happy to say, and they supported the voluntary recommendation of the attorney general of the United States.

"Let me say, my dear senator, in summing up, that Mr. Brandeis was nominated because he was and is, in my deliberate judgment, of all the men now at the bar, whom it has been my privilege to observe and test, exceptionally qualified.

"I cannot speak too highly of his

New Owners Take Charge of Creamery

(Capital Journal Special Service) Monmouth, Or., May 8.—Last Monday the Monmouth Creamery was turned over to the new association of cooperative workers who purchased the creamery through shares some few weeks ago. With the exception of Mr. Jacob Smith who was elected as manager of the cooperative association, the employees of the creamery will remain the same as in the old company of stockholders. At present the new management is trying to get the shares distributed as widely and as promptly as possible. The results of cooperation will no doubt attract a sufficient number of milk patrons which will result in the increase of business.

The Wise and Otherwise club was entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Houser south of Monmouth last Saturday afternoon. The afternoon was spent socially and the hostess served refreshments. Those members present were: Mrs. Wm. Riddell, Jr., Mrs. Clark Hemmerson, Miss Beattie Graham, Miss Mabel Johnson, Miss Katherine Campbell, Mesdames Fred Smith, Darrel Stump, Walter Strain, Belle Lockley, and Guy Scheible.

The seventh and eighth grade students of the training school spent the last Saturday picnicing on the Luckiamute river four miles south of Monmouth. The merry crowd went on a hay ride with Miss Hudson and Miss Burns as chaperones.

The local Odd Fellows have chosen as their delegates to the Odd Fellows grand lodge which meets in Roseburg May 23, H. Z. Sivkapeose and Guy Scheible.

The ladies of the Christian church of Monmouth gave a chicken pie dinner in the basement of the church today for the purpose of helping out the financial matters of the organization.

Tuesday evening the city council met in the council hall or a brief, but important session. All of the councilmen except Mr. Goodman were present. The purpose of the meeting to create a fund for street improvement was successful.

Rates for Sprinkling Lawns Lowered For Grants Pass Residents

The Public Service commission today issued an order reducing the rates for sprinkling lawns which were established by the commission in an order issued for nearly two years were for the first 300 cubic feet of water through a standard water meter 40 cents per hundred cubic feet, for the next 1,700 cubic feet 17 cents per 100, for the next 18,000 cubic feet 10 cents per hundred and all over 20,000 8 cents per 100 cubic feet.

To Avoid Dandruff

You do not want a slow treatment when hair is falling and the dandruff germ is killing the hair roots. Delay means no hair.

Get, at any drug store, a bottle of Zemo for 25c or $1.00 for extra large size. Use as directed, for it does the work quickly. It kills the dandruff germ, nourishes the hair roots and immediately stops itching scalp. It is sure and safe, is not greasy, is easy to use and will not stain. Soaps and shampoos are harmful, as they contain alkali. The best thing to use is Zemo, for it is pure and also inexpensive.
